JAPANESE DIET IS DISSOLVED; ISSUE TO PEOPLE

Premier Acts Before Foes Can Protest.

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Jan. 21 (Thursday).—(AP)—A Japanese airplane carrier, a cruiser, and four destroyers were ordered by the navy office today to proceed to Shanghai immediately because of the tense situation between Japanese and Chinese there. Warships at the Sasebo naval station also were ordered held in readiness.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Jan. 21 [Thursday].—Preferring the hazards of an election to a session wherein he would come under heavy fire on an issue appealing to the sentimental patriotism of Japanese, Premier Inukai dissolved the diet today after the chief government speeches had been made and before the opposition could be heard.

The political situation was intensified by the bomb incident of Jan. 8, but for which the hatred of politicians for elections might have carried the government through the session.

The cabinet's continuance in office, even by imperial command after the bomb affair, gave the opposition a popular talking point.

Goes to the People.

Premier Inukai believes it is better strategy to fight it out now in the constituencies than be pilloried for two months in the diet.

Both parties met yesterday and adopted platform resolution, which as usual strongly resemble each other in that they promise nearly everything the voters are supposed to desire. While the Minseito party, which is strongest in the big cities, promises to encourage rationalization, expand the export indemnity system, stabilize exchange, extend state insurance, and provide unemployment relief, the Seiyukai party concretely pledges to spend 360,000,000 yen [about $180,000,000 at par] in the next five years on local roads, railroads and river and harbor works, an old and well-tried card with the small town voters.

Gold Standard an Issue.

Abandonment of the gold standard helped the farmer. The Minseito party will conduct a campaign against the gold embargo, which the leaders will say, has penalized the whole nation for the benefit of a small number of capitalists and bankers.

The election will take place Feb. 20, and the diet will meet within six months after its dissolution. At present the Minseito party has a clear majority of seventy, exclusive of Kenzo Adachi and his nine seceders. The betting is about 6 to 4 in favor of a stalemate, but when the numbers are nearly equal the government usually is able to win over sufficient members to make a working majority.

Says Manchuria Peace Key.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 21 [Thursday].—Kenkichi Yoshiwaza, Japanese foreign minister, in a speech at the opening session of the diet today declared that "Manchuria holds the key to peace in the far east."

"That was true before the Russo-Japanese war and it is even more true now," he declared in his first public utterance since he assumed the post of foreign minister. "Thanks to untiring efforts by Japan, Manchuria has been kept free from the constant turmoil which has molested China proper. "But for the Chinese misconduct of late years and Chinese disregard for treaty and contractual obligations, I believe the incident on Sept. 18 would not have resulted in the present complications."

No Territorial Designs.

Yoshizawa pointed out that Japan harbors no territorial designs and he promised that Japan will uphold the principles of the open door policy and of equal opportunity, as well as all existing treaties relating to Manchuria. What Japan desires, he said, is only to secure peace and order in Manchuria, and to make that region safe both for Chinese and foreigners and to "open it to all for economic development."

Yoshizawa then traced the years of anti-Japanese agitation in China and concluded:

"The anti-Japanese movement was due to misguided views entertained by the Chinese. Solutions of the issues involved must, therefore, await a complete change of heart and a reversal of Chinese policy."

Yoshizawa referred to the United States and league of nations' efforts in the Manchurian situation as follows:

"The United States, although not

SPECIAL STAFF OPENS WAR ON DYERS' RACKET

Roche Picked to Fight Terrorists.

A special staff has been organized by State's Attorney Swanson to drive from cover the gangsters responsible for the present reign of terror in the cleaning and dyeing industry.

Although Mr. Swanson declined to discuss his plans, it was learned from an authoritative source that the state's attorney and his chief investigator, Pat Roche, held a private conference last night at which it was decided to centralize the work of conducting the war on the cleaning racketeers. It was stated that Roche will head the special staff.

Headquarters are to be established in the Criminal court, possibly today, with the expectation that the board will be in full operation before the week-end. Roche will choose under cover agents to hunt evidence and Assistant State's Attorney Edwin C. Duffey of the racket bureau is being considered as director of the legal division.

Plan for Thorough Probe.

The program is said to call for the most thorough probe of industrial racketeering ever undertaken in Chicago. One piece of contemplated strategy, it is said, will be to establish one or more nonunion, cut rate cleaning shops with the deliberate object of inviting terrorism in order to entrap the gangsters.

The board will be financed, partially at least, from the fund pledged the state's attorney by the Cleaners and Dyers' institute when that group came under fire over the murder on Jan. 11 of Benjamin Rosenberg, independent dyer and foe of the institute.

It was understood that Mr. Swanson's establishment of the board was hastened, if not inspired, by the murder early yesterday of Morris Costable, 44 years old, once a retail tailor but for the last two years a bootlegger.

Worked in Cleaning Plant.

The fact that Costable had formerly worked at the Berwyn Dry Cleaning plant, an independent concern headed by Irving Abarbanell, proprietor of twenty cut rate shops in the western suburbs, lent plausibility for a time to the theory that Costable's death was a casualty in the dyers' strife.

The Berwyn plant was the target of stench bombs Tuesday night, a few hours before Costable was killed. Abarbanell, his former employer, has been threatened twice with death in the last week; his shops have been repeatedly bombed, and his drivers are covering their routes under escort of guards with shotguns.

"I'm supposed to die tomorrow," said Abarbanell, who lives at 1101 Cossitt boulevard, La Grange. "They telephoned my home Monday night. My 15 year old daughter, Bertha, took the call. They told her to tell me to sign up with the union and boost prices before Thursday. Otherwise, they told the girl, her dad would be killed."

Despite these considerations Lieut. William V. Blaul of the state's attorney's staff expressed the conviction that Costable died for encroaching on the Capone syndicate's alcohol trade rather than for activity in the dyers' war.

Bootlegger, Woman Says.

Figures in Costable's bank books and statements by Abarbanell and the slain man's sweetheart, Miss Lillian Hepperle, 32 years old, 4857 George street, supported the theory, according to Lieut. Blaul.

"Yes, he was in the bootleg business," said Miss Hepperle. "I told him to quit, but he was stubborn. I was afraid of this."

Abarbanell averred that the tailor had become a bootlegger even before he quit his bench at the Berwyn plant. Shortly before he left, the tailor confided that he had a "side line," Abarbanell said, and offered him samples.

Body Found on Roadside.

Costable's body was found about 9 a. m. in the weeds along Finley road, a half mile north of Downers Grove. There were eight bullets in his head.

In his pockets were a dues book of the retail tailors union, with dues payments receipted up to 1928 by Al Boris, union secretary; an American Legion card, showing his membership in a tank corps post, and a receipted bill from the Windsor hotel, 4820 West Chicago avenue.

Frank Turner, hotel clerk, said Costable had registered there on Jan. 12 under the name of M. Morris. One J. L. Morey, whom Costable called "Large Leo," took the adjoining room, the clerk said.

In Costable's room the officers found

COINCIDENCE CAUSE OF MISTAKE IN NAME OF CHAMPAIGN BANK

In a dispatch referring to banking conditions in the twin cities of Champaign-Urbana, appearing in THE TRIBUNE yesterday, in an attempt to differentiate between The First National bank of Urbana [which is open] and The First National bank of Champaign [which has closed], the latter was referred to as the Champaign National bank. By an unfortunate coincidence there is a bank called The Champaign National bank, and thereby THE TRIBUNE did unworthy injustice to that institution. The Champaign National bank is in first class shape, according to J. H. Snider, its cashier.

The reference to The Champaign National bank in this connection is deeply regretted by THE TRIBUNE.

VESUVIUS GOES DARK AS QUAKE ROCKS NAPLES

NAPLES, Italy, Jan. 21.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—Inhabitants of Naples were aroused from their beds late last night by a light earthquake and loud explosive noises from Mount Vesuvius, volcano of restless and disastrous history, seven miles away.

Rumbling sounds continued to come from the volcanic depths periodically for two hours after the first explosion at 11:19 p. m. Then they ceased. The fright of the people subsided, but they were still curious as to why the volcano's crater, always illuminated at night by internal fires, had gone dark.

An observatory, military police barracks, a convent, a funicular railroad and a hotel situated on the volcano's side were so strongly shaken by the earthquake that they "danced," said reports received here. The fact that they remained upright was attributed to their quake proof construction.

LONDON TO LIFT FORTY YEAR BAN ON SKYSCRAPERS

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—A forty years' ban on London skyscrapers is to be lifted by an act which will allow buildings to rise to 150 feet instead of a maximum of 100 feet. The decision to permit London to grow upward has been reached by a committee appointed by the London county council.

The new regulations will not be put into operation until London's fire fighting forces have been equipped with appliances to meet the new conditions. If carried in parliament it will probably provide that upper stories of buildings must be "stepped back" to let sunlight into the streets.

London's highest building, Queen Anne's mansion, which was built before the restriction act in 1890, rises 168 feet, but no other building built since is higher than 80 feet.

Free Inventor of Mortgage on His Brain

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 20. — [Special.]—John G. Schmidt, 70 year old research chemist and inventor of a formula for the treatment of steel, by a decision of Judge Charles L. Aarons today was freed of what the court termed a "mortgage on his brain."

The "brain mortgage" was owned by G. Walter Esau, who, June 27, 1930, engaged the chemist under a 25 year agreement to prepare for him at a monthly salary of $200 a chemical compound known as "picklyser A," in accordance with a formula invented by Schmidt.

Removes Steel Scale.

This compound was designed to be used as an acid pickling bath to stop acid from attacking steel while removing the scale that forms on steel as it is taken from the furnace. Under the agreement, Schmidt was to provide a compound superior to any other steel scale inhibitor on the market.

The court found that Schmidt started work in a laboratory provided by Esau at 420 Clinton street, in September of 1930, that a number of shipments of the compound were marketed and that Esau, after June 28, 1931, failed to pay the chemist on the ground that he was not furnishing a superior compound. Esau started action to enforce his agreement when Schmidt returned to his former employers, E. F. Houghton & Co., and proceeded to prepare the compound for that company.

Contract Held Servitude.

In setting the agreement aside, Judge Aarons held that Esau's main object in attempting to enforce the contract was not to protect himself, but to yoke the chemist's scientific faculties and compel him either to work for him or remain idle.

The agreement, the court ruled, "imposes a servitude upon the defendant which might well lead to tragic consequences if it could be specifically enforced."

An attempt to enforce it, the court concluded, was abhorent to the principles which govern a court of equity.

Boy, 10, Kills Brother, 5, While Playing with Gun

Harry Paulson, 5 years old, was shot and instantly killed last night when his brother, Abraham, 10 years old, pointed a revolver at him and pulled the trigger, thinking the gun was unloaded. The shooting took place in the Paulson home in the rear of a delicatessen store at 3526 West 16th street. Benjamin Paulson, father of the boys, told police that Abraham found the gun in a bureau and was playing with it despite a warning from his father.

FATHER OF EIGHT SAYS LOS ANGELES DEPORTED FAMILY

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Aaron Weinstein, a clock maker, who once owned his own home in Canarsie, but is now destitute, arrived in New York with his wife and eight children today.

To an agent of the Travelers' Aid society, Weinstein declared he and his family were "deported" from Los Angeles.

They were bundled into a day coach by representatives of the department of welfare there, he said, and the ten of them given $15 with which to provide themselves with food on the five-day trip across the continent.

As a result of their experience Weinstein said, the children were half famished. The $15, he said, was barely sufficient to buy the members of the family a sandwich and a cup of coffee apiece each day. The Travelers' Aid society sent them to the municipal lodging house where they are now being cared for.

SHE TAKES COAL ALONG ON VISIT TO CHILLY WEST

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Something new in guest baggage had Eugene T. Hartigan, manager of the Hotel St. Regis, guessing today when he came across a cash charge slip signed by a woman patron.

The woman had heard that her prospective hosts in the west have open grates in their house, but no steam heat. Before leaving New York on Saturday she dispatched a hotel porter to a Third avenue coal dealer for a bag of coal and a sack of charcoal.

Then with the fuel in her baggage, she set out by train for the west. Her cash charge slip was itemized as follows: "100 pounds of coal, $1.65; sack charcoal, 35 cents; taxi [going and coming] twice, $2."

PAY OF TEACHERS CUT AS GLENCOE SCHOOLS REOPEN

Effective with the reopening of Glencoe's elementary schools today, teachers of those institutions will accept a 10 per cent salary cut, it was announced last night. The schools were kept closed after the Christmas holidays for lack of funds.

"The 10 per cent reduction will remain in effect the rest of the school year," explained John Wilder, secretary of the Glencoe fiscal committee, in making the announcement. "Somewhere around $1,100 a month will be saved."

The reopening of the Glencoe schools is possible through the sale of approximately $138,000 in tax anticipation warrants by the fiscal committee. This is enough to run the schools until March 1.

FIRST STEP OVER; MORE TO BE DONE, CERMAK ASSERTS

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Following the favorable action of the house on the Kelly plan bill, Mayor Cermak issued the following statement tonight in Springfield:

"I want to express my gratification, as mayor of Chicago, at the action of the house of representatives in passing senate bill No. 14 today. This action of the house, following the vote of 48 to 1 in the senate on the passage of the bill in that body, ought to insure an early concurrence by the senate in the amendments to the bill adopted by the house yesterday.

"As soon as the senate concurs in those amendments and Gov. Emmerson has signed the bill, steps can be taken to make the legislation effective and to substitute the new assessing and reviewing machinery for the old boards.

"I urged the general assembly to adopt the Kelly plan because I was convinced that the plan of the governor's tax conference of appointing the assessor and members of the board of review would not be approved by the assembly. The action of the senate and house on senate bill No. 14 has demonstrated that I was correct in that conclusion.

"Senate bill No. 14 is the first essential step in restoring the public credit of Cook county, the city of Chicago, the school board, the park boards and other public bodies in our county.

"But it must be understood that the passage of senate bill No. 14 will not bring us out of our financial distress. That bill alone cannot and will not enable us to pay the overdue salaries of our school teachers or meet the ordinary expenses of operating the police, fire, and other essential services.

"There are other bills pending in the general assembly which are also vital if Cook county is to obtain any financial relief. These bills should be passed by the general assembly at the earliest date possible.

"I also trust that those who have opposed senate bill No. 14 will cooperate in the passage of the other legislation to aid Chicago and Cook county."

BOMB HOME OF GANGSTER'S KIN IN MUNDELEIN

The quiet of Mundelein, Lake county village, was interrupted shortly before 3 o'clock this morning by a heavy bomb explosion which tore out a section of the home of Thomas Williams.

Williams is said by police to be a brother of Hymie Weiss, booze gangster, who was assassinated by machine gunners in North State street, across from the Holy Name cathedral, five years ago. He goes under the name of Williams, however, according to police.

The blast shook the home and jarred other residences in the vicinity. The Williams home is the former residence of State Senator Richard J. Lyons and is considered one of the finer ones in Mundelein.

Police said that Williams owns the Lagoon, a roadhouse in Kenosha county, Wis., just over the state line, and the Derby inn, at Wheeling. He also owned the old Derby inn at Half Day, and a de luxe soft drink parlor in Waukegan at one time, they asserted.

HOUSE PASSES KELLY PLAN BY 115 VOTES TO 30

Senate Concurrence Today Assured.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on back page.)

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The senate Kelly plan bill, with the emergency clause included, was passed by the house of representatives tonight by a vote of 115 to 30.

It goes back to the senate tomorrow morning for concurrence in house amendments, and leaders in the upper house say that favorable action will be immediate. The bill then goes to Gov. Emmerson for signature. It will become effective at once.

It will replace Cook county's present taxing machinery—five assessors and three reviewers—with three officials to be appointed temporarily until the opportunity for their election arrives in 1934. It is expected to be the first step in the rehabilitation of Chicago's muddled finances.

Only 102 votes were required for passage of the measure in the form that would make it effective at once instead of on July 1, when it would have gone into force if a mere majority of 77 had voted for it.

Goes Over with Stampede.

But there was a stampede of a bandwagon nature after the total had reached 108, and seven more members flocked in to complete one of the biggest reversals in the history of the Illinois general assembly.

Last week the house gave only 80 votes to its own bill, identical with the one to which it gave 35 additional votes today.

The battle over the plan to replace Cook county's two present tax boards took all day and part of the evening. And when it was concluded the sponsors of the state income tax bill were satisfied not to try to press that measure. On their initiative, consideration of the new levy was postponed until next Tuesday. This was considered a confession that they did not have the votes to pass their bill.

Cermak Is Jubilant.

Mayor Cermak, having cut short a health trip to Florida to come back and lead what looked like a lost cause, was jubilant over the success of the battle, but the only statement he issued omitted any criticism of the opposition.

Michael L. Igoe, Democratic minority leader and leader of the opposition, whose activities have been charged up to his gubernatorial aspirations, which Cermak has not encouraged, said:

"The legislature has spoken. I hope the bill will provide the relief that its sponsors have said it will."

Those in the confidence of the Igoe group, chiefly downstaters, said privately that they were relieved that he had not succeeded in defeating the Kelly plan. If he had, they said, he would have been held responsible for the chaotic financial conditions in Cook county and would have been punished at the April primary.

His Speech Restrained.

Igoe was restrained in closing the oratical barrage against the bill today. It was rumored that a more vitriolic speech he had thought of delivering had been split up among three other speakers on his side, and he confined himself to calm argument in spite of a gallery claque said to have been imported from nearby territory by his friends.

During the debate there were a score of speakers, those backing Igoe being in the majority, and, while only two of the advocates of this bill came from downstate, all but one of the Igoe talkers—Roland V. Libonati, Chicago Republican—came from the rural areas. Six downstate Democrats were on the hostile program and two downstate Republicans joined with them.

Then, when the roll call started, it was prolonged by speeches of twelve members who explained their votes. This group included three Cook county men—Frank E. Foster of Harvey and Harris B. Gaines and Charles J. Jenkins, two south side Republicans. Foster voted in the negative when his name was called, but said he would not permit his vote to kill the bill and switched in the band wagon movement.

Two Others Explain.

Gaines and Jenkins said that they did not believe the Kelly plan would solve Cook county's problems, but that, while they had opposed the bill earlier, they would not stand in the way of any chance for the school teachers, policemen, and firemen getting their money.

The debate brought out clearly that there had been no deal between Chicago and downstate on the income tax. Hostile speakers declared this not from the floor and predicted that Cook county and other large centers would vote against the proposed new levy when it comes up for action.

The roll call also disclosed the correctness of rumors that there had been a split in the Len Small camp over the Kelly plan. The roll call showed that Frank L. Smith of Dwight had thrown his weight behind the bill, while another Smallite, a former Republican mayor of Chicago, was announcing loudly that he was going to beat the bill. Nothing has been heard from him since the roll call.

There have been charges that offers of patronage and even of money for votes have been made, but there was no evidence of anything of the sort today.

The debate on the Kelly plan bill began soon after the house convened for the day. The proponents listed eight speakers, with Elmer J. Schnackenberg, leader of the Cook county Republicans, as the windup man, and the Igoe group presented ten names, with that of Igoe last.

Speaker Shanahan sought to have the two groups agree to limit all speakers to seven minutes each except the windup men who, he suggested, might be given fifteen minutes each. There were objections from both sides and the speaker gave way.

"All right, turn on the valves," he said, and began calling the speakers, alternating between the two sides. Grover C. Borders [Dem., East St. Louis] started for the proponents by explaining that since yesterday's amendments excluded his home county, St. Clair, and since Cook county appeared united, there was no reason for any downstater to oppose Chicago's plea for aid.

The speeches of the opposition began with Frank W. McClure [Dem., Abingdon] and included almost the same list of speakers as those heard on the house bill last week. They included, during the morning, Harry W. McCaskrin [Rep., Rock Island], T. J. Sullivan [Dem., Springfield], Sol Handy [Dem., Marshall], F. W. Lewis [Dem., Marshall], Frank Holten [Dem., East St. Louis], and Howard L. Doyle [Dem., Decatur].

Plea for Teachers Made.

Joseph L. Rategan, Chicago Democrat, followed Borders for the proponents with a plea for the teachers. A. B. Lager [Dem., Carlyle] followed him at length. Then came Robert M. Woodward, north side Republican, and Thomas J. O'Grady, stockyards district Democrat.

"I don't understand how men can stand up here and vote against this bill in this emergency," said Lager. "Why wait until conditions grow worse? The arguments of the opposition are but the bluster of small men in a big fight."

At this point, with the debate having been under way nearly two hours and a half, a luncheon recess was taken until 3 o'clock.

The Afternoon Session.

As the house gathered for the afternoon gavel, many members found in their mail boxes day letter telegrams of 106 words, thought to have been sent by a Chicagoan. They came from that city and were signed "Pontius Pilate." They contained slurring references to the religion and nationalities of some of the men involved in the Kelly bill struggle and implied that Mayor Cermak is attempting to hold as many as eight offices, from the governor to that of president of the school board.

Roland V. Libonati [Rep., Chicago] was the first afternoon speaker. His was a plea on behalf of Acting Chairman John E. Conroy of the Cook county board of assessors, who would lose his membership on the board if the Kelly plan is enacted. Benjamin Adamowski [Dem., Chicago] replied to attacks on the compromise plan by saying it had been worked out under the force of circumstances. He was followed by John P. Devine [Dem., Dixon], who has fought the bill from the beginning.

Refers to Income Tax.

"This situation is caused by interests who haven't been paying their taxes and wish to continue so," Devine charged.

"I'm not entirely sorry that this bill is going to carry. I am sorry, of course, that men are going to be legislated out of office without a trial.

"I'm not going to mention any names, but I was told by a man who will probably vote for this bill that if one man was appointed for assessor the banks would appoint him.

"They say it's a compromise; I say it is a conspiracy, and I say that it won't work out."

Mr. Igoe followed Devine, rising to a burst of applause from the galleries.

"All I want," he told the chamber, "is the right to cast my vote as my conscience dictates."

The minority leader denied first that he has entered into any deal with Len Small or the former city hall machine.

Mr. Igoe repeated much of the speech he has made on several previous occasions, principally that "the men behind this bill want control of the 1931 quadrennial assessment."

The "system," he said, has been responsible for the failure to put personal property on the tax books. He stated that when the 1928 reassessment was ordered it was made a reassessment of real estate alone—"not personal property."

"Wipe out the system," he cried. "Things have gone on for thirty years and I'm in favor of abolishing it now. The issue is between the little taxpayer and those who pay no taxes at all. And this bill, if it passes, would do no good at all. The concern seems to be with the public treasury, not with the people who fill the public treasury.

"People say Igoe is making this fight for political reasons. Well, what a poor politician Igoe is if that is true!

"All the newspapers, all the stores, are for this bill. How much easier it would have been for Igoe to have gone along. But I couldn't do that."

Schnackenberg Replies.

Mr. Schnackenberg closed the formal debate for the supporters of the bill. He began by saying that merely calling a bill bad names had no merit as argument.

"What constructive plan is offered by the man who denounces this bill as 'nefarious' and 'vicious'?" he said. "Let's say to the people of Illinois, 'We have begun the work before us and will clean up the rest of our work and go home.'"

ECONOMY WAVE HITS NEW JERSEY —STATE AND CITY

Salaries Cut and New Projects Abandoned.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 20.—(AP)—A wave of demands for tax reduction and slashing of municipal budgets swept New Jersey today as Gov. A. Harry Moore insisted that politicians step aside and allow the return of $16,500,000 in state money to local governments.

GOV. HARRY MOORE [Fotograms.]

Massmeetings were held from one end of the state to the other. In some cities crowds stormed meetings of officials to protest against the increasing cost of municipalities. In Trenton the hearings verged on disorder.

Reductions have been made already in many budgets. More than $68,000 has been slashed from budgets of five small South Jersey communities. In twelve others demands were being pressed for a cut in public officials' salaries and tax rate.

Some school teachers have agreed to forego mandatory increases in salaries. In other towns teachers, firemen, and policemen have been asked to accept voluntary cuts.

Tax Soft Drink Parlors.

In Paterson a proposal was considered to require all soft drink parlors to pay a tax—a scheme estimated to bring $100,000 in revenue.

Some of Haddonfield's officials were given a 50 per cent cut in salary and five policemen and firemen were dropped.

Gov. Moore called for an "armistice in politics" in order that his plan of returning state funds to local communities might be effected. His scheme is that all public improvements, including road building, be suspended for two years and that that money, coming from gasoline and motor vehicles taxes, be sent back to the municipalities.

Gov. Moore Threatens.

"If politics interfere," he said, "I will carry the fight directly to the people. I will campaign in every town and hamlet in the state. "If we don't halt public spending the people soon will have to emulate Ghandi's dress."

In line with his economy program Gov. Moore has demanded a slashing of all state expense items, has ordered an inquiry into the use of state automobiles by state employés, and has suggested that nearly 100 commissions be abolished and twelve departments established instead.

In Newark bankers have called for a cut of $2,000,000, about 9 per cent, in the budget.

In Ocean county the citizens themselves offered a county budget superseding the one prepared by the board of freeholders. This popular budget ignored the county health bureau.

The proposed increases in tax rates in the south New Jersey towns, against which the protests are being made, range from 8 to 37 cents.

PASSAGE OF BILL LAUDED BY KELLY; TELLS NEXT TASK

D. F. Kelly, whose name was given to the emergency bill passed by the house, expressed gratification last night over the success of the measure.

"I desire to extend heartiest congratulations and sincere gratitude to Gov. Emmerson, Mayor Cermak and all those who worked or voted for the bill," he said. "Every citizen and taxpayer of Cook county is indebted to them.

"The next job is to hasten the enactment of the Schnackenberg back tax bill, which will make immediate payment of 1930 taxes possible, as it insures credit for over charges made in taxes for 1928, 1929, and 1930, which will be deducted from future tax bills of those concerned."

Mr. Kelly was a member of the conference which considered ways and means of disentangling the city's and county's financial situation. The bill as submitted was a compromise, and took Mr. Kelly's name because of his initiative in joining the various differences.

Bankers to the Rescue When New York Pledges Economy

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The city's safe emergence from its financial troubles became a matter of only a few hours today. Thirty-four leading banks agreed, on the strength of a board of estimate commitment of the Walker administration to a strict retrenchment policy, to make available during the year a total of $350,000,000, if necessary, for financing the city's outstanding obligations and the carrying out of its revised administrative program.

Acting on the recommendation of the eight powerful banking houses whose spokesmen had conferred with Mayor James J. Walker and other city officials in the last two weeks, the thirty-four banks agreed to "adhere, coöperate and participate" in a plan which calls upon them to purchase within forty-eight hours $100,000,000 of the city's $200,000,000 issue of special corporate stock, authorized tonight by the state legislature. The banks will take the remaining $100,000,000 should its sale become necessary to meet municipal obligations.

Sell City Revenue Bills.

The plan formulated by the banks calls for the purchase of the initial $100,000,000 of corporate stock notes on the basis of three to five year maturities. A $150,000,000 revolving fund will be used to raise money throughout the year by the sale of city revenue bills in anticipation of taxes.

By disposing of the initial $100,000,000 of corporate stock notes at par the banks will derive no profit for themselves. The city will pay an interest rate of 6 per cent. The expense of marketing the notes will be borne by the banks.

It is not regarded as likely in financial circles that the entire $150,000,000 in the revolving fund will have to be used if the retrenchments and economies pledged by the board of estimate are substantially realized.

The fixing of the three to five year maturities on the new corporate stock issue was interpreted in Wall street as an indication that the banks expected the city's financial condition to improve steadily from now on, so that by 1935 it may be expected to begin paying off what money it now borrows.

Many Improvements Halted.

The drastic economy program ordered by the board of estimate will affect every city department and will halt indefinitely expansion of many important public improvement programs. It will postpone the beginning of work on the Sixth avenue subway and the proposed new Second avenue subway and its many miles of connections to Queens, Brooklyn and the Bronx. There is a strong probability that it may affect the opening date of the new Eighth avenue line, where operation is tentatively announced to start on April 1.

Figures on Controller Berry's office indicate that there have been approved projects on which contracts have not been let carrying a total cost of about $200,000,000. There is little chance that the great majority of these will escape the retrenchment ax.

The retrenchment and economy resolution upon which the banks' aid was predicated was adopted at a special meeting of the board of estimate.

Pledged to Retrenchment.

The resolution, after extolling the city's high credit standing and outlining the recent sharp depression in the world's economic affairs, pledged the Walker administration to the retrenchment and economy program and the immediate "stock taking" in city affairs with a view to cut costs to the bone and lift revenues to the highest possible point.

City officials, including Mayor Walker, conceded that the resolution, in its reference to placing city enterprises wherever possible upon a wholly or partially self-supporting basis, was broad enough to include the rapid transit lines, as well as bridges, buses, ferries, and other so-called revenue producing projects. They declared, however, that the city in its negotiations with bankers had made no commitments on any of these projects and had not been asked to abandon the 5 cent subway fare.

Walker Issues Statement.

Mayor Walker in his statement says:

"There is nothing to be alarmed about in the financial structure of the city of New York. The margin between the city's debt and the city's debt limit is very substantial and indicates a very healthy as well as a conservative administration of the affairs of the city. The city financially is sound and will continue to be sound."

The announcement that the banks had agreed to purchase the $100,000,000 issue of 6 per cent notes, and establish the revolving credit fund of $150,000,000 at a rate not yet decided, was made by Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co. He explained that the new short term notes authorized by the legislature would take the place of long term bonds normally issued by the city at a lower interest rate.

"Constructive," Says Lamont.

The action of the banks in distributing the bonds at par and paying all distribution costs, he said, will make clear to the public the fact that the banks have no ulterior motive in the matter. The revolving credit fund, he explained, could be drawn upon by the controller whenever the city's financial needs required it.

"The banking community feels that this is a very constructive and sound measure and one that will be entirely satisfactory," he said.

Quick action was obtained in the legislature in order to enable the city to pull out of its financial dilemma. The bill authorizing the special bonds was rushed through the senate by a vote of 44 to 0, and then the house acted, 112 to 0.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from piles have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external treatments or worry about an operation when Walgreen's invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?

EUROPE CALLS OFF PARLEY ON REPARATIONS

Divergence of Views Given as Reason.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The European conference on reparations, scheduled to begin next Monday at Lausanne, has been postponed. The British foreign office tonight issued a statement saying that "further conversations" are in progress as to when, if ever, the parley will be held. The statement said:

"The conversations which have been taking place between the governments chiefly concerned with the conference at Lausanne have not yet been concluded and it is evident that the conference cannot be begun as early as next Monday, the date which had been provisionally arranged.

"Further conversations are now in progress and the British government entertains the hope it may be possible to come to a satisfactory agreement as to the procedure to be adopted in the course of a few days."

Experts May Meet Jan. 28.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 20.—It was officially announced tonight that the Lausanne conference on reparations, if held, will be limited to a meeting of experts, and that in any case it cannot take place on next Monday as scheduled.

Jan. 28 has been mentioned as a likely date, but no formal decision will be made until after a talk during the week-end between Premier Laval and Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, who will pass through Paris on his way to Geneva to the league of nations council meeting, which opens Monday.

Stimson Outlines U. S. Stand.

The United States' position on war debts and reparations, as communicated in a memorandum from Secretary of State Stimson to Ambassador Claudel in Washington three weeks ago was made public here today. Five points are set forth as follows:

1. There is no connection between war debts and reparations.
2. The European powers must take the initiative on reparations.
3. A demand for a new debts moratorium could not obtain approval in congress, and the senate opposes a cancellation or reduction of the debts.
4. The United States government would look with displeasure on the formation of a united front by the debtor nations.
5. The existing debt arrangements, having been concluded separately, can eventually be revised only by separate accords.

BERLIN REJECTS STRINGS

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 20. — Chancellor Bruening announced officially today that Germany will not accept a year's extension of the Hoover moratorium with the strings tied to it by France last July. A final agreement on the reparations problem must be reached, Bruening declared, since "prolongation of the present agreement would only prolong the economic unrest and uncertainty which is causing the world depression. This was made clear by the statement of the world's economic experts at Basel last month."

To settle once for all the question of how much Germany has paid in reparations since 1918 and whether her sacrifices have made it possible for France to rebuild the devastated regions and pocket a huge profit, Germany accepts, Bruening said, the French suggestion that a court of arbitration be set up to determine the exact value of the amounts she has paid and of the goods and property she has ceded to the allies.

Pleads for "Fair Chance."

The chancellor, speaking to foreign diplomats, stressed that the moratorium as devised by President Hoover had not been given a fair chance by Europe. The French stipulations adulterated this plan and made it fail, he said, for despite the moratorium Germany is paying $143,000,000 to the Bank for International Settlements during this moratorium year.

Although part of this sum was loaned back to the German railroads, the necessity of making these payments was felt strongly in the days of crisis, and therefore Bruening demands a new agreement.

"Five more months remain until the expiration of the Hoover moratorium," Bruening declared. "In that time it should be possible for the powers of the world to find a definite solution to this reparations and debts problem."

Disclose Plot Behind Escape at Leavenworth; One Seized

The sensational Leavenworth prison delivery of Dec. 11 was conceived by a former Chicago hoodlum and the guns, dynamite and nitroglycerin used in the overpowering of Warden Thomas B. White were shipped in a half barrel of shoe dressing from Joliet. This was disclosed by federal authorities yesterday in announcing the arrest of Harold Fontaine, the alleged smuggler, in Windsor, Ont.

Fontaine served a term in Leavenworth penitentiary, having been sentenced from Detroit for smuggling aliens into the United States. He was released one month before the escape of the seven prisoners. He was arrested on Tuesday by Ontario police at the request of United States department of justice operatives, working under the direction of Sandford Bates, director of federal prisons.

Trace the Shoe Dressing.

Federal investigators at Kansas City said that after his release from the penitentiary in November, Fontaine, a Chicagoan by birth and said to have a police record dating back to 1916, bought the half barrel of shoe dressing in St. Louis and consigned it to George H. Clark, Joliet. Records of the express company show that the dressing, known as "hub duffier" or "dubbin," which is used to preserve and soften the leather of heavy shoes, was received at Joliet on Nov. 30 and released to a man giving the name of George H. Clark on Dec. 3.

The department of justice agents said Fontaine purchased a 20 gauge shotgun, two .38 caliber revolvers, one .38 caliber automatic, one 30-30 carbine, seventeen sticks of dynamite and two six ounce containers of nitroglycerin—the weapons and explosives used in the prison break—from the "Corn Jobbing company" of Joliet.

The arms and explosives were then concealed in the barrel of dressing taken to St. Louis, and then shipped to the prison, the government alleges. The barrel was receipted for on Dec. 8 by a prison guard who was unaware of the plot and was later opened by prisoners.

However, there is no "Corn Jobbing company" known in Joliet, and police of that city said that dynamite and nitroglycerin were purchased direct from the manufacturers by Joliet stone concerns. The police expressed the opinion that the explosives were stolen from some construction works where blasting was being done and that the guns were obtained in Chicago.

Three of Convicts Slain.

The arrest of Fontaine followed a widespread investigation into the escape of the seven convicts, who compelled Warden White, a guard and four clerks to act as a screen for them as they marched out of the prison gates and commandeered an automobile for their getaway.

Warden White was slightly wounded in the chase that followed the escape and three of the felons were killed when they were besieged in a farmhouse. The other four were captured and returned to the penitentiary.

Fontaine, who lives in Toronto with a sister-in-law, Mrs. Earl Fontaine, was arrested while walking along the street three days after Toronto police had been notified to watch for him. He told the police he was born in Chicago and was an American citizen, but served in the world war with the Canadian army. Canadian authorities announced that he would be deported, if possible, as an undesirable alien, thus eliminating extended extradition proceedings. Fontaine said he would fight extradition.

U. S. Attorney Gets Warrant.

Assistant United States Attorney William G. Comb at Detroit obtained a warrant, charging Fontaine with aiding the prison break, and if he is not deported extradition hearings for his removal to Kansas for trial will be started.

The federal agents said Fontaine worked in the shoe factory of the penitentiary and was familiar with the manner in which half barrels of the shoe dressing, a pasty substance, are shipped to the factory and opened without inspection. The prisoners were believed to have been apprised that the guns and explosives were coming by a telegram received by one of them, which read: "Your Aunt Emma is ill."

Prison Guard Under Arrest.

The general investigation of the penitentiary which followed Director Bates' order resulted in the arrest last week of C. E. Carlson, a guard, who was charged with smuggling money to a convict.

The guard who received the shipment of shoe dressing, however, was exonerated by department of justice agents, who said he had been a valuable aid in the investigation. Fontaine's arrest was the first in connection with the prison delivery.

HEAD OF MUSIC SCHOOL DIES AS HE GIVES TALK

C. W. Edwards, 73 years old, president of the Illinois College of Music, 2831 Washington boulevard, fell dead last night while addressing a gathering in the New First Congregational church, 1613 Washington boulevard.

The gathering was comprised of eighty-five members of the Chorus Directors' guild and was held in a parlor of the church. Mr. Edwards was describing the trip of a chorus which he had led to Des Plaines.

"It was the happiest time of my life," he was saying. As he completed the sentence he collapsed. He was assisted by George L. Tenney, 559 Clinton place, River Forest; F. B. Schlung, 7250 East End avenue, and Charles E. Lutton, 827 Clinton place, Evanston. They summoned Dr. C. A. Weirick, 25 South Wood street, who was attending a prayer meeting in another room. He pronounced Mr. Edwards dead of heart disease.

Mr. Edwards lived at 2949 Washington boulevard. He was well known in music educational circles, and was associated with many groups, among them the choir of the First Methodist church, Maywood, of which he was director. Surviving him are his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Marie E. Von Ritter.

FIGHT DEATH AND HUNGER IN FLOOD STRICKEN REGION

Dozen Towns Periled as Levees Crumble.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Over a 200 mile battlefront coast guardsmen and Red Cross workers tonight are fighting a mighty fight against swirling waters and the grim shadows of hunger and death.

Atop water shaken houses and in tree tops gaunt faced and weary eyed flood refugees gaze out over the turgid waters and listen for the chug-chug-chug that will tell them rescue is near. Boats from Great Lake stations and from the Mississippi gulf coast, manned by veteran coast guardsmen are bringing out the refugees, while Red Cross workers are assembling food and clothing and setting up bulwarks against the menace of epidemic.

Adj. Gen. Ray Fleming of Louisiana, after a survey of the flood territory, said tonight that fully 6,000 persons had been forced to abandon their homes, with more than 3,000 of them in the Monroe sector. In every sector of the flood zone, Gen. Fleming said, Red Cross and coast guard, civilian and convict levee workers and residents of the higher places are doing valiant work in getting out refugees and seeing that they have adequate care.

Levees Fall Before Rush.

Levees all along the Tallahatchie have been crumbling and now a dozen towns have been inundated or are threatened with a great sheet of water within the next few hours. Frantic work to strengthen levees helped for a time, but even thousands upon thousands of heavy sandbags can't stand against weeks of pounding by angry waters.

Many of the handsome old plantation homes have been abandoned and water is swirling over the side porches on which the belles and beaux of the sixties danced. ancient oaks and magnolias have been uprooted by the swirling flood. Live stock has perished and half a dozen deaths have been attributed to the high water. The damage will run into many hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Wabash Ferries Closed.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—With closing of the New Harmony ferry across the Wabash river, southern Indiana and Illinois traffic is without means of crossing the Wabash south of Vincennes. Tourists and others who are compelled to cross must drive to Vincennes. All other ferries were closed earlier in the week.

Bottom lands between Crossville and New Harmony are so deeply submerged that they are impassable.

Circles Globe for U. S.; Cannot Collect Expenses

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Lieut. Jack C. Richardson is still trying to get $143.04 he spent for expenses when he went around the world on the German Graf Zeppelin. The controller general held temporary duty on the German ship did not come within the meaning of the law covering traveling expense. The navy department today asked congress to have a heart and pass a special bill

MOVE TO INDICT UNIONISTS IN FUNERAL FIGHT

Crowd Aroused at Inquiry Into Girl's Death.

Grand jury action was ordered yesterday by State's Attorney Swanson when the funeral disturbances caused by the livery car chauffeurs' union brought an outburst of public indignation during the inquest into the death of Miss Shirley Pearlman, 17 years old, of 2057 North Sawyer avenue. Miss Pearlman, a student in Tuley High school, was fatally injured on Tuesday when an automobile in which she was riding collided with a coal truck after the car had been forced out of a funeral procession in compliance with a union edict.

SHIRLEY PEARLMAN.

Mr. Swanson directed Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller, head of the racket bureau, to present evidence to the grand jury and ask the indictment of union officials and livery car owners on charges of conspiracy. The union's order to the public to keep private cars out of all funeral processions is a crime, the prosecutor declared.

Cites Law on Conspiracy.

A state law provides for a fine up to $100 for interfering in any way with a funeral. When two or more persons make any agreement or plan to violate that law they are liable for conspiracy, Mr. Mueller said after a study of the law. The penalty provided is imprisonment for any term up to five years or a fine of not more than $2,000, or both fine and imprisonment.

Mr. Mueller said he would call several witnesses before the grand jury today and show that during the last ten days the drivers of hearses and union funeral cars have created disturbances at many funerals through enforcement of their order which was intended to bring about the hiring of more cars and thereby additional employment for chauffeurs.

Crowd Attends Inquest.

The inquest room at the county morgue was filled when Coroner Frank J. Walsh convened the hearing into the cause of the death of Miss Pearlman. Nine other high school boys and girls were riding in the car with her when the accident occurred. They had attended the funeral services for Louis Lakin, Tuley high school athlete, and were hastening to the cemetery after leaving the funeral procession when their car collided with the truck. All nine of the passengers besides Miss Pearlman were injured.

Attorney William A. Cunnea appeared at the inquest representing the union. He declared that the union was not involved because the accident occurred away from the other cars in the funeral.

"If the union rule had not forced the automobile out of the line this accident would not have happened and the girl would be alive," Deputy Coroner Jacob Schewel retorted. In a second the room was in an uproar, the crowd shouting approval of Schewel's statement.

Two Funeral Drivers Testify.

Milton E. Jaffe, 3021 Lawrence avenue, manager of the Active Auto Livery company, was called as a witness. He was the driver of the hearse in which Lakin's body was taken to the cemetery. Many of the mourners said Jaffe halted the funeral procession several times, motioning the persons in privately owned automobiles to get out of the line.

Jaffe declared he had not ordered any cars out of the funeral procession. To a direct question as to whether he had not been instructed by union officials to prevent mourners in their own cars from following the hearse, Jaffe replied that he had not. Another union driver, Carl Adams, 1110 North Christiana avenue, made the same answer when called as a witness. He, too, denied that any automobiles were barred from the Lakin cortége.

Tells of Mystery Men.

Arthur Stearn, 5036 Ridgeway avenue, testified that he attended the Lakin funeral, driving his own car. He declared that the union drivers and two men in a roadster which drove alongside the cortége had repeatedly motioned those in private automobiles to get out of the line.

He said his car as well as the car in which Miss Pearlman was riding did get out of the procession on the orders of the two mysterious men and were proceeding to the Jewish Waldheim cemetery at the time Miss Pearlman was killed.

Frank Tomaso, 1311 North Kedzie avenue, testified that he drove his own automobile to the Lakin funeral, was forced to go to the cemetery by a route different than that taken by Jaffe on the hearse, and that his car was immediately behind the one in which Miss Pearlman met her death.

Harry Sandman, 1319 North Irving avenue, driver of the car in which Miss Pearlman was riding, was unable to testify because of injuries, and the inquest was continued pending his recovery.

The union rule was effective yesterday at the funeral of John K. Lawler, former sanitary district trustee. From the home at 303 South Irving avenue to Precious Blood church, Western avenue and Congress street, and then to Calvary cemetery the funeral proceeded with Lawler's friends in their own automobiles taking different routes from the hearse.

A police escort on motorcycles was provided and a detail of police were at the home to prevent trouble, but none occurred.

DEMANDS SHIFT IN PROBATE OF ROSENWALD WILL

A demand that probate proceedings on the will of Julius Rosenwald, philanthropist and merchant, be transferred from the Cook county Probate court to the Lake county Probate court was made yesterday by State Senator Richard J. Lyons of Mundelein in a letter to State's Attorney A. V. Smith at Waukegan.

Senator Lyons asserted that Mr. Rosenwald paid taxes in Lake county and maintained a home there. He held that Lake county was entitled to the county share of the inheritance tax, estimated at $25,000 or more.

Cpl. Smith said last night that he had not yet received the senator's letter from Springfield.

ITALIAN COURT DEFINES WHAT IS MARTINI COCKTAIL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Jan. 20.—The question of what constitutes a Martini cocktail was decided today by a ruling of the Turin Court of Appeals in favor of the Martini Vermouth company, which sued the Cinzano Vermouth company for wrongly designating some of its mixed wares.

The court ruled that only the Martini company had the right to sell prepared drinks called Martini cocktails, or American Martini cocktails, and that when the bar men serve the customers Martini cocktails they must use only Martini vermouth.

The decision settles a long controversy which has been dragged through several courts. The Cinzano company maintained that the use of Martini vermouth was not the distinguishing element of the Martini cocktail. It insisted that the Martini cocktail took its name from a bartender called Martinez, who had worked in New Orleans in 1889 and who declared that he had named the drink after the patron saint of New Orleans, also named Martini.

HUSBAND, 70, DRIVES HIS CAR INTO RIVER AND DIES WITH WIFE

South Freeport, Me., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—John Ineson, 70, walked into the South Freeport postoffice today, purchased two stamps, affixed them to letters, reëntered his automobile, in which his wife was waiting, and drove off down the hill toward the South Freeport boat landing.

A few minutes later workmen near the head of the wharf heard a splash and, rushing out, saw the hats of the couple floating on the waters of the Harraseeket river.

The automobile was recovered and the bodies of the couple removed.

One of the letters which Ineson had mailed was addressed to their daughter, Mrs. Frederick Smith of Stephensville, Tex., and the other to Mr. Ineson's brother, W. F. Ineson of Suncook, N. H. The letter addressed to the daughter read:

"Daughter: Mother and I are gone. Don't come. Your uncle will take care of things."

COUNTY TO OFFER SCRIP TO MEET OVERDUE WAGES

Employes' Head Protests; Cites Discount.

Payment of county employes in scrip was broached yesterday at the meeting of the county board finance committee. The proposal was already in the form of a resolution to meet the November and December pay rolls with tax warrants when a vigorous protest from an employes representative halted it.

M. J. O'CONNOR. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Later the plan was redrafted, and at its meeting next week the committee will be asked to approve the payment of November salaries to those employes who desire it in tax warrants. The county help has gone unpaid for two and a half months.

The county is also two months behind in the payment of mothers' pensions for the support of 1,962 widows and approximately 6,000 children. Michael J. O'Connor, deputy county controller, informed the finance committee that a number of landlords have started eviction proceedings against pensioners who have fallen behind in their rent because of the lapse of pension payments.

County Furnishes Supplies.

Letters notifying the landlords of the delay in payment, and asking them to wait for their rent, have been sent out. The county is furnishing food, milk and coal to the pensioned mothers, the cost to be deducted from their pension payments when those are resumed.

O'Connor suggested to the commissioners that November pay rolls be met with tax warrants. Commissioner Dan Ryan made a motion to that effect, and Commissioner Charles H. Weber suggested that warrants be used to meet December pay rolls also.

Frank H. Chambers, superintendent of public service and a member of the executive committee of the County Employes Benefit association, protested.

"I'm opposed to this, and I'm sure all of the rest of the county employes will oppose it violently," he said. "It is impossible to sell these tax warrants at par, and it is unfair to put the burden of accepting depreciated warrants on employes who have already suffered a six weeks' pay cut in the 1932 budget."

Approximately 2,000 city employes who are paid from the water and vehicle tax funds will get two weeks pay today, City Controller Szymczak said yesterday.

Contrary to earlier reports, Mr. Szymczak announced yesterday that the corporate fund contains $945,000 and that as soon as the total reaches $1,900,000 it will be used to pay police, firemen, Municipal court employes, and laborers in the sewer, street, and water pipe extension divisions up to Jan. 1.

The county highway department yesterday provided its field employes, most of whom use automobiles in their work, with windshield stickers reading "No Money for License—Employé Cook County Highway Department." The stickers are intended to soften the hearts of any policemen who may stop the workers for driving without 1932 state and city license tags.

The Hammond city council yesterday voted a 10 per cent cut in the wages of the city's 500 employés. The annual saving was estimated at $124,112. The aldermen cut their own pay $5 a month, or 10 per cent, and requested Mayor Charles O. Schonert and ask other officials to do the same.

Trustees Find School Budget Too Hot to Hold; Showdown Due Today in Battle Over Economy

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The 1932 school budget is getting so hot that the subcommittee in charge, Trustees Joseph P. Savage, William D. McJunkin, and Walter H. Brandenburg, desire to get rid of it as soon as possible. So they plan to report it out to the finance committee of the school board this afternoon.

The pressure placed on the three trustees against economy is described by one of them as "terrific." The number of the telephone calls, delegations, petitions, letters, and protests are said to be increasing daily.

Pressure from Other Side.

There is also pressure from the other side. A group of 18 teachers took action yesterday to urge considerably more economy than the subcommittee has tentatively agreed upon.

These teachers, as others acquainted with school finances perceived six weeks ago, believe that if there is not a curtailment now of the less essential school expense, the trustees will later have to cut teachers' salaries. The salary schedule of Chicago teachers is now low in comparison with other large cities.

In support of their economy plea, the 18 teachers have prepared a questionnaire which will be presented today "to those responsible for the 1932 educational budget."

The Teachers' Questionnaire.

This questionnaire recites that the board decided last July to dispense with automobiles for trustees.

"Were those automobiles disposed of?" asks the questionnaire. "Are there now in use, by members of the board or school officials, any automobiles paid for by the taxpayers?"

"When the present auditing and budget system was introduced several years ago, the specific reasons given for making the change were greater efficiency and curtailment of expenses," continues the questionnaire, and then it asks:

"Is it not true that the change became an avenue for the creation of scores of jobs with greatly increased expenditures, rather than curtailment?"

Ask About School Jobs.

"Persistent rumors are current, often with apparent proof," the questionnaire goes on, "that many positions in the educational and in the business departments of our school system have been filled—and some new ones created—solely to satisfy the demands of influential politicians.

"Can this honestly be denied? In addition to the higher positions thus affected, have not many of the inefficient clerks in the schools, as well as in the downtown office, been appointed through political influence?"

Switching to the educational department, the document continues:

"In 1929 a new department for the assigning of substitutes was instituted which created several high salaried positions whereby additional expenditures were incurred.

Is the Service Better?

"Is the service rendered now superior to, or even equal to, that previously given by the district superintendent's offices? Should not the elimination of these new positions come prior to any cuts in teachers' salaries?

"There is now a group of seven in charge of the music department which does the work formerly done by one person. If the present service is superior to that formerly given, please give specific instances where it has been of benefit either to the classroom or to the individual school.

"Recently there have been other offices created entailing additional expense. Should not a careful survey of this expense be made and eliminations made before attempting any reductions which will weaken the service rendered directly to the children?"

Cost Increase Under Fire.

Another group of questions criticizes a $20,000 increase in the cost of educational administration last year, "when the need for retrenchment was already becoming serious."

As a final shot at expenses, the questionnaire says:

"Chicago has first place among our large cities in physical administration of its schools, but is twelfth in the care of its room teacher. Is this because the physical department creates new jobs? Is it not because politics can have a freer hand in this department?

"Newark, N. J., has eliminated all supervisors and placed their duties in the hands of the district superintendent and principal, which has been reported as a complete success. What is the objection to trying it in Chicago?"

Some reduction in the cost of educational administration has been recommended for the 1932 budget. Twenty-two bureaus are to be consolidated into five, but few directors or supervisors of bureaus have been eliminated.

Another view of what should be done will be presented to the school board today. This statement is signed by 50 citizen leaders. They say they are "convinced that it is important to maintain the services which the public schools are rendering to the children and young people of the community." The statement continues:

"We believe that the city school system has developed a plan of education which present day civilization demands. Since it is necessary to reduce the budgetary appropriations for the coming year, it will be better in the present emergency to shorten the term a few weeks at the end of the school year rather than return to a type of education which is inadequate and impoverished.

"Drastic cuts in such departments as vocational guidance, visiting teachers and special schools, which are important to the adjustment of children with physical, mental or social difficulties, are ill-advised at the present time."

The proposed reduction in the educational budget is placed at $8,727,400. The subcommittee has eliminated $7,277,904, leaving $1,449,496 to be cut out this afternoon.

It is rumored that the subcommittee will recommend closing the schools for nine days, to make up the $1,449,496, in addition to deducting pay for ten holidays from the teachers' salaries. These plans combined will reduce the teachers' income nearly a month's salary.

Seize Two Bookkeepers of Closed Hammond Bank

Two young bank bookkeepers of Hammond, Ind., were arrested last night on charges of embezzlement. They are James F. Knoche, 23 years old, and Paul Mavity, 21 years old, former employés of the now defunct American Trust and Savings bank of Hammond. Bank examiners said they discovered that the two youths had been taking small sums from the bank over a considerable period of time. Their total shortages were estimated at $3,200.

'CON CON' WITH NO REMAPPING CALLED FRAUD

Malone Tells Emmerson His Opinion.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Until the legislature remaps the senatorial districts, now thirty years old, a constitutional convention would carry a "taint of fraud and illegality," according to an argument placed before Gov. L. L. Emmerson yesterday in a letter from William H. Malone, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor and former chairman of the state tax commission.

WM. H. MALONE. [Moffett Photo.]

In an assault on the "con con" idea, which the governor is urging in the second special session of the legislature which convened on his call Tuesday, Mr. Malone points out that one chief reason for the defeat of the proposed new constitution in 1922 was the restriction it placed upon Cook county's representation.

No Equality for Chicago.

In as much as the delegates would be elected from the existing legislative districts established in 1901, Mr. Malone told the governor that Cook county and all the regions which have had a great growth in population in the last thirty years would have a restricted voice in a "con con" just as they now have in the legislature. Hence, he argues, a convention would be controlled by a majority of delegates elected by a minority of the population, and a proposed constitution would be written by a minority.

Mr. Malone urges Gov. Emmerson to go the works in trying to get a fair reapportionment ahead of any constitutional convention. Otherwise, he says, it will mean $2,500,000 spent for nothing.

"The last constitutional convention, held in 1920," wrote Malone, "proposed a constitution which was rejected by a vote of 185,289 for and 931,398 against. The failure of the 1920 convention can be traced to the refusal of the general assembly to reapportion the state since 1901.

Rejected by the Voters.

"Thus Cook county was not represented in the convention in fair proportion to the population as provided for in our present constitution. The proposed new constitution would have made permanent this disfranchisement of Cook county voters. The voters promptly rejected it.

"Members of the general assembly are required to take an oath to support the constitution, which requires them to reapportion the state every ten years. Members of the general assembly have repeatedly violated their oath of office by refusing to reapportion the state.

"Cook county, with 53 per cent of the population, has 19 of the 51 senators and the same proportion in the house. Many voters undoubtedly voted against the 1922 constitution thinking it folly to have a new constitution when members of the general assembly did not obey the present constitution."

Picked in Same Manner.

The Malone letter points out that a constitutional convention consists of twice as many delegates as there are members of the senate, elected in the same manner from the same districts. To illustrate the disfranchisement, it cites election figures of 1930. The First district, which cast only 3,500 votes on state senator, would have two delegates and the Twenty-fifth district, which cast 129,400 votes, would have only two delegates.

"Many downstate districts show discrepancies nearly as great as these Chicago districts," says the Malone letter. "In fact, the great majority of delegates would be elected by minority groups.

"If delegates are illegally elected in defiance of the constitution, their work will carry the taint of fraud. Any constitution they write will not truly represent the will of the people and will deserve repudiation. Thus more of the taxpayers' money will be wasted."

Open Custer Headquarters.

Headquarters for Omer N. Custer of Galesburg, candidate for governor in the Republican primaries, were established yesterday at the Morrison hotel.

Charles W. Hadley of Wheaton, former chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, is to start Monday on his downstate campaign for the Republican nomination for attorney general.

Headed by Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, Republican national chairman, the party committee on arrangements is due to arrive tomorrow to inspect the plans for the national convention in June at the Stadium. Jouett Shouse, Democratic executive chairman, last week put his O. K. on the plans for the Democratic convention.

HOUSE POSTAL GROUP OPPOSES RATE INCREASE

Brown Defends Boost and Cites Huge Loss.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The postoffice department favors and the house postoffice committee is against increasing the first class letter rate from 2 to 3 cents.

This was brought out today as first Postmaster General Walter F. Brown and then Chairman Mead [Dem., N. Y.] of the postoffice committee appeared before members of the house ways and means committee to tell what they thought of the treasury department's suggestion that tax increases should be accompanied by postal rate changes sufficient to wipe out the annual 150 million dollar gross postal deficit.

WALTER F. BROWN. [Harris & Ewing.]

Brown Defends Increase.

"I believe," said Mr. Brown, "that an increase in the first class rate is justifiable at this time, on the basis of the value of the service and in view of prevailing foreign rates."

There was indication that one strongly supported Democratic view of meeting the deficit would be to vote a large increase in the second class rates, which last year showed a loss to the department of some $97,000,000.

Would Net 135 Millions More.

Representative Henry T. Rainey [Dem., Ill.], majority floor leader, was particularly outspoken in insinuating that newspaper and magazine publishers were receiving a preferential treatment which amounted to a subsidy.

The postmaster general explained that an increase of 1 cent on all first class mail would bring in an additional revenue of $135,000,000.

STOCKING S-T-R-A-I-N
comes when you cross knees, bend, stretch, even put on your shoes! If elasticity has been destroyed, silk threads break, starting ruinous runs.

STOP THOSE RUNS

Preserve the ELASTICITY* that makes stockings WEAR

DO YOU KNOW what causes those ruinous runs?

New stockings are elastic—they give under strain, stretch and then spring back again. When this precious elasticity is destroyed, the silk threads, instead of giving, break under strain. It is then that runs start!

That is why Lux is made especially to preserve the elasticity that makes even the sheerest stockings really wear.

*The Lux Way to make stockings last twice as long

Wash after EACH wearing. Perspiration left in the stocking will actually rot the silk.

Don't rub with cake soap. It destroys the elasticity of the silk, making it lifeless, apt to break into runs, and ill-fitting. With Lux there's no rubbing. Even stubborn spots come out perfectly if you gently press in a few dry Lux diamonds.

Don't use too-warm water—this fades color. With Lux you use lukewarm water. No hot water needed. The tiny Lux diamonds—so sheer you can actually read through them—dissolve twice as fast, even in water at wrist temperature. Anything safe in water is safe in Lux.

Wash this 2-minute way:

RAIL PRESIDENTS DUE TO ANSWER UNIONS TODAY

Finish Report on Finances of the Roads.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

Negotiations between railway labor and a committee of railroad presidents approach the critical stage today. The presidents are due to present their final stand on all the issues pending before the conference.

A detailed statistical picture showing the financial condition of the railroads of the country—a picture said to be so gloomy as to convince the railway workers that they should voluntarily accept a 10 per cent wage cut—was being prepared all day yesterday. Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and chairman of the presidents' committee, said last night the the committee's work was virtually done and that he expected to present its report to the labor representatives when the joint conference is resumed at 10 o'clock this morning.

Roads to Answer Unions.

The railway presidents are also due to present their last word on issues raised in behalf of the workers. The presidents will answer labor's question as to whether, if the 10 per cent cut were granted, the savings resulting from it would be applied toward relieving unemployment in the industry, and particularly toward guaranteeing that the railroads will employ additional men in 1932 so as to equal the total number of "man hours" worked in the year 1930.

The final position of the railroads on the labor plan for a commission to study the six hour day is also to be made known. In their first statement on this subject the presidents said they would not indorse the plan.

It was learned last night that the labor leaders are planning to invite Mr. Willard to present his entire outline of the railroads' last stand to a meeting to be attended by all the general chairmen of the railway brotherhoods who are still in Chicago.

May Call General Meeting.

If at the joint sessions today the railroads complete the presentation of their case, it is possible that the meeting with the general chairmen will be called for tomorrow by David B. Robertson, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives association.

Approximately 800 of the 1,500 general chairmen are still in the city, the others having given complete authority to their national executives to act for them. In the case of some of the brotherhoods, the authority of the national executives is conditional upon the approval of the general chairmen.

In the discussions of the labor representatives it was said to be the position of the leaders that they desired the general chairmen to be advised personally and directly as to the nature of the railroads' answer to the issues so they might consider their ultimate decision from their own knowledge of the situation.

Rail Presidents Hopeful.

No positive forecast of what action will be taken could be made on the eve of these crucial days. The presidents are hopeful that the employés will agree to the cut. The labor leaders seem to be holding to the stand that they will agree to the cut if they have assurances that the savings will be applied in substantial measure toward stabilizing employment and relieving unemployment.

It is expected that the presidents will offer some definite plan for stabilizing and increasing employment along lines which they regard as practical. The unions are hopeful that the presidents also will come around to some proposal for a commission to investigate the six hour day. These two issues are held by the labor leaders as of prime importance, viewed coördinately with the proposed wage cut.

The position taken by Mr. Robertson before the joint conference on Tuesday was that labor would not consider taking a cut if the savings were paid in dividends to railway stockholders. In support of this stand, various labor leaders yesterday cited excerpts from testimony given by Donald R. Richberg, general counsel sociation, before a committee of the United States senate two weeks ago.

Mr. Richberg said that the railway workers' distress did not begin with the depression. From 1923 to 1929, when the depression began, 200,000 workers lost their jobs. During that period, Mr. Richberg pointed out, the aggregate payments to railway workers diminished by $757,000,000. In that period aggregate payments of fixed charges and dividends increased $1,050,000,000, and at the same time more than $2,000,000,000 was being added to surpluses and more than $760,000,000 was being added to depreciation reserves.

Mr. Richberg's argument was that while invested capital has just begun to suffer, labor has been suffering increasingly for nine years.

Rich Roads Plan to Help.

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Rich railroads are planning to keep those suffering more acutely from poverty out of receivership, it was reported in railroad banking quarters today.

This is to be accomplished, it was explained, through advances by roads well supplied with cash to the railroad credit corporation in anticipation of the payments which they would eventually make to the corporation as a result of the increased revenues from the higher freight rate schedule which went into effect Jan. 4.

The program, it is expected, may take definite form at a meeting of the directors of the railroad credit corporation tomorrow. The corporation is headed by E. G. Buckland, chairman of the New York, New Haven and Hartford.

Becomes of Age

Cash and securities amounting to $114,572 were turned over to Miss Helen Marie McEvoy, 18 years old, 512 Oakdale avenue, yesterday by Joseph Lisack, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. Miss McEvoy said that her life would continue in its usual course.

Miss McEvoy became of age on Jan. 6. The legacy was left to her by her maternal grandfather, Roger C. Sullivan, a Democratic political leader until his death in 1920, and her mother, Mrs. Helen S. McEvoy, who died in 1920.

Miss McEvoy received a check for $7,672, and the rights to securities valued at $106,900. The funds have been held in trust for her by the First Union Trust and Savings bank.

The girl's father, William P. McEvoy, head of an insurance brokerage business at 175 West Jackson boulevard, was unable to attend the court proceedings. He is ill at the Mercy hospital after an operation. Miss McEvoy is a student at the Marywood girls' school in Evanston.

RESIGNATION OF DAWES TAKES LONDON ABACK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Much surprise was expressed in diplomatic circles at the announcement that Ambassador Dawes will not return to Great Britain to finish up his work and say good-by before his retirement as ambassador takes effect.

It is customary for a retiring ambassador to present the letters of his recall to the king personally, but this can be done by his successor at the same time that he presents his credentials.

Mrs. Dawes is now packing and proposes to sail for America at the earliest possible date.

Walter E. Edge, American ambassador to Paris, is mentioned in diplomatic circles as Dawes' successor.

SENATE, HOUSE ARE AGREED ON 2 BILLION BILL

Reconstruction Measure Near Enactment.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The administration's bill to create the reconstruction finance corporation, of which former Ambassador Charles G. Dawes will be president, moved a step nearer enactment into law tonight when the members of the senate and house conference committee announced that they had reconciled the differences in the two versions of the measure.

The conferees' report will be signed tomorrow and presented to the house. By Friday the report should be in the senate. Unless a hitch develops, the President's signature will be affixed before the week is over, and the machinery will be set in motion to extend government guaranteed credit to the potential amount of two billion dollars to banks, farm credit corporations, building and loan associations, mortgage companies, and the railroads.

Senate Proviso Accepted.

Perhaps the most important agreement reached by the conference was the acceptance of the senate bill proviso that the obligations which the corporation will have power to issue in a maximum amount of one billion, 500 million dollars, shall not be eligible for purchase or discount by banks of the federal reserve system.

The decision of the conferees was a distinct defeat for the administration, which urged that corporation obligations should be so eligible, and it was a victory for Senators Glass of Virginia and Bulkley of Ohio who have fought vehemently against liberalization of the federal reserve act of which Senator Glass is chief author.

Bank Aid Incorporated.

The senate bill clause authorizing the secretary of the treasury to purchase the corporation bonds with money raised through a federal bond issue was retained. A new and compromise clause permits the corporation to loan up to 200 million dollars to aid in rehabilitating closed banks or banks in liquidation.

Agriculture will be aided by a $50,000,000 additional appropriation rider to the senate bill, and to be used by the secretary of agriculture in making crop loans direct to farmers. A large portion of the corporation's credit will be earmarked for loans to farm banks and credit associations.

200 Million Limit Set.

From the house bill, the conferees accepted the provision permitting a maximum of 200 million dollars to be loaned to one institution and to make the corporation securities subject to surtaxes.

Criticism of President Hoover's action in announcing the appointment of Brig. Gen. Dawes as president and Eugene Meyer, governor of the federal reserve, as chairman of the board in advance of passage of the bill was expressed today by Democratic senators, who professed to see a political motive in appointing two Republicans as executive heads of the corporation.

BIG DECLINE SHOWN IN COLLECTIONS OF U. S. INCOME TAXES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The severity of the decline in federal income tax collections as a result of the continuance of the business depression was illustrated today by figures made public by the internal revenue bureau.

The figures showed that for the first six months of the current fiscal year the total was but $615,307,000, a decrease of $492,005,000, as compared with the collections for the same period in the previous year. Of the grand total the corporation income tax was $378,660,000, a decrease of $225,584,000, and the individual income tax $236,646,000, a drop of $266,420,000.

An even more unfavorable picture was shown by the figures for December in which the corporation taxes amounted to $155,656,000, a decrease of $104,898,000, while individual income taxes shrunk by more than 50 per cent, the total being $100,865,000, a decline of $133,554,000. The total collection of income taxes for the month was $256,522,000, a decrease of $238,543,000.

On the basis of income tax figures for the first six months of the current year, income tax collections for the year may run a billion less than last year.

CONGRESSMEN MAY CUT OWN SALARIES FIRST

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Congressional leaders today discussed the advisability of leading the way in a movement for a general salary cut by lopping from 10 to 20 per cent from their own salaries.

While no congressman would be quoted, house leaders said that in all likelihood an amendment will be offered to the legislative establishments supply bill cutting from $1,000 to $2,000 a year from the salaries of senators and representatives. Those congressmen sponsoring the proposal took the position congress should reduce its own pay before cutting that of others on the government pay roll.

While no direct statement was forthcoming from the White House it was stated for the President that he is opposed to any general wage cut for all government employés.

TAKE 2 SUSPECTS AFTER HOLDUP OF MUNDELEIN BANK

Family Held Prisoners by Robber Gang.

Two men were under arrest last night as suspects in the investigation of the robbery early yesterday of the State Bank of Mundelein, in which $3,500 was taken. The prisoners were said to have been overheard plotting such a robbery in a north side saloon a week ago.

Those held are Mike Dooman, 37 years old, 752 North Dearborn street, described by the police as an underworld character for 20 years, and Eugene Smith, 3511 Reta street, also a police character. Lieut. Richard Barry was informed that Dooman and Smith had been heard to remark that robbery of the Mundelein bank would be an "easy job."

Sheriff Lester Tiffany of Lake county said he would take the men to Mundelein today and have witnesses look at them. Two witnesses who saw Dooman and Smith last night were uncertain about their identifications.

Family Seized by Robbers.

The bank was robbed by four bandits who held members of the family of Milan C. Mott, cashier, prisoners for six hours. Ten months ago another bandit gang terrorized the Mott family in the same way and looted the bank of $10,000.

On Tuesday night, Mr. and Mrs. Mott had celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. About 2 a. m., after the guests had departed, three of the robbers, armed with sawed off shotguns and revolvers, climbed into the Mott home through a bedroom window while the fourth stayed in an automobile parked outside.

The bandits lined up Mr. and Mrs. Mott, their sons, Paul, 24 years old; Neal, 20, and William, 16, and Mrs. Mott's sister, Mrs. Florence Taylor. Mott was taken to the bank while one of the men stood guard over the remainder of the family. Later the bandits took the rest of the family to the bank building and placed them all in the basement.

Force Teller to Open Safe.

Mott said he did not know the combination of the safe and the robbers waited until 8 a. m. when Sanford E. Worthem, the teller appeared. He was seized and forced to open the safe. The robbers scooped up the currency in the vault and then began to discuss taking Mrs. Mott with them as a hostage.

Paul Mott volunteered to go instead of his mother, and the men took him with them in their car. They released him on a country road three miles west of Wauconda.

Dooman, one of the suspects in custody, was arrested in Lake county a year ago at the time George "Bugs" Moran, Chicago gangster, was on trial there as a vagrant. Dooman took a sum of money to Moran in jail and was also seized as a vagrant. The charge against him was never pressed.

ASK SEARCH FOR SLAYERS.

Police were urged by a coroner's jury yesterday to apprehend two unidentified robbers who shot and killed Saul Weiner in his store at 3901 South Halsted street Tuesday.

Breaks Up a Cold In a Jiffy
Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

Take two tablets now.

Better almost before you know it.

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

HILL'S Cascara Quinine Compound

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough due to a cold. It takes but a moment to mix, costs little, and saves money, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Squires Blames Gangsters.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Violence in the Chicago cleaning and dyeing industry is the work of gangsters seeking to force out legitimate operators, Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, dictator of the Cleaners and Dyers institute of Chicago, told the convention of the National Association of Cleaners and Dyers here today.

"As in the past the gangsters live on the fringe of the industry and have no part in the reputable establishments which do real work," said Dr. Squires. "They are mainly responsible for the condition brought about by destructive competition on the part of those who charge low prices at the cost of quality work, lower wages and refuse fair adjustments to customers."

U. S. DELEGATION TO ARMS PARLEY OFF FOR GENEVA

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Thirty-seven members of the American delegation to the disarmament conference headed by United States Senator Claude A. Swanson of Virginia sailed today in the President Harding of the United States lines. They were accompanied by a group of eight unofficial women delegates to the conference, headed by Mrs. Frank Day Tuttle, chairman of the board of direction of the league of nations association.

About 150 women members of the various peace societies marched down the pier carrying flags. They came to see off Dr. Mary E. Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke college and the only woman member of the official delegation.

Senator Swanson, who was accompanied by Mrs. Swanson, said that he was not optimistic as to the results of the forthcoming assembly at Geneva, but hopeful.

"If something does not come out of the conference," he declared, "then the Lord help us."

"Our government exercisd its utmost efforts to make its position clear both to the league and to America. MUKDEN, Jan. 20.—A spokesman for the Japanese army announced today that Chinese organizations in Jehol province, including the chamber of commerce at Kailu, have sent representatives to Gen. This announcement is interpreted here as the forerunner of an invasion of Jehol province, from Chinchow, where the Japanese now have some 10,000 troops.

Two Slain in Shanghai Riot.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Two persons, one Chinese and one Japanese, were killed and many were injured today in a clash between a gang of Japanese and members of the Chinese and international settlement police forces.

The fight, apparently growing out of the Manchurian trouble and the Chinese boycott on Japanese goods, added to the tenseness of the relations between Shanghai's Japanese and Chinese populations. Investigations were started by the foreign settlement authorities and the Japanese consulate.

CARVE SYMBOLS ON FOREHEAD OF DEAD CHURCHMAN

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Curious symbols were found to have been carved with a knife on the forehead of Norman B. Bechtel, church worker, who was found dying today, when authorities reëxamined his body at a morgue tonight.

The marks consisted of a vertical slit down the center of the forehead from the hair to the nose, a diagonal slit on each side of the center mark, and crescent shaped cuts at the sides.

The marks at first had been mistaken for wounds caused by a beating.

They also said their new examination revealed the slayer had stabbed Bechtel in the heart through his overcoat, then had torn away his clothing.

AUSTRIA FORBIDS BANKS TO PAY ON FOREIGN DEBTS

20 Million Tied Up; U. S. Heaviest Loser.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Jan. 20.—Austria's private banks were informed late tonight by the national bank that they would not be permitted to make further payments of amortization on their short term foreign debts. This order ties up about $20,000,0000, twenty per cent of which would have been paid off this year. American banks are the heaviest losers.

A communique issued by the national bank explained that it had simply informed all private Austrian banks except the Credit Anstalt that the national bank is not in position to furnish foreign exchange to pay amortization. The Credit Anstalt, under a standstill agreement recently negotiated with foreign creditors, will pay no amortization for two years on its $70,000,000 credits.

Banker Assails Order.

A representative of an Austrian private bank said tonight that the action of the national bank was wholly unnecessary because the private banks are willing to refund foreign debts. But with the national bank refusing to furnish them foreign exchange, he said, they are helpless.

Private bankers recently refunded $7,000,000 of $27,000,000 of credits. They then negotiated an arrangement with foreign creditors whereby they paid a 15 per cent quarterly amortization on their remaining debt of $20,000,000. Two months ago the national bank, on orders of Prof. G. W. J. Bruins, Dutch economist, who is the adviser of the Bank for International Settlements here, torpedoed this agreement, cutting the amortization payments to five per cent quarterly, or $4,000,000 annually.

Permits Interest Payments.

Now these payments will be stopped entirely. The national bank announced, however, that it would furnish enough foreign exchange to allow the payment of interest on debts of private banks to be maintained.

Austria's desperate financial plight was shown today by publication of the weekly statement of the national bank. It shows that the country's reserves are being rapidly depleted.

CHIEF OF POLICE HELD AS SLAYER OF GIRL AND RIVAL

Love Triangle Ends in Double Tragedy.

KELOWNA, B. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—A girl and her former lover lay dead tonight while authorities held Chief of Police David Murdoch on charges of killing them.

A feeling of apprehension ran through the community lest a feud involving the girl cause further slayings.

Officials expressed fear that the bitter feeling between Murdoch and former Police Constable Archie McDonold, 28, whom he killed last night, might involve other members of the police department. Murdoch was charged also with killing Genevieve Nolan, 24, for whose affections authorities said the men were rivals.

Kills Woman in Hotel.

The fatal shootings, they said, grew out of a quarrel last August during the Kelowna regatta. Murdoch accused McDonald, then on the force, of being intoxicated. A fist fight resulted in the city park and the constable was beaten severely by Murdoch.

Later, they said, Miss Nolan, in a fit of pique, handed letters written to her by Murdoch over to McDonald. The fact that her room had been ransacked led to a belief Murdoch tried to recover these letters.

The first shooting occurred in the rotunda of a hotel last night. Murdoch felled Miss Nolan with the first shot, but witnesses said he emptied the chamber of his automatic into her body before he sought McDonald. The latter was killed in the kitchen of his home as he prepared the evening meal. Miss Nolan, authorities said, was a police informer.

Arrested by Own Men.

Murdoch surrendered peacefully when the police found him in his home two hours after the shooting.

He expressed surprise that one of his men should use armed force to arrest him, when he noticed the drawn guns of the officers. He refused to make any statement.

Following the fight last August McDonald was suspended from the police force and the chief of police brought an action against him, charging him with assault and with being intoxicated while on duty. McDonald was tried and acquitted.

City Workers Slow to Buy Political Group's Tickets

City Controller Szymczak was disappointed, it was reported yesterday, over the failure of employés in his office to buy tickets to a play to be given under the auspices of the Democratic organization in the 38th ward, where the controller is the committeeman. The tickets are priced at 50 cents and $1. An ordinance which has the approval of the city council, but which is not yet in effect, provides that tickets sold for plays "purporting to be given for charitable purposes" shall name the beneficiaries. Szymczak's tickets, it is pointed out, do not comply with this provision.

DELICATESSENS COVETING NICHE IN MURRAY HILL

Tradesmen Hope to Climb to Staid Old Area.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The sedate Morgan home may face a delicatessen shop and the Baker mansion a corner grocery store. The Herbert L. Satterlees and the Harry Harkness Flaglers may soon find themselves with tradesman neighbors. Such personages as Mrs. Robert Bacon, wife of the late ambassador to France; Mrs. Charles Lawrence Riker, and Mrs. M. Taylor Pyne are facing the immediate possibility of looking past their drawing room curtains into the windows of the butcher and the baker.

The last stronghold of aristocratic old New York, Murray Hill, is in imminent danger of falling before the march of time.

Opening Wedges Found.

The wealthy residents of Murray Hill, that part of the city in the vicinity of Park avenue and 37th street, are marshaling their forces and invoking the 85 year old "Murray Hill covenant" today in an effort to block the opening of their exclusive residential section to trade.

The Morgans, the Bakers, and the Rockefellers, father and son, have staunchly resisted commercial invasion for more than two generations, but opening wedges have been found, and now John F. Sullivan, city planning commissioner, has prepared a petition asking the board to make a business district of Murray Hills' 32 acres.

Valuation Would Increase.

The board of estimate has intimated that it will grant the petition at its meeting Friday and scrap the "covenant" that bars all shopkeepers. Observers see a hint of retaliation in the move which is sure to result in another court fight before the home owners give in. J. P. Morgan and other financiers who have ancient family homes in Murray Hill have been the leaders in refusing huge loans to a bankrupt city government. They have demanded an economy program.

7½ MILE BRIDGE OVER SAN FRANCISCO BAY TO COST $75,000,000

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 20.—(AP)—The San Francisco-Oakland bridge across San Francisco bay, approved today by Secretary Hurley of the war department, will be about 7½ miles long and will cost about $75,000,000. Borings to determine the location and necessary depths of the bridge piers are nearing completion.

The bridge will in reality be two bridges. One will reach from San Francisco to Yerba Buena island, now used as a United States naval station. There will be a tunnel through the island and another bridge, almost at right angles to the bridge from San Francisco.

The bridge will have two decks. The upper deck will have six speed traffic lanes. The lower deck will have two electric railway tracks and another traffic lane.

The longest span will be on the San Francisco side and will be 1,760 feet long.

USE 3 TIMES STOP COLDS

Join the thousands who prevent infections through the nose from dust, which causes colds, sinus trouble, catarrh, coughs, by using Kondon's Jelly three times a day. This simple practice will give you a healthy head all winter. Drug stores, 30c and 60c.

KONDON'S QUICK RELIEF FOR NOSE, HEAD AND THROAT

Stretch $1 as far as $3 when fighting sore throat colds

PEPSODENT ANTISEPTIC goes 3 times as far, because it can be diluted with 2 parts of water. That's economy for you! Why waste money on antiseptics that must be used full strength?

OUT of every $3 you spend for ordinary mouth antiseptics you might as well save $2. It's a simple problem of arithmetic. Pepsodent Antiseptic is three times as powerful as other leading mouth washes—by adding water it goes three times as far—gives you three times as much for your money—and gives you extra protection against sore throat colds and unpleasant breath. Here's the great difference between old-fashioned mouth washes and Pepsodent Antiseptic. The old-fashioned mouth wash must be used full strength to be effective—but three people out of four add water to their mouth wash. So the new discovery—Pepsodent Antiseptic—was made powerful enough to be diluted and still be effective—yet it is completely safe when used full strength. It's costly enough to use a mouth wash that should be used full strength. But it's a lot more costly to dilute that mouth wash and fail to kill the germs. That's why we warn you to choose an antiseptic that kills germs when diluted. Insist on Peposodent Antiseptic—and be safe. Safeguard health and save your money.

BAD BREATH (Halitosis)

The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds, proves its effectiveness in checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Remember Pepsodent is 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, it kills germs even when diluted with water!

LABOR DEMANDS BEER OR IT WILL SUPPORT REPEAL

Throws Down Gage Before Dry Forces.

By GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Give the laboring man his glass of beer or he'll go out and demand repeal of the 18th amendment, Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, today warned the senate subcommittee considering the Bingham beer bill.

Senator Bingham [Rep., Conn.] wants his beer to have an alcoholic content of 4 per cent by volume.

Labor, through its national committee for modification of the Volstead act, of which Woll is president, says it will be satisfied with an alcoholic content of 2.75 per cent by weight, which is equivalent to 3.6 per cent by volume.

"But the only reason we want 4 per cent," explained Senator Bingham with a smile, "is that it tastes a little better [Encouraging cheers from the modificationists in the crowded room] and still is not intoxicating." [Depreciating sneers from the drys group about Bishop James Cannon Jr.]

Knows Labor's Viewpoint.

Mr. Woll emphatically denied charges of the drys that he did not represent labor's true viewpoint.

"Why, ever since prohibition I have been going up and down this country; and I've seen a lot of working people. Not more than 2 per cent are for the present prohibition.

In labor's indictment of present prohibition which began with gangster bootleggers' huge profits and ended with high school girls' small flasks, Mr. Woll made this personal point.

"When I speak of the uneasiness of parents these days I know what I'm talking about. I'm uneasy with conditions the way they are. I have a boy at the University of Illinois and he tells me the bootlegger pays regular calls to the fraternity house. My other boy, at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, tells me the same story."

Mr. Woll turned around and looked at Bishop Cannon; then shouted:

"Now the drys are going into the churches making prohibition a religious issue; well, if the clerics stoop to politics, then let them take all the dirt that goes with it, and labor will meet them on that ground."

The crowd cheered for a long time.

Bishop Cannon and the Anti-Saloon league were hit, too, by Senator Barbour [Rep., N. J.], who urged congress to "release the grip which one group has on the federal government, which it is using to control another large group."

The proposed beer bill is the first step, the New Jersey senator believes, toward relieving what he calls "that oppression."

Urges Beer for Babies.

Dr. Martin Dewey, president of the American Dental association, recommended beer for babies. Wait a minute; here's the way he did it.

The condition of infants' teeth, he explained, is due largely to the health of the mother in the pre-natal period, and the health of the mother during this period is often greatly benefited by beer, "because of its great nutritive value."

And former Senator Gould, a Maine Republican, came in as a surprise witness to proclaim that Maine, the original prohibition state, had undergone such a change of sentiment since prohibition has sent liquor trucks thundering through its quiet village streets every night from Canada that today "the majority are for modification."

KOBE, Japan, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Ruth Barron, New York woman aviator, was married here today to William Franklin Nason, American vice consul. The ceremony was performed at the home of Consul E. R. Dickover.

Miss Barron arrived in Japan last spring to participate in preparations for a flight across the Pacific with Capt. Thomas Ash. Bad weather and other factors prevented the flight.

Nason was born in Brockton, Mass., studied law at George Washington university and entered the consular service in 1921.

URBANA STORES REOPEN TODAY; CLOSED 2 DAYS

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Following a meeting with business leaders, Mayor Reginald C. Harmon of Urbana late this afternoon rescinded his five day "holiday" proclamation, issued early Tuesday morning and which closed all stores and business houses with the exception of those absolutely necessary. As a result all business institutions in this city will reopen tomorrow morning.

The five day holiday was called by Mayor Harmon in order to allow local banks to close to prevent a threatened run on them due to the closing of two Champaign banks Monday. It is the opinion of the mayor and business leaders that the citizenry of the city had gained full confidence and that normal conditions will prevail with the resumption of business in the morning.

In Champaign on a call by the chamber of commerce a meeting of business leaders of the city was held this afternoon. As a result a meeting of stockholders and depositors of the First National bank and the Commercial bank, which closed Monday morning, will be held to appoint a committee to represent them on a general committee of citizens to be appointed by the chamber of commerce to take steps in an effort to reorganize both banks.

CHARGE PHONE CALLS BY GANG TO PROSECUTOR

Telephone company records showing long distance calls between the office of former State's Attorney Robert W. Besse of Whiteside county and alleged leaders of the midwest booze conspiracy were introduced yesterday in the trial before Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley.

One of the calls to Besse's office was put through by Gabriel Cinquinna of Chicago, who was indicted but fled to Italy.

The number of defendants in the $12,000,000 case, originally 52 individuals and two corporations, was reduced to 38 yesterday when Thomas J. Harrigan Jr., president of the Tom Harrigan, Inc., auto sales company, and five other officials and employés of the company entered pleas of nolo contendere.

MOVE TO BREAK TRUST CREATED BY BANK DEBTOR

Aim to Recover $150,000 for Depositors.

Action to break the $150,000 trust created for his family by Victor J. Curto, debtor and former director of the Sheridan Trust and Savings bank, was begun yesterday by Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg. Curto owes the bank $150,000.

Attorneys acting with the judge in his efforts to discover assets hidden to the receiver of the bank are attempting to break the trust on grounds that the trust was formed on June 19, 1929, with funds which should have been used to pay creditors.

On the witness stand Curto denied that he owed $74,000 to Mrs. Flora Cole Rotert when the trust was created. Under questioning by Attorney Elwood Godman, Curto admitted there had never been any segregation of Mrs. Rotert's money from Curto's business funds until August of 1929.

Profits in Office Fund.

Mrs. Rotert was the widow of Archie Cole, a salesman in Curto's real estate office. The $74,000 represented an accumulation of the profits of several real estate transactions of Cole and had been deposited in the office account. Curto insisted he could have paid the money at any time before creation of the trust.

Curto drew the anger of the court when he failed to remember whether he owed other creditors on June 19, 1929. After questioning he recalled owing the Sheridan Trust and Savings bank $162,000 and $100,000 to the former Foreman State bank. He also said he made an application for a loan at the Sheridan Trust and Savings bank the day after he created the trust but said he did not receive the loan of $75,000 until the following September.

Curto has transferred his equity in his home against the $150,000 indebtedness to the bank. He was excused from the stand subject to recall. During the afternoon Judge Feinberg questioned debtors of the Lake View State bank in an attempt to uncover hidden assets.

Three Banks Close.

Three banks were closed yesterday by the state auditor's office at the request of the boards of directors of the institutions. They are the Stockmen's Trust and Savings bank, Garfield boulevard and Halsted street; the Westwood State bank of Elmwood Park and the Service State bank, 5601 West North avenue.

On June 30, 1930 the Stockmen's Trust and Savings bank had deposits of $2,200,000. Yesterday deposits were $690,000. The Westwood State bank had deposits of $250,000 on June 30, 1929. These had dwindled to $47,000 at closing. The Service State bank had deposits of $1,650,000 on June 30, 1929 which had dropped to $340,000 at closing. Heavy withdrawals were held responsible for the closings.

AVIATION NOTES

Of the 55 per cent increase in air passenger traffic registered at Chicago air port last year, Century Air Lines furnished 30 per cent, that organization announced yesterday. The total increase in passengers numbered 34,624, and 19,149 of that number were carried by Century planes, although the line began operation only last March 23, it was reported.

Homer J. Byrd, member of the Cook county board of commissioners, last night described the county's program to remain the world center for airline activity over radio station WIBO.

Pilot Ray Schrader of Braniff Airways reported yesterday that he had flown from Kansas City to Chicago in one hour and 57 minutes, a new record for his line. The distance is 427 miles. He flew a Lockheed Orion plane, powered by a Wasp motor, and carried two passengers.

Druggan and Lake Due to Be Sentenced Today

Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, former beer barons, are expected to be sentenced by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today on their pleas of guilty to income tax fraud charges. Hearings in "aggravation and mitigation of punishment" for Druggan and Lake have been continued many times, both on the plea of the defense and because of the illness of Judge Wilkerson's father, who died recently in St. Joseph, Mo. Druggan and Lake are subject to possible maximum sentences of 32 and 27 years and fines of $60,000 and $50,000, respectively.

PROBE CHARGES OF NEGLIGENCE IN GARY DEATHS

An investigation will be started today by Prosecutor Robert G. Estill of Lake county, Ind., into the deaths of Mrs. Margaret Peterson, and her son, Richard, six days old, of Hobart, who died of diphtheria on Tuesday. The inquiry will be based on charges by Dr. J. Preston Vye of Gary that their deaths resulted from negligence on the part of Hobart officials.

Mrs. Peterson was stricken with diphtheria three weeks ago, and her husband, John, a part time employé of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, Gary, asked medical aid of Dr. L. M. Friedrich, township health officer of Hobart.

Posts Quarantine Sign.

Dr. Friedlich posted a quarantine sign and advised Peterson to seek aid of Miss Agnes Chaffee, Hobart township trustee. She refused aid on the ground that Peterson was partially employed.

Neighbors notified the tin mills. The relief agency of the mills investigated, and sent Mrs. Peterson, then an expectant mother, to the Mercy hospital in Gary. Anti-toxin was administered. Its value was too late, however, physicians said. Six days after the child was born he died of diphtheria, contracted from his mother.

Officials Defend Action.

Dr. Vye asserted yesterday that proper and prompt medical aid would have saved Mrs. Peterson and her child.

Both Dr. Friedlich and Miss Chaffee upheld their actions yesterday.

"I am not running a relief agency," asserted Dr. Friedlich.

Miss Chaffee pointed out that Peterson was working three or four days a week and was entitled to aid from the mills and should have applied there.

TRIAL WITNESS LINKS 'BIG SHOTS' TO CANAL GRAFT

Connects Officials with Dummy Company.

Timothy J. Crowe, former president of the sanitary district board, bore the brunt of the attack by the prosecution yesterday in the graft conspiracy trial in Chief Justice Harry Fisher's Criminal court. Crowe and six other defendants are on trial before Judge Fisher and his associates, Judges James J. Kelly and John Prystalski.

T. J. CROWE. [Walinger Photo.]

Joseph W. Schindler, 1314 West 21st street, owner of a large machine shop, was the star witness for the prosecution. Although his testimony involved "the board" as he put it, its most damaging effect was against Crowe, as it indicated a connection between a dummy concern operating to do district work and a substantial cashier's check issued from the First National bank of Oak Park, of which Crowe was president.

District "Big Shots" Accused.

Prosecutor Northup said that the testimony of Schindler showed that the "big shots" in the district affairs did not overlook a bet when it came to devising ways of mulcting the public treasury of funds for their personal gain or for a campaign war chest.

The testimony of S. J. Morris, manager of the Elevated Advertising company, was for the purpose, the prosecutor said, of showing the vanity of Crowe and the other trustees, who spent approximately $100,000 of the taxpayers' money to advertise themselves. Morris produced contracts of his company showing that the district paid some $35,000 for nine months of railroad advertising.

Shows Crowe's Posters.

Walter T. Richards, a printing expert, completed this testimony by producing in court some of the large billboard posters displaying Crowe's name in red letters as president of the district. These posters were spread throughout the city.

Richards said that in advertising themselves the trustees paid exorbitant prices for the printing. He testified that printing contracts for these items were in some cases 1,000 per cent over the reasonable price.

Prosecutor Northup yesterday obtained a subpoena to get records from the United States District court, in order to show the whoopee making of some of the district attachés during Crowe's régime. These are the records of the Central Auto Livery. At the time they were seized it was announced that they recounted in plain language the romantic side of the doings of the district employés. These records have been kept from the public for three years.

Evidence for Prosecution.

Schindler's testimony disclosed, according to Prosecutor Northup, the reason for the vigorous fight by the defense against the introduction into evidence of a $12,700 cashier's check from the City Machine and Engineering company, which, it is alleged, found its way into Crowe's bank account.

The efforts by those interested in this "dummy" concern to hide the company in an obscure southwest side real estate office and the reason why Eugene Byrne, former assistant superintendent of plants and structures of the district, has refused to testify "for fear of self-incrimination," are also explainable by the testimony of Schindler, the prosecutor said. The testimony under the questioning of Prosecutor Northup was as follows:

Q.—When did anybody talk to you about sanitary district work in 1927? A.—In about April, 1927, Connolly, Byrne, and a man named Mahoney called to see me. Mahoney and Byrne came first.

Offered District Jobs.

Q.—What was said? A.—They came to my shop to see if I would do some work for the City Machine and Engineering company.

Q.—What did you say? A.—I asked them who was the City Machine and Engineering company, and they said, "Us and the board." I told them that my price was $1.75 per hour for inside work and $2.50 for outside work. Byrne said that I would get so much district work through his company that I ought to make a special price, so I said I would do it for $1.50 per hour.

Q.—Did you have another talk? A.—Yes, later Connolly and Mahoney came and said that some work would be in the next morning. They told me that in case I had to go out to any of the district plants to be sure and say that I was from the City Machine and Engineering company. They said that the engineers at the plants were getting graft from the companies who had been doing the work, and that they were going to discontinue this because they could be getting that money and could use it for campaign purposes.

Q.—Who could use it for campaign purposes? A.—The board.

Questioned by Defense.

Cross-examination by Attorney Fink failed to shake the witness and brought out further testimony to the effect that the officials of the district intended to cut the minor employés off from their gratuities. In reply to a question the witness said:

"I was told not to tell anybody that the machine company was the board. I was told to keep that to myself. I was also told that if any of the men at the plants found out that I was Schindler that some of the suckers would try to make a touch. They told me that if any of them tried to do it to kick them out of the place."

Schindler said that he had compared the prices of the work done by the dummy company for the district and found them to be considerably above the reasonable price.

Carpenter Charges Graft.

O. S. Bach, 238 North Latrobe avenue, a carpenter contractor, testified that he did some small jobs for the district and that Connolly, who had been a tenant in his building, told him he "expected something on each job." He said he paid Connolly sums ranging from $10 to $275, according to the size of the job.

Another bit of direct testimony aimed at Crowe came when the prosecution by stipulation showed that Thomas Keegan, a brother-in-law of Crowe, operated the Federal Insulation company. Experts testified that this company's prices were 40 per cent excessive on a total of $60,849 worth of business.

Joseph Pilley, Fred Faber and Joseph Burns, employés at the Tivoli Grill, 6352 Cottage Grove avenue, were held in bonds of $1,000 each by United States Commissioner Walker yesterday on charges of violation of the prohibition law. They were arrested by agents under Deputy Prohibition Administrator A. E. Aman in a raid on the restaurant. Twelve barrels of beer and 100 pints of assorted liquor were found on the premises, it is charged.

BAR NEWLYWEDS FROM 'DIVORCE BY MAIL' FACILITIES

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The new "mail order" divorce decrees available in the state of Chihuahua, across the border from El Paso, Tex., are not for newlyweds.

The official decree inaugurating the new law, just published, provides for granting the mutual consent divorces which do not require the parties to appear and which require only one day's notice, only to those who have been married at least a year.

Other decrees, granted for cause and where there is objection from one of the parties, may be granted only after proper legal service upon the defendant. A period of 13 days additional is required for proof of charges and a decision of the judge. The verdict goes into force in 24 hours after it is handed down unless the defendant enters objection, the law specifies.

HUEY LONG TO STAY ON JOB AS LOUISIANA BOSS

Decides Not to Take His Senate Seat Yet.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Gov. Huey P. Long, who had announced prior to yesterday's primary that he would go to Washington and take the seat in the United States senate to which he was elected last year, as soon as he was assured his ticket would be elected, has decided to stay on as governor until his term expires in May.

ALVIN O. KING. [A. P. Photo.]

State Senator Alvin O. King is now acting as lieutenant governor, and it had been expected that he would fill the unexpired term of Gov. Long. But Gov. Long's friends today announced that, with a $40,000,000 bond issue impending and with several million dollars in bridge bonds also to be sold, the governor will not take the chance of these bonds being attacked in the courts if they are issued under the signature of King. Also the suit of Dr. Paul N. Cyr to oust Long from the governorship is still pending. Some lawyers contend that Cyr is still lieutenant governor, although Long threw him out of office.

Gov. Long said today:

"We have won this primary by the record breaking majority in Louisiana of 70,000. I will be of more benefit to the state by staying here."

JURY IN MARYLAND FINDS NEGRO GUILTY ON MURDER CHARGE

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Euel Lee, the 60 year old Negro whose trial for the murder of Green K. Davis has aroused more public interest than any murder trial in Maryland for years, this afternoon was convicted of murder in the first degree by a jury after 34 minutes' deliberation. The verdict was without recommendation for mercy. The trial lasted three days. Lee was accused of killing Davis and Davis' wife and two daughters, but was tried only for the murder of the eastern shore farmer.

U. S. JUDGE CALLS DRY LAWS MORE HARM THAN GOOD

Ottumwa, Ia., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—"What are you going to do with the mass of men sent to jails and prisons for violation of the liquor laws?" Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey of the southern division of Iowa asked members of the 2d Iowa Judicial District Bar association here last night.

"I don't know but that you are ruining as many men by putting them in prison as you are saving old 'sots' by keeping them out of saloons," the jurist declared.

Dewey's remarks climaxed a program that included a discussion of the Wickersham report on the 18th amendment by J. C. Pryor, Burlington attorney, who reminded the audience that it was one year since the report was made public and said it was high time the facts in the document were given some thought.

Judge Dewey, who said he was a prohibitionist and had been a prosecutor for years, told the attorneys that thousands of persons were being forced into the underworld because "when they come out of prison there is no other place for them excepting that business which caused their imprisonment." He added that bootleggers today are a far better class of men than previously has been the case.

FORMER STATE OFFICIAL MUST SERVE SENTENCE

W. H. H. Miller Loses in "Diploma" Appeal.

W. H. H. Miller, head of the state department of registration and education during the Small régime, must serve seven months in the county jail for his share in the operation of a diploma mill, the Appellate court ruled yesterday.

W. H. H. MILLER.

The only obstacle to his imprisonment is that officials have been unable for more than a year to find "Colonel" Miller, as he styled himself. He has not been seen for months at his home in Champaign, nor has he been in Springfield, where he made his home while he was a prominent cog in the Small machine.

Found Guilty in 1929.

The sentence, and a $2,000 fine, which the Appellate court upheld yesterday, was imposed by a jury which found Miller guilty on Dec. 10, 1929, before the late Judge Jacob M. Hopkins in the Criminal court. Miller and Mitchell Blaine, who later pleaded guilty and served his sentence, were convicted of conspiracy to sell medical and dental licenses to persons not qualified to practice.

The appeal court commented in its opinion yesterday on the fact that parts of the testimony against Miller had been omitted from the transcript of evidence submitted in the appeal by his attorney, Charles Daugherty. The opinion stated:

"The defendant failed to furnish a complete abstract of the evidence, and because of the failure to do so any doubt arising from the evidence must be resolved against him. Moreover, we regard the proof in the whole record and supplemental abstract which was filed by attorneys for the state to warrant the verdict."

Convicted Once Before.

Charges of diploma selling followed Miller throughout his term as state director of education and registration. He was convicted of a similar offense in 1923 and fined $1,000.

Miller at present is at liberty without bond. He failed to post a bond for his appeal, and officials overlooked the failure and neglected to commit him to jail pending its schedule. The last news of his whereabouts was his own statement that he was going to West Virginia "on business."

CONVICT AUTOIST WHO KILLED MAN.

Ionia, Mich., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Raymond E. Jones, 44, Grand Rapids newspaper solicitor, was found guilty of negligent homicide by a Circuit court jury today. On Christmas eve his automobile struck and fatally injured Royal A. Hamilton, 46, Otisco township farmer.

NEW STATE ROAD COMMISSION AT ITS HIGHWAY JOB

Names Three to Draft Finance Program.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Gov. Emmerson's road commission, appointed to draft a program for spending half a billion dollars of motorists' tax money in the next ten years, met this afternoon for the first time since its organization last month.

A ninety minute session, with much of the time devoted to discussion of the political consequence of road planning, ended in the appointment of a subcommittee to draft a policy of highway finance and construction for presentation to the commission in three weeks. Named on the subcommittee were Robert Kingery, general manager of the Chicago Regional Planning association; Senator Simon E. Lantz of Congerville, and Representative W. C. Chynoweth of Decatur.

Report to 1933 Assembly.

In the preparation of the draft the subcommittee will work with Director Cleaveland of the department of public works and State Highway Engineer Sheets. The report of the commission will be made to the 1933 general assembly.

State Engineer Sheets said he felt it was the duty of the commission to do more than merely map a schedule of construction for the next decade. He thought the commission should make a broad study of the highway problems and answer such pertinent questions as who should build through traffic facilities within municipalities and how the money for various types of construction should be obtained.

These Think of Primary.

Some of the legislator members of the commission expressed first concern with what effect public hearings might have on the April primaries and the autumn elections.

Other members of the commission are: Col. H. L. Kellogg, Chicago Association of Commerce; J. Paul Clayton, Illinois Chamber of Commerce; Senators H. M. Dunlap of Savoy, W. L. Finn of Iuka, Joseph L. Meyers of Sciota Mills, and Guy L. Smith of Pana, and Representatives Homer Tice of Greenview, C. D. Frank of Freeport, and Martin B. Lohmann of Pekin.

Two Policemen Dismissed by Civil Service Board

Two policemen were discharged from the service yesterday by the civil service commission. They are Patrolmen Fred C. Heller of the South State street station and Patrick Griffin of the Woodlawn station. Heller was accused of striking Michael Brown, 507 East 32d street, for no apparent cause. Griffin was charged with being intoxicated on Christmas eve when he shot his hostess, Mrs. Teresa Burkhart, 6224 Dorchester avenue, in the foot.

LOOP ALARM CALLS POLICE.

While money trucks were parked in front of the Chicago Bank of Commerce at 7 South Dearborn street yesterday, a clerk in the banking department accidentally stepped on an alarm button, bringing police squads to the building.

Use only Listerine to relieve SORE THROAT

IT IS safe { Heals tissue while it kills germs. Reduces mouth bacteria 98%.

When you want relief from sore throat, do not expect it from ordinary mouth washes. Weak ones accomplish nothing. Harsh ones may irritate the very delicate throat tissues, and thus allow germs easier entrance to the body.

Physicians and nurses, and at least 10,000,000 people, have found that full strength Listerine promptly relieves ordinary sore throat. One trial will convince you also. When you use Listerine, you know you are safe—that this great antiseptic actually heals tissue; no irritation whatsoever. You know also that it kills germs in the fastest time. That it reduces bacteria on the surface of the mouth 98%.

Listerine's success in arresting infection and its acceptance by the medical profession and public are based on these properties. They are the subject of comment by The Lancet of London, "the physician's bible."

Use Listerine not only as a treatment for colds and sore throat, but as an aid in preventing them. Note below the remarkable results achieved by Listerine, in this direction.

Only half as many colds

Several hundred people were divided into three groups and kept under medical supervision for periods ranging from 4 weeks to 4½ months, during the winter of 1930-31. One-third of them gargled with full strength Listerine twice a day. One-third gargled with it five times a day. One-third did not gargle with it at all.

Those who gargled with Listerine twice a day contracted only one-half to one-third as many colds as those who did not gargle at all. When Listerine users did develop colds, they were approximately one-fourth as severe and lasted only one-third as long. In q number of tests, even greater resistance was registered.

Those who gargled with Listerine five times a day showed still greater resistance but not in the direct ratio to the number of times used.

These results, amazing as they are, do not mean that Listerine should be used as a substitute for the family physician, who is always your best friend in time of illness. They do mean that the average person can reduce the risk of illness considerably by the systematic twice-a-day use of full strength Listerine. Begin now. See how your health improves.

6	The Tribune in 1931 carried 1,494,000 more lines of general advertising than any other Chicago newspaper.
7	The Tribune in 1931 carried 1,779,000 more lines of classified advertising than any other Chicago newspaper.

SEVEN FACTS that scrap bias, stop debate. Market-tested, time-tried evidence of the ability of the Chicago Tribune to produce for advertisers. If you spend a dollar for advertising in Chicago, you can't—and you won't—overlook them.

No matter what your product is, the Tribune is best able to help you sell it in the Chicago territory. More people in the city and suburbs step up to newsstands and buy the Tribune than buy any other newspaper. The Tribune has more home-delivered circulation than have all other Chicago newspapers combined.

In Chicago and suburbs the Tribune sells 150,000 more copies than any other Chicago newspaper. 32% more.

In the city's 25 better residential districts the Tribune reaches 57% more families than any other Chicago newspaper.

The facts are virtually the same in the suburbs. In these important communities the Tribune has 67% more circulation than any other Chicago paper.

In the entire Chicago territory there is no newspaper, no national magazine, which has the influence and the responsiveness which the Tribune commands for advertisers seeking to win sales in this key market.

Why? People don't have to read the Tribune. They don't always agree with its editorials. Often they disagree bitterly. But they read them. Read them as they read no others. And read the news with the same intensity, the same personal interest, because the Tribune reflects, fights for and is the Chicago territory. From its editorial platform down, the Tribune is vital, compelling, decisive.

What this means in terms of sales is seen in the lineage records of retail advertisers. These merchants know the Tribune produces better than any other Chicago newspaper. They placed 1,790,000 more lines in it in 1931 than in any other Chicago newspaper.

General advertisers in 1931 placed nearly a million and a half more lines of advertising in the Tribune than in any other Chicago newspaper.

Want ads are a perpetual referendum of the largest body of newspaper advertisers. Men and women, business heads and housewives, buyers of three- and five-line advertisements, placed a million and three-quarter more lines of want advertising in the Tribune than in any other Chicago paper.

These facts represent the convictions of the dealers whom you want to stock. Of the consumers whom you want to prefer your goods. The Tribune is their first newspaper—why not make it yours?

A Tribune representative will be glad to give you the facts in greater detail if you wish. Ask to have him call.

MASSIE VICTOR IN BATTLE FOR A SPEEDY TRIAL

Case Will Be Put Before Grand Jury Today.

BY CLIFFORD GESSLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Jan. 20.—A speedy trial for Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, and two enlisted men, E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, accused of the murder of Joseph Kahahawai, Hawaiian rape suspect, appeared likely today when defense attorneys filed a motion in Circuit court to dismiss the complaint in the police court because of the delay in presenting the case to the grand jury. The grand jury has met twice since the complaint was made.

The move, made to force the prosecution into the open, has apparently succeeded. Griffith Wight, deputy county attorney, immediately announced that the case will be presented to the grand jury at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow. A double indictment will be sought, he said, charging abduction and first degree murder.

Prosecution Stalls for Time.

The prosecution heretofore apparently has been waiting for the appointment of outside counsel or to take advantage of possible new legislation to provide for the appointment of a new prosecutor.

The defense claimed it is a violation of constitutional rights to deprive the four defendants of a speedy trial and to hold them without bail for nearly two weeks pending an indictment.

Meanwhile legislation for the reorganization of Hawaii's law enforcement departments to meet unusual crime conditions moved forward rapidly today. The house passed its final reading of the bill providing for an appointive chief of police. The senate plans to act on this bill by Friday.

Police to Be Barred from Politics.

An amendment will probably set the salary at $7,200 and will require the chief to be a resident of Hawaii five years. The bill, it is expected, will become effective as of Feb. 1 to allow time for reorganization. Another amendment provides for the removal of police commissioners who take part in politics.

Gov. Lawrence M. Judd today sent the legislature a bill eliminating the present legal provision requiring corroborative evidence to validate a complainant's testimony in a rape case. This provision has been criticised in Washington, although it is pointed out that some states have similar laws.

County Attorney James Gilliland, who has been under fire for his handling of the Massie rape case, admitted today that he had contributed $50 to the expenses of the funeral of Kahahawai, the slain rape suspect. He said he had done this to gain the confidence of Kahahawai's father, so as to obtain additional information for use in prosecuting the pending retrial of the four other defendants accused of the assault upon Mrs. Massie.

Hawaiians Angered by Kentucky.

HONOLULU, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Representative Harry T. Mills today introduced in the territorial house a concurrent resolution asking Kentucky, "which has worn the deserved appellation of 'dark and bloody ground' by reason of many murders, lynchings and outrages," to ascertain "the facts as they apply to Hawaii and the Hawaiian people."

The resolution was in answer to the action of the Kentucky legislature in adopting a resolution proposing presidential interference in the Hawaiian situation and advocating martial law here in case other measures were deemed insufficient.

A motion to table Mills' resolution was defeated and over his objection it was referred to the house judiciary committee where Mills protested it would be "embalmed."

Sarcastically advising his colleagues not to be too hard on their critics, youthful Senator James K. Jarrett commented: "Some of the most ignorant people in the country come from Kentucky."

NEW GOVERNOR

JAMES R. BEVERLY.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—James R. Beverly of Texas was appointed today by President Hoover to be governor of Porto Rico. Beverly now is attorney general of the island and will succeed Gov. Roosevelt, who has been promoted to the governor generalship of the Philippines.

100,000 INDIANS TO DEFY WRATH OF BRITAIN TODAY

BOMBAY, Jan. 20.—(AP)—A hundred thousand persons are expected to assemble illegally tomorrow to voice their protests at the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi and Great Britain's stifling of the civil disobedience movement.

The merchants' organization, representing markets and exchanges that have been closed for 16 days in sympathy with the Nationalist congress, called a massmeeting which, if held, will violate the repressive ordinances forbidding gatherings of more than five persons.

The effect the boycott against British goods is having on commerce was revealed today in statistics. Japan is rapidly displacing England in exporting cloth to this country, having shipped nearly 15,000,000 yards in one month, as compared with less than 3,000,000 yards by her rival.

Two 16 year old co-eds from the University of Bengal went on trial before a special tribunal in Calcutta for the fatal shooting of Magistrate C. G. B. Stevens a month ago. Both pleaded not guilty and contended their confessions were wrung by threats.

A British police sergeant was stabbed in the head in Dacca by an unidentified man who stole his revolver and fled.

Sen Gupta, former mayor of Calcutta and a prominent Nationalist, joined Gandhi in prison at Poona after being arrested as he stepped off an Italian ship. A specific charge was not lodged against him, but it was taken for granted he was being jailed because of his membership in the congress.

The Rev. H. V. H. Elwin, a young English missionary, accused British authorities in the northwest frontier provinces of oppression, cruelty, and "things that ought to make an Englishman ashamed."

"For their Nationalist activities," he charged, "whole villages are raided by columns of troops in the dead of night. The dwellers are beaten and stripped of their clothing, which is burned. The local Nationalist headquarters are then burned to the ground."

MAINE FOR HOOVER AND ROOSEVELT AS RIVAL CANDIDATES

Portland, Me., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Delegations favorable to President Hoover and to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York will be sent by Maine to the Republican and Democratic national conventions, if forecasts made today by the national committeemen from Maine hold good.

Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Lewiston, Democratic national committeeman, sees "a fair chance to carry the state," while Joseph W. Simpson, of New York Harbor, Republican committeeman, looks "for the usual party majority."

The vote in 1924 was Coolidge 138,440, Davis 41,964, LaFollette 11,833, and in 1928 it increased to Hoover 179,923, Smith 81,179.

"Although the Maine delegation will not be pledged to any candidate," Simpson said, "it will undoubtedly support the Hoover-Curtis ticket."

"At the present time the Maine leaders are undoubtedly favorable to Gov. Roosevelt," McGillicuddy said. "Our chances are better than for many years."

SPAIN HALTS BAN ON JESUITS; EYES STRIKE IN GALICIA

MADRID, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Catholic circles said tonight that official publication of a decree dissolving the Jesuit order in Spain has been postponed by the government because of a syndicalist strike in Galicia and a fear of possible disturbances.

The same sources said President Alcala Zamora had asked Premier Manuel Azana to return the decree for further study.

Prominent Catholics said the cabinet is thinking of reconsidering the matter on Friday, although the decree expelling the order might be published before then. There was neither official confirmation nor denial of the reports.

"The government will speak at the propitious moment," said Premier Azana.

The government weathered threats of a crisis growing out of an interpellation in congress on recent disturbances between Catholics and anti-Catholics at Bilbao and other places in Spain. The powerful Socialist and radical Republican blocs refused to join in the discussion and it never reached a vote of confidence.

The Spanish national assembly has formally approved the final article of a measure to secularize all cemeteries. It provides that no burial services of a religious character may be held unless it is requested in the deceased's will. Parents are given authority to decide what services shall be held for minors. The proposal has still to be ratified as a whole.

MOST SEAMEN ON 1931 U. S. SHIPS U. S. CITIZENS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Almost two-thirds of the seamen who sailed on American flag ships during 1931 were American citizens. The commerce department reported today there were 260,986 seamen shipped during 1931, as compared with 288,496 in 1930. Of them, 167,884 were Americans, as compared with 181,111. American ships handled 34.8 per cent of the United States foreign water borne commerce. They carried 33.8 per cent in 1930.

Loop Cafe Oven Explodes; Baker Is Seriously Burned

Max Kurlader, 1314 North Western avenue, a baker, was severely cut and burned yesterday when a gas oven exploded on the second floor of the Schwartz restaurant, 109 North Dearborn street. The explosion blew a large plate glass window into the street, and splinters of glass narrowly missed a number of pedestrians on the sidewalk below. The blast came when Kurlader lighted the burners of the oven, one of which apparently had been left open during the night.

CANADA PREPARES FOR ANNEXATION.

The governments of the United States and Canada are clearing the ground for a treaty fixing the terms on which the St. Lawrence power plants and seaway are to be built. Mayor Hoan of Milwaukee says he will acknowledge himself a fool and an ass if the state department is not considering incorporating in the treaty a provision limiting the water diversion at Chicago. Mayor Hoan says the Canadians are insisting that the flow at Chicago be limited by treaty to the amounts specified in the Supreme court's decree in the diversion case.

Col. Isham Randolph, president of the Mississippi Valley association, has returned from an interview with Secretary Stimson in Washington with the assurance of the secretary that no treaty has been drafted and therefore the amount of the diversion can hardly have been incorporated in any treaty. On that showing it is of course possible that both Mr. Hoan and Col. Randolph are right as far as they go. Perhaps no treaty has been drafted, but the outlines of a treaty may have been agreed upon. Perhaps the outline includes a provision such as Mayor Hoan says the Canadians are insisting upon.

If so the consequences are likely to be far-reaching. Lake Michigan lies wholly within the United States. In previous treaties the United States has taken the position that the uses to which the water of Lake Michigan is put are purely a matter of domestic concern. Canada is no more concerned with Lake Michigan than she is with the Great Salt lake. Now, in Mayor Hoan's opinion, that principle has been dropped and Canada is to have a determining voice in the settlement of an American question.

That would be the first step toward annexation. If the frontier is not to divide the jurisdictions of the two governments at one point it will not divide the jurisdictions at others. If Ottawa can legislate for the United States at Chicago, Washington can legislate for Canada at Montreal. As the United States has at least twelve times Canada's population and vastly greater wealth and power, the virtual annexation of Canada may be regarded as a foregone conclusion, though the fiction of separation may outlive the fact of annexation. If Mayor Hoan's information is correct, the Canadian government is resolved to destroy the frontier for all practical purposes. Canadian affairs will be handled from Washington by means of treaties.

OPPOSITION TO JUDGE WILKERSON.

Opposition to the elevation of Judge Wilkerson to the Circuit Court of Appeals on the ostensible grounds that he is inimical to organized labor is hospitably received by senate radicals. The charge of bias is based upon the fact that Judge Wilkerson did what he considered his judicial duty under the law in issuing an injunction in a labor dispute ten years ago, but a failure to ratify this well deserved appointment would have little to do with any such issue. It would be a notable victory for organized criminality, which found in Judge Wilkerson one of the most formidable foes in its experience. There will be great rejoicing in the world of crime and corrupt politics if the senate's self-styled progressives block Judge Wilkerson's promotion, and no amount of talk on a stale issue will excuse the fact that these senators in doing so have given aid and comfort to that notorious alliance. The service of Judge Wilkerson was the product of courage and high character and should be conspicuously recognized by the senate.

WINTER SPORTS IN CALIFORNIA.

Transcontinental roads are putting on extra Pullmans to satisfy the requirements of an encouraging pickup in business from and to the coast. The residents of Los Angeles and other parts of southern California are coming to Chicago to find spring in winter. The year round climate has shifted its base from the Pacific to the lakes and Californians who are in truth devoted to it are following it, to the blossoming thorn and the singing lark. The region hereabouts is a verdant bower, sun kissed by day and under a soft and glamorous moon by night. Hepatica and early violets cover the sunny banks. Lake bathing and golf offer recreations. The ball teams will begin their training season here. The parks give unrivaled opportunities for healthful sports.

All that need be said for this shift in weather conditions is that the climate showed excellent good sense. Climate should not be the only qualification a people can submit for critical judgment. That burden is too weighty. Any climate could resent it, being willing to do its share but not being agreeable to carrying the whole load. A people should have other virtues, attributes more intimate to their own endeavor.

There is, however, a compensation for California. Chicagoans fond of winter sports are traveling to the coast to find them. It must be confessed that they are missed here. We must import snow for ski meets and skating tournaments simply have been up against it. With the best intentions on the part of the management the ice remains merely water and, although the children may sail their boats on the skating ponds and wade their margins, the only way ice can be had is by growing it indoors. California in return for the soft and sun kissed opportunities of this region will give winter sports, skating, bob sledding, sleighing, and skiing. This makes travel both ways and may be regarded as a happy arrangement for the times.

THE PATRIOTIC APPEAL.

Mr. Mellon of the treasury department in a statement to the house ways and means committee asked for sacrifices from the people to supply their government with adequate revenue, and Ogden L. Mills, who was the spokesman of the department, said that the courageous thing to do was to stop borrowing, balance the budget and live within income. Government bonds, he said, had depreciated eighteen points in three months because of the general fear that the United States was about to increase its national debt.

The tax collector's appeal to patriotism has an absolute prerequisite. It is the assurance that the citizen is to respond to a government which has done the last thing possible to protect him. When he looks at the daily treasury department report he sees that, although there is a decrease in national income to date of $616,000,000, there is an increase in outgo over income of $1,280,000,000. With income showing more than a half billion less to spend, the disbursement statement shows that more than a half billion more, net, was spent. The government has countered its vanishing revenue with increasing costs.

The citizen who has his tax schedule and is waiting for congress to fix the rates reads of the fantastic expenditures of the government bureaus. Investigator after investigator gives him facts showing how government activities begin, penetrate, spread out, hoist their costs, multiply their inanities and increase their appropriations. He has Boulder dam in mind, along with the farm board, the wheat and cotton speculations, the proposals for new ventures, new boards, new appropriations.

He does not see evidences of contrition and confession of error. He does not see any evident willingness to decentralize government and reduce the ambitions and the activities of the federal machine. On the contrary, it apparently seeks more and more to take over duties and powers of the states and to restrict rights and privileges of the people. Every excursion outside the proper federal domain takes more than money from the citizen. It not only creates a wasteful government for him to support but one obnoxious to him.

The appeal to patriotism needs a sober, a lean and trustworthy government to make it. If the people are to take a hitch in their belts when they are already in the last buckle hole the cause for which they do this must be on the square. The United States can rely upon the patriotism of its people. Politicians who misuse authority and privilege have no claim to loyalty. They have abused it already so much that the condition of the country is their scandal.

The government must come clean if the citizens are to be cleaned.

NO MORE MORTICIANS.

The news department of late has taken up the word "mortician." They use it instead of undertaker. It appears that undertakers do not like to be called undertakers. They feel that the less thoughtful elements in the population regard an undertaker as something not especially nice. The undertakers some time ago observed that the physician may and often does step from the sickroom into his superb town car to be rolled off to the charity ball, there to dance with the fairest debutantes until he is paged. If the undertaker is not as well regarded it is surely an injustice, for the undertaker depends for his professional advancement upon the physician's failures. And this injustice is rendered the more glaring in view of the fact that, unlike the physician, the undertaker in all the history of the art has never made a fatal error.

Pondering these paradoxes, the undertakers concluded that if only their profession were renamed to sound like physician they would win what might be called their rightful place in the sun. It is entirely possible to sympathize with their objective without in any sense approving their choice of words. Unfortunately, mortician is a dreadful word, to use dreadful, for once, in its true meaning. The worst that can be said for undertaker is that it suggests the washing of the dead for profit, a thoroughly honorable procedure. Beneath an undertaker's Prince Albert a warm heart beats. But mortician is a ghoul among words. It suggests nameless obscenities. It connotes none of the dignity of death and all the coldness of the grave. It is astonishing that any group of men would deliberately coin so horrid a word to apply to themselves. It is as if dealers in cutlery were to insist on being called knifers.

The word mortician has appeared in THE TRIBUNE for the last time. This decree goes forth not for lack of sympathy with the ambition of undertakers to be well regarded but because of it. If they haven't the sense to save themselves from their own lexicographers, we shall not be guilty of abetting them in their folly.

Editorial of the Day

CHICAGO WINS AGAIN.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

Chicago's claim to the title of leading convention city is confirmed again in the action taken by the Democratic national committee on Saturday. This year both major party conventions will meet there, the Republican on June 14 and the Democratic on June 27.

Since in a presidential election the burden of attack is upon the "outs," it had been suggested that the Democrats should this year hold their convention before the Republicans. The idea was to "get the jump on" their opponents with declarations of party policy, and particularly on prohibition. But Mr. Raskob has now dropped his insistence on a straight-out declaration for repeal in the Democratic platform and is content to pass the question on to the convention, with the hope that it will indorse his plan for a national referendum. Throughout the meeting on Saturday, indeed, he displayed a conciliatory attitude toward the drys among his fellow committeemen, in strong contrast to his stand at the party gathering last spring. On the surface, harmony ruled. The rifts and discords will come when the presidential candidacies clash at Chicago.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

GOV. LAFFOON SAYS KENTUCKY will be forced to close down its schools, four state colleges, courts, and prisons unless the legislature meets the most serious financial crisis the state has faced in 140 years. Which hit us in the face like a bucket of ice water. This condition may spread from Kentucky to other states. That means the poorhouses will close down. And we always thought that at least we could go to the poorhouse.

GOSH! WILL THE USES you can put those things to never end? We were having an awful battle with our last year's city automobile license, trying to get the pesky thing off the windshield so we could put on the new license. We soaked that sticker with water. No use. The color and printing seemed to have sunk right into the glass. We had a small section of old cathedral stained glass on that windshield. But we didn't appreciate it. The law said we had to put the new sticker license on. Next we tried alcohol (stand back, dry sleuths; it was wood alcohol), but that didn't do any good. Then we put on kerosene. Nothing doing. Bay rum. No use. Our friend the policeman on our corner came over and watched us toil. "Wait a minute," sezze, "I'll get that thing right off." He disappeared a few minutes and came back with something we had forgotten all about, a used razor blade. The policeman scratched busily away at the old license sticker with the used safety razor blade. That sticker surrendered. It fairly jumped off the windshield. So cease that idle chatter of what to do with old razor blades. Scrape off your old city licenses with 'em, that's what.

THE WANTON'S LUTE.

WILL O' THE WISP.

Some hearts are like the leaves of aspen trees
That lilt and quiver to each passing breeze—
Wanton hearts, that wanton loves must ease.

Some hearts are great and still like massive stone;
Stir to some mighty passion—once alone;
And break with their own weight, when it is gone.

Some hearts must wander; linger here and there
For musk and honey; stealing unaware
The bloom of some rare flower—fragrant, fair.

O, free my flaming wings—you cannot know,
Nor I—why I must wander. It is so.
You cannot hold me. I must go—must go!

MABEL GREGG.

THE MEAN TEMPERATURE in this town of Chicago yesterday, the twentieth day of January, was 34. And why, whys Laura, is it called the mean temperature? It is called the mean temperature, dearie, by Loz Onglaize and the rest of California, who are biting their finger nails and tearing out their front hair because their delectable climate has slipped away from them and landed plump in the middle of the Boul Mich. (Loz Onglaize and southern California papers please copy.)

WE AMERICANS do love our bromides and old saws. One you hear a great deal in these days of the w. k. depression is, "Oh, well, it won't make any difference a hundred years from now." That thought seems to give a consolation to a great many. Personally we don't give a whoop about what happens a hundred years from now. We gather from what we have seen and read that what happens a hundred years from now won't interest us in the least. But we are most thoroughly intrigued in what happens today, tomorrow, this week, next week, and next month. Beyond that we are interested, but not at all excited. But if a phrase gives anybody any comfort or lightens his woes we have no quarrel with it. But for us the venerable bromide "It'll make no difference a hundred years from now" is in the same class with another dear old saw, "Anyhow, this will be a lesson to me for the rest of my life." That usually is about as effective as it was in the case of a colored man who was hanged down south somewhere for murder. "Have you anything to say before you die?" asked the sheriff, putting his hand on the cord that would release the drop under the feet of the condemned man. "Yes," said the man, "I've learned a lesson that I will remember all my life." And the sheriff pulled the cord.

BANDITS are busily employed these days in tying up people with clothes lines. If there were no clothes lines people could not be tied up with them. Therefore, clothes lines are a great evil and a terrible menace to the peace, security, and well being of the people of this country and should be prohibited. Let us then, friends, unite to end this terrible condition of affairs. Let us petition our lawmakers to pass an amendment to the constitution immediately forbidding all clothes lines within the territorial limits of our great and glorious commonwealth. Then nobody else can be tied up by bandits with clothes lines. Write to your congressman today!

TIED HORSE.

Pegasus was lassoed with difficulty and tied firmly to a padded stake in a green pasture.
Now his eye is wild
and his great wings spread and eager.
When his keeper tells him to eat the good green grass
Pegasus snorts and paws the ground.

He confided to me the other day that he would rather chew star corners and drink Elysian winds by night than nibble good grass and sip water from the brook.

Hey!
Untie your horse!

ARMY OFFICERS AND LONGEVITY.

ARMY officers live longer than other people and that is not because they stay so far behind the line in battles, as the jokesmiths try to make us believe. The reason is that they live more sensibly than you and I do.

To begin with, they pass a very severe entrance examination. This throws out the culls and passes in only sound specimens. It is true that some culls have lived to a ripe old age, but according to the law of averages that is not to be expected and when it does happen the fact becomes a news story. It is the unexpected that makes a story into news. But the effects of careful selection do not influence statistics for more than five years, as a rule, and an influence extending ten years is not expected.

Officers enter the army soon after age 21, and by age 30 the influence of the selective entrance examination has been lost. Since age 20 to 30 is a very healthy period for men nothing can make a very great improvement.

Drs. L. J. Reed and A. G. Love find that army officers have better health, have lower death rates, live longer, and retain their efficiency for a longer time than civilians. These are the conclusions of a study of army statistics running over a great many years. Some part of the superiority is the result of the carefully conducted entrance examinations, as has been stated. Much of it is an indirect result of periodic physical examinations.

Officers know they are expected to be fit, and if they are not they are likely to be retired on part pay. They know, furthermore, that they are to be examined periodically and important shortcomings will cause a board to be convened. Therefore they are more careful about eating and they obey the prohibition law, at least they obey better than the general run of people.

They take more exercise and look more to the condition of their muscles and joints. It is safe to say they creak less than the average man or woman of the same age.

Drs. Reed and Love were able to form an opinion of the effects of major athletics in early life upon health and organic soundness in the years of maturity. They did not find proof that major athletics caused permanent harm. It was their opinion that, on the average, becoming clinically tubercular or developing organic heart, kidney, and blood vessel disease reduced by one-half the expectation of life. On the contrary, they tell the readers of the Military Surgeon that nervous and mental diseases and disorders do not reduce this expectation.

SNEEZING.

J. T. S. writes:

1. What causes one to sneeze?
2. Does one sneeze when taking fresh cold, or is the cold being thrown off?

REPLY.

1. Sneezing is a reflex act the basic purpose of which is to remove from the nose lining substances that irritate it. The more immediate causes are many. Among them are breathing irritating substances such as pollens, bacteria, dust, chemicals; congestion of the membranes of the nose; in some, the urge to evacuate the bowels, when a certain area in the ear canal is pressed, as a result of exposure to light or cold.

2. The sneezing that is a symptom of taking cold is usually a result of congestion of the membranes. The symptom appears as the cold develops and follows the infection and the exposure by several hours, or even a day, as a rule.

HAIR DYE USER.

A. H. M. writes: Does the trademark, registered in the U. S. patent office, and printed on cartons containing bottled hair dye insure against the dye containing poisonous ingredients that would be injurious to the human system if used as prescribed, with a small brush?

REPLY.

It does not. The registration of a trademark is for the purpose of protecting the owner against infringement on his property rights. It serves no other purpose. I know of no law the purpose of which is to protect the consumer of hair dyes.

THERE IS NO REASON.

Mrs. J. N. writes:

1. What qualities have lamb that make it superior to beef and veal?
2. Why is the former given preference in a diet for kidney stones?

REPLY.

1. None.
2. Who gives it preference? There is no reason for doing so.

DEPENDS UPON RESIDENCE.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If a married man having no children living in Chicago should die without making a will, what would become of property he owns in Indiana? Would his wife receive all, or could his relatives come in for two-thirds share? H. M.

Personal property would be distributed in accordance with the law of the state in which he resides at the time of his death. If the Indiana property is real estate the distribution would depend in part on the size of the estate and on facts that are not before us. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

UNPAID TAXES.

Hobart, Ind., Jan. 7.—[Legal Friend of of People.]—Would appreciate information regarding the sale of property for delinquent taxes. 1. After tax deed is issued, is the buyer responsible for mortgages against the property? 2. Has the owner of first mortgage any protection after property is sold for taxes? A. J. H.

1. In jurisdictions in which the tax deed defeats the fee title, it could also defeat the mortgage, if that is what you mean to ask.

2. It is advisable for him to redeem from the tax sale during the two years that are allowed for redemption.

Yes, it is unlawful.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

This nation has had other serious financial depressions, as the following excerpts from The Tribune files reveal. Each of these periods of hard times has been followed by periods of great prosperity.

New York, Nov. 1.—Deep gloom and loss of confidence which in Wall street is invariably the forerunner of a great disaster fell today like an enormous chilling pall over the street. This was due to the already long and rapidly increasing number of failures, including some of the most prominent and, it was believed, the soundest money corporations in the country. Nearly every stock dropped from the opening to the close of the market.

Philadelphia, Oct. 14.—Bruner's Cotton and Woolen mills in the northwestern part of the city, which have been in operation for twenty years, have seen much excitement these last few days. Of the 900 hands employed in the mills not a soul has received wages for the last five weeks.

New York, Oct. 4.—No feature except dullness is manifest in the stock market. Quotations fluctuate hardly at all. Everybody seems to be waiting for action at Washington on the silver repeal. Railway earnings continue discouraging. Nearly every report shows a decrease. It begins to look as if many important corporations would not be bothered by dividend requirements during the coming year.

1907.

New York, Oct. 13.—The New York bank statement yesterday made a poor exhibit, although there was an increase in the excess reserve. The gain in this item was due to a loss of over $10,000,000 in deposits.

1913.

Kenosha, Wis., Dec. 3.—With a view of making unemployment caused by unsettled business conditions a blessing in disguise Kenosha has opened a school for the unemployed where many are studying the common branches—reading, writing, and arithmetic.

1921.

New York, March 3.—Receivers for Imbrie & Co., members of the stock exchange, were appointed by Judge Manton in the United States District court.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 21, 1916.

CHIHUAHUA CITY.—Gen. Luis Herrera, in supreme command of the Chihuahua troops here, flatly denied the truth of the report of the capture of Gen. Villa at the San Geronimo ranch. All is quiet in Chihuahua City. Gen. Trevino and his staff left for the south. An earlier report from Mexican Consul Andres Garcia stated that Villa had been captured by Maximiano Marquez, who recently captured Gen. José Rodriguez, one of Villa's generals.

PARIS.—The seizure throughout France of all copies of the Petit Parisien and the Journal by order of the censor's bureau has raised a storm of protest in the entire press. The Parisien belongs to Senator Jean Dupuy and the Journal to Senator Charles Humbert. They have circulations of over a million copies each. The reason for the seizure, the Journal says, was the publication of the note given out by the consul of Montenegro in Paris. Its publication at first was authorized, but later was ordered stopped.

LONDON.—The Times prints prominently the blockade proclamation issued by Abraham Lincoln, and makes it the text of an editorial leader urging a blockade on Germany. "Lincoln announced that a competent force would be posted to enforce the blockade," the Times says, "although he had no such force. We made no formal protest. We were anxious for the friendship of the American people, so we allowed them plenty of time for the process . . . Even if the effectiveness of our blockade were at first open to question, we might reasonably expect from America that favorable interpretation of a strict law which we freely allowed her."

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 21, 1902.

PANAMA. — Three revolutionary gunboats sailed into the harbor of Panama before daybreak and, taking the government ships by surprise, opened a vigorous fire at close range. The government ships replied at once, and in the battle the government steamer Lautaro was sunk after many on board had been killed. Gen. Carlos Alban, governor of Panama and leader of the government forces, was on the Lautaro and was killed. The arrival of a third government warship compelled the insurgents to retire. The United States cruiser Philadelphia was in the harbor and witnessed the engagement.

CHICAGO.—The city council, by a vote of 43 to 23, went on record in favor of granting an increase of pay to policemen. That the mayor will veto the ordinance is entirely certain, and it is not believed there can be found votes enough to pass it over his veto.

CHICAGO. — A new president of Northwestern university may be chosen by the trustees this afternoon. The man who is thought most likely to be invited to take the post is Prof. Edmund J. James of the University of Chicago.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—From all appearances the Board of Trade man who spent his money among the Pottawatomie Indians near Dowagiac, Mich., will have a cargo of gold bricks on his hands. "All lands along the lake front claimed by the Pottawantomies have been ceded to the United States," said Indian Commissioner Jones. "Those Indians have absolutely no claim whatever to the land. This question has been repeatedly decided by the courts."

THE DOCENT AT THE ART INSTITUTE.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—In THE TRIBUNE of Jan. 16 appeared an article by Mr. Oscar Hewitt on the subject of Chicago's one docent at the Art institute. Among some questionable opinions Mr. Hewitt sandwiched in the statement: "It has been the practice of the school board to haul its public school pupils in buses to the Art institute." This statement is untrue.

During the entire ten years of the docent's work the school board has never paid a cent for buses for this purpose; neither has it paid the pupils' carfare.

So important was the docent's instruction considered that in 1929 Mr. Eames MacVeagh, out of his private funds, provided the money for buses to convey the children to the Art institute. The results of this generous gift were so successful that the board was asked to include an item of $1,200 in its 1932 budget to keep the buses already being used by it for other purposes in commission a few more hours each day, so that more of our public school children might have an opportunity to visit our splendid art museum under competent instruction and guidance. The board did not grant this request.

The Art institute tours show the children such masterpieces of art as will help them in their own art problems at school and in their cultural needs, and the docent's instruction also correlates with the children's study in history, geography, literature, etc.

Unsolicited by the docent, interested bystanders frequently follow her grammar school classes about on their tours through the art museum. As a result of the tours literally thousands of letters of appreciation for this art service are received by Chicago's docent from pupils rich and poor and teachers and principals. From time to time similar expressions have appeared publicly in the pages of THE TRIBUNE.

Mr. Hewitt is so naïvely misinformed that he is almost convincing. I don't believe that the trustees were ever told that "the docent is employed . . . to act as guide and instructor to art students sent to the Art institute," because she takes them all under her wing, whether art students or just plain pupils. There are no art students as such in the grammar schools. Neither do I believe (as Mr. Hewitt states in his next to last paragraph) that Supt. Bogan "recommended the elimination of the docent and of the Art institute buses as one means of economy," because there have been no buses in use for the Art institute. Mr. Hewitt places the public school trustees in such an awkward position, too. After ten long years of approval for and payment of their docent they suddenly find themselves prodded out of their lethargy and, according to Mr. Hewitt, declare her work a "frill."

Maybe it is; but the school children by thousands have earned the money themselves—many have paid for their less fortunate classmates—to go to the Art institute to hear her instruction on the treasures there. JAMES PETRIE.

IF WE GET THE ISLANDS.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—If some of your correspondents and some of our misinformed congressmen keep up their propaganda old John Bull soon will play the biggest joke in the world's history on his unsuspecting Uncle Sam. He'll give us his West India islands in payment of the war debt. When he does that our gates must be open to our new citizens, the Jamaican and Barbadian Negroes, all of whom are now barred by the quota law.

The West Indian Negroes, coddled for years by the great colonizers, are very loyal British citizens, and thoroughly despise the United States, much as they would like to live here. Marcus Garvey was a good example of the West Indian. The sorriest day we ever will know is the day when John Bull hands over the islands to us. J. R. R.

DEFINITIONS.

Bloomfield, N. J., Jan. 11.—In anticipation of the rumpus which is about to resume on the liquor question, isn't it a fitting time to begin to be more careful of the terms used to characterize those holding the various beliefs? We have become accustomed to the three classifications dry, moist, and wet. But most of the moists and wets believe that the adoption of their solutions would result in conditions drier than the present dry conditions; this presents a three-handed competition in dryness which is utterly ludicrous to those who appreciate the capabilities of the English language to express definite thought.

In order to correct this looseness of speech we recommend the following definitions:

1. Dry—One who believes that prohibition is the best solution to the liquor problem.
2. Wet—One who would return to the 1919 status.
3. Modificationist—One who would modify the Volstead law to permit alcoholic beverages nonintoxicating in fact.
4. State controllist—One who favors state license and control of all liquors, necessitating a constitutional amendment.
5. Federal controllist—One who favors federal license and control of all liquors, possible under the 18th amendment.

If we must generalize, let us have prohibitionist and nonprohibitionist.

A MEMORIAL.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—The writer would urge upon the city council the changing to Rosenwald avenue of either Western avenue or Stony Island avenue as a fitting memorial to that great man. Stony Island avenue particularly would be appropriate as Rosenwald avenue inasmuch as one stretch of it is within sight of the Museum of Industrial Arts.

ARTHUR ROSENBLITH.

WHERE DOCTORS DISAGREE.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 12.—Evidently THE TRIBUNE anti-prohibition editor gives more credence to testimony given at a distance than to that printed in the columns of THE TRIBUNE adjacent to the editorial column. According to the editor the Volstead law is vicious because Prof. Henderson says a drinker is not intoxicated unless his blood has become contaminated with 60 to 80 cubic centimeters of absolute alcohol in an hour. Will the editor please harmonize that statement with the assertion of Dr. Evans that a man is drunk when he takes the first drink of intoxicating liquor? This assertion was made, if not in exactly these words at least in meaning, in Dr. Evans' column.

Furthermore, the following is taken verbatim from a book edited by Dr. Julius Stieglitz of the University of Chicago:

"The influence of alcohol on industrial poisoning is not so great as is generally supposed. Nevertheless it is of some importance, especially in connection with certain poisons. Those which act on the central nervous system are, of course, helped in their action by alcohol, which is also a poison to the central nervous system." The word intoxicating means poisoning and that term was applied to alcoholic drinks long before the passage of the Volstead law. Alcohol, not the law, is vicious. E. M. JANOSKY.

TORTURE.

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 10.—When will radio listeners be relieved of the morons known as "torch singers"? Torture singers would be a much better name for these silly, sobbing creatures of the air. There is one on almost every program. A few have fairly decent voices and we could enjoy some of the popular songs if they would stop their whining and say loving instead of lovin', waiting instead of waitin', etc. P. K. S.

READY FOR START OF TESTIMONY IN RUTH JUDD TRIAL

Trunk Slayer's Defense Likely Insanity.

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Presentation of the evidence through which the state of Arizona expects to convict Winnie Ruth Judd of the "trunk murder" of her friend, Agnes Anne Leroi, will be begun before the jury early tomorrow morning.

Lloyd J. Andrews, county attorney, announced tonight he will use 34 witnesses to present the state's case. This was a sharp surprise to the defense, since he had issued subpœnas for nearly 80 persons.

Twenty-nine veniremen, from among whom the jury will be selected, were approved late this afternoon. A separate group of four was approved to provide the 13th and alternate juror. They were dismissed to go to their homes.

Final Jury Selection.

Early tomorrow morning the state will present seven and the defense 10 peremptory challenges for the main jury, and the state one and the defense two for the alternates, as provided by Arizona law.

Fifteen minutes after court opens Andrews expects to have on the witness stand Detective Lieutenant Joseph Ryan of Los Angeles, who will recount to the jury how he opened two trunks last Oct. 19 to disclose the bodies of Mrs. Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson, the latter dismembered.

The women had been Mrs. Judd's closest friends. She has admitted she shot them to death and shipped their bodies to Los Angeles as baggage.

While the charge of murdering Miss Samuelson is held in abeyance the defense expects to free Mrs. Judd from the charge she now faces through pleas of self-defense or emotional insanity at the time of the dual slaying in a Phoenix duplex apartment.

There was also the possibility, revealed today through questioning of a prospective juror, that the defense will attempt to insinuate an accomplice.

Questioning Ruled Out.

The state instantly objected to the question and was sustained by the court. Although it went unanswered, the mere asking served to put into the record one more of the many rumors which have been current since the dual slaying on Oct. 16.

The defens also indicated in questioning other jurors that J. J. Halloran, wealthy lumberman who was a friend of the three women, was likely to be called as a witness. This caused more than a passing ripple of excitement, since by virtue of having called at the home of the slain women and later been guest at a party in Mrs. Judd's apartment on the night before the dual killing, Halloran has become the most prominent person identified with the case, even though his place in the picture of tragedy is not clear.

As the time approached for hearing an unemotional recounting of her activities, Mrs. Judd today became extremely nervous, though she retained the "poker face" which makes her unusual among women murder charge defendants.

She picked a handkerchief to pieces this morning and spent the rest of the day twining and untwisting her fingers and ceaselessly shuffling her feet.

Candy Store Owner Fined for Rum Sales to Pupils

Joseph Padecki, 41 years old, owner of a candy store at 1458 South Ashland avenue, was fined $50 and placed on probation for one year by Judge George B. Holmes in the Fillmore street court yesterday on a charge of selling liquor to school children. Social service workers made the complaint and a five gallon can of liquor was found in his store. Padecki was granted probation when he pleaded that he was the father of six children.

CHARLES G. BRIGGLE APPROVED BY SENATE AS A FEDERAL JUDGE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The senate today confirmed the appointment of Judge Charles G. Briggle, Springfield, Ill., as United States district judge to occupy the new seat in the southern district of Illinois.

Judge Briggle, whose nomination for elevation to the District court was sent to the senate by President Hoover about ten days ago, is now on the bench of the Illinois Circuit court.

Judge Briggle's nomination for the post was indorsed by Justice Norman L. Jones of the Illinois Supreme court, C. J. Doyle, chairman of the Republican state central committee of Illinois; L. O. Vaught of Jacksonville, Fla., and E. J. Brundage, Chicago attorney.

PROBE KIDNAPING OF UNION CHIEF; $50,000 RANSOM

The police last night started an investigation of the kidnaping on Dec. 21 of Robert G. Fitchie, president of the milk wagon drivers' union and former president of the Illinois state federation of labor. According to his wife, Mrs. Ida Belle Fitchie, 642 North Lotus avenue, members of the union paid a ransom of $50,000 to obtain the union leader's release after he had been tortured for two days.

In view of the refusal of union members to coöperate with the police and of the fact that the kidnaping was not officially reported, the police held little hope that the extortionists would ever be apprehended.

According to Mrs. Fitchie, ransom notes were written to Steve Sumner and Ray Bryant, union officials, who then obtained the $50,000 and complied with the kidnapers' demands. Fitchie was returned to his home and since that time has been in Florida. Both Sumner and Bryant last night were reported to be out of the city. Friends of the family said the kidnaping was not reported to police for fear of reprisals by the kidnapers.

GEN. MACARTHUR ASKS BIG ARMY IF NAVY IS CUT

Wants One Branch of U.S. Defense Up to Date.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff of the United States army, was quoted before the house naval affairs committee today as stating he was prepared to appear before appropriate congressional committees in behalf of a larger army in event steps are not taken this winter to increase the navy's warship building program.

DOUGLAS MAC ARTHUR.

Representative Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.], who introduced the general's name at the hearing on the 616 million dollar Vinson warship bill, quoted Gen. MacArthur as stating he felt one branch of American national defense should be kept up to date and in condition to defend American interests at a moment's notice.

Immediately following the hearing, Mr. Britten said he had requested Chairman Carl A. Vinson [Dem., Ga.] to ask Gen. MacArthur to appear before the committee and offer him an opportunity to amplify his remarks. Committee action on the Vinson bill was postponed until next week to give President Hoover additional time in which to notify the committee as to whether or not the measure is in conflict with his financial program. It is not considered likely he will approve the bill in its present form.

STIMSON DEFIES, JOHNSON FUMES OVER OIL LETTER

Secretary Demands Secret Hearing.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—"Absurd" and "ridiculous" were the adjectives tossed at the secretary of state by Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.] today as Secretary Stimson definitely refused to let the senate finance committee see official correspondence relating to the Barco oil concession in Colombia unless it did so in executive session.

H. L. STIMSON. [Acme Photo.]

The secretary's refusal was expressed in two letters and a telephone call. The final letter was written in answer to the committee's unanimous adoption of a resolution by Senator Couzens [Rep., Mich.], requesting presentation in complete form of a so-called "key" telegram transmitted from the American legation at Bogota to the state department last June.

Contents Known, But "Secret."

It is this telegram, the contents of which were recently testified to by Francis White, assistant secretary of state, which links the oil concession wanted by the Mellon-Morgan interests and a credit which the Colombian government was seeking to obtain from the National City bank of New York.

And it was this situation—of a state department communication being held as confidential after its contents had been read in full to a New York banker, and described in part to the committee—that Senator Johnson termed "absurd and ridiculous."

Shields Foreifn Relations.

Secretary Stimson's first letter to the committee accompanied certain documents, but as to the cables from the American minister in Bogota, he said he must withhold them from publication because "it would not be to the interest of the United States in its foreign relations."

There were protests by committee members. A telephone call by Chairman Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah], administration supporter, resulted in a further refusal by Mr. Stimson.

The committee then adjourned until Monday, but Secretary Stimson's reply was still a refusal.

SENATE VOTES TO RECONSIDER REED CURRENCY QUIZ

G. O. P. Political Scheme, Democrats Charge.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Accusing Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.] of playing politics, senate Democrats today forced the senate to reconsider the viva voce vote by which it yesterday adopted Reed's resolution to have the tariff commission investigate the effect of the currency depreciation on imports into this country and on international trade in general.

PAT HARRISON. [Fotograms.]

Senator Harrison [Dem., Miss.], who moved for reconsideration, and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader, charged Mr. Reed had hurried the matter through the senate when there was only a meager attendance.

Senator Harrison alluded to the Reed proposal as a "nice, little political scheme" by which the tariff commission would conduct the investigation and Republicans would tell the country that the present situation is largely due to foreign currency depreciation.

Countering Mr. Harrison, Senator Reed remarked that he "had suspicions" that Mr. Harrison wished to take the stump this summer and lay the economic depression at the door of President Hoover and the Republican party.

"No, only 99 per cent," Mr. Harrison said with a smile.

Peru Deprives Army, Navy, and Priests of Voting Rights

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The national assembly today approved an eighth article for the Peruvian constitution which would deprive members of the army and navy and priests of the right to vote in any election. It also approved making registration of all male voters under 60 compulsory.

DANDRUFF

Soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid Arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

EAGER TO TELL ABOUT HER STOMACH

"I want to tell others about my experience with Pape's Diapepsin," says Mrs. B. Eastman, 1200 California St., Denver, Colo. "I tried a lot of things for my indigestion, but none of them did any good. Then a friend persuaded me to take a few tablets of this wonderful preparation.

"Now I even eat cabbage without any distress afterwards. It used to cause real suffering. I am not nearly so nervous as I used to be; feel much stronger and better in every way."

A medicine must have real merit to bring forth enthusiastic statements like this. And when not one, but hundreds, even thousands, are telling the same story of success, there seems no reason to doubt the day-in and day-out reliability of Pape's Diapepsin to help stomach sufferers.

These harmless, candy-like tablets relieve the heartburn, nausea, gas, belching, headaches, dizziness and other symptoms of indigestion.

CALLS MENTALLY UNFIT A HEAVY BURDEN ON STATE

Brandon Tells About Tax Spent on 25,000 Wards

"Mental unsoundness in Illinois heads the list of all those causes which bring unhappiness to the general public."

This assertion was made in the form of a challenge to the medical profession by Rodney H. Brandon, director of the state department of public welfare, at a meeting of the Chicago Medical society last night.

Mr. Brandon said that of all general property taxes collected by the state about 50 per cent is expended by his department, for the care of some 25,000 delinquents and mental defectives. Institutionalized dependents of the public welfare department are increasing far out of proportion to the population increase, he said, partly because of the higher standards of admission and partly because of the congestion of population, which will not permit a moron to run at large.

Increase in Insane Patients.

"The insane in hospitals have increased from 650 to the million in 1880 to 3,000 to the million now," said Mr. Brandon. "Incarceration of the mentally deficient has increased from 50 to the million in 1880 to 600 to the million."

The speaker said that one of the greatest services the medical profession could give would be the determination of the factors to blame for feeble minded children, of whom 7,500 are being cared for at a cost of $1 a day each. He suggested research in glandular deficiencies, food neglect, and environment factors as a possible path to the cure if not the prevention of feeble mindedness. Illinois, he said, has looked askance at sterilization, which is being tried by California.

Head of Hospital Talks.

Dr. Charles F. Read, superintendent of the Elgin State hospital, said that if the medical profession could evolve correctives for arteriosclerosis, alcoholism, and syphilitic infections, half of the mentally incompetent could be sent back to their communities, but that dementia praecox presented a more baffling problem, accounting for 25 per cent of those in the hospitals.

Dr. John R. Harger, president of the society, lead a general discussion on "What Is Illinois Going to Do About the Mentally Unfit?" after the speeches.

INSULL JUNIOR GETS MEDAL OF CIVIC SERVICE

Calls on Young Men to Aid Recovery.

An appeal for a return to economic straight thinking was made by Samuel Insull Jr. last night. He was awarded a gold medal by the Junior Association of Commerce for the most meritorious civic service performed by a Chicagoan under 35 years of age during the last year.

Mr. Insull spoke of the part young men in business must take in reestablishing the nation's trade, and reminded the young men present that their present day problems, while seemingly insurmountable, are really simple in comparison to the problems faced by young men of former generations.

Cites Civic Service.

Award of the medal for meritorious civic service in Chicago was made in consideration of Mr. Insull's work as vice chairman of the governor's unemployment commission, as chairman of the United Charities, and as cochairman of the Joint Emergency Relief fund, said George W. Rossetter, president-elect of the Association of Commerce. The recipient replied by giving credit for the success of those undertakings to his co-workers.

George Olmstead, president of the United States junior chamber of commerce, described the work of that organization, which celebrated its twelfth birthday last night by 150 banquets in cities throughout the country. An address by Silas H. Strawn, president of the United States chamber of commerce, broadcast from Washington, was heard by the gathering.

Urges Lower Taxes.

Mr. Strawn declared that despite the nation's prodigal waste of public funds which has led to higher taxes, the government must be supported in this time of stress, and the young men should try to find a way to reduce taxes, not a way to dodge them.

Robert E. Corcoran, president of the Chicago Junior Association of Commerce, awarded the medal to Mr. Insull. His father was present at the speakers' table but did not speak. The dinner was held in the Hotel Sherman.

POLICE CAPTURE 5 AS THEY PLAN TO ROB CAR BARN

CRIMINAL COURT.

Sidney Finney, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge John Prystalski.

Five men, members of a larger gang which they admitted planned to take between $8,000 and $10,000 last night in a holdup of the car barn at Paulina and Cortland streets, were arrested yesterday by the Albany Park police. The prisoners confessed fifteen holdups, in which their loot is believed to have exceeded $20,000.

The first two arrests were made by Capt. Joseph Goldberg, Lieut. Daniel O'Hara and eighteen policemen, who formed a cordon around the county jail after they had been informed that the two suspects would visit a pair of prisoners there. Capt. Goldberg was informed of the car barn holdup plot by an anonymous telephone call.

At the jail, Henry Schaeffer, 26 years old, 1790 Dickson street, and Walter Bogocz, 25 years old, in whose home at 1328 Dickson street the holdups were planned, were arrested. They were on their way to visit Schaeffer's brother, Frank, charged with a postal sub-station robbery, and Harry Adelsky, another robbery suspect.

On information furnished by Henry Schaeffer and Bogocz, the police arrested Ben Czlarski, 36 years old, 1420 Dickson street; Bernard Gold, 24, of 2137 North avenue, and Harry Oles, 24, of 2657 Walton street. Other alleged members of the gang are being sought.

MAYOR OF GARY INDICTED; NAMES SON SUCCESSOR

Roswell O. Johnson, mayor of Gary, was indicted by the Lake county grand jury at Crown Point yesterday on charges of oppression and misfeasance in office. Mayor Johnson surrendered at the office of Sheriff Roy F. Holly and was freed on bonds of $2,000. He charged that the accusations were an attack by political enemies.

MAYOR JOHNSON.

After leaving the sheriff's office at Crown Point the mayor went back to Gary and forced the resignation of A. C. Huber, the city comptroller. Then Mayor Johnson appointed his son, Roswell B. Johnson as the new comptroller.

According to Indiana statutes if a mayor is convicted of the charges pending against Mayor Johnson, he is automatically removed from office. In Gary the city comptroller becomes mayor in case of removal. Mayor Johnson said he made the move to protect himself.

Carrying his pay roll records with him, Huber appeared before the grand jury yesterday afternoon.

It was reported that the jury was investigating the building of the $90,000 Glen park sewer in Gary.

Reports were current that the grand jury was also investigating charges of pay roll padding in the police department.

She remained unidentified until this morning when her husband, Fred, identified her.

This death increased the automobile death toll to 73 since Jan. 1.

Detective John Donovan, of the South Chicago station, was hit by an automobile last night while he was arresting the driver of another car. He was taken to the South Chicago hospital with a broken leg. Donovan said he alighted from his squad car at 95th street and Avenue O after seeing Michael B. Kessinger, 73 years old, 1207 East 44th place, a salesman for a Hammond concern, drive through a stop light. As the policeman was standing on the street, he was hit by the machine of Fred Buoscio, 25, of 9548 Avenue M. Both Kessinger and Buoscio were arrested.

FATHER AND SON ARE QUIZZED IN POLICE SLAYING

Vito Lotresci, 45 years old, 2659 North Racine avenue, and his son, Sam, 24 years old, were questioned by the police yesterday about the murder on Jan. 19, 1931, of Policeman Hugh Kennedy after Kennedy's pistol was traced to them. Four youths confessed they had robbed the Lotresci home and had stolen a revolver which proved to be the one Kennedy had carried.

According to the police, Lotresci did not mention the Kennedy revolver when he reported the burglary. Yesterday Lotresci stated the revolver had been found by his son six years ago. His son verified this statement, but his story of finding it differed from his father's. Police stated Kennedy had the revolver in his possession a week before he was found slain.

Kennedy, known as a model police man, was detailed to the West North avenue station. On Jan. 13, last year, he was found dead at 52d street and Ogden avenue, near Cicero. He had been shot once in the head. With his revolver gone and no money in his pockets robbery was given as the motive for the crime.

Author Gives Newer View of J. J. Rousseau

And of a Revolution Made in France.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Jean Jacques Rousseau," by Matthew Josephson [Harcourt Brace]. Published today.

WITH the recent discovery of many significant documents relating to the life of Jean Jacques Rousseau, Matthew Josephson had new material to work with in writing a biography of that great French writer.

MATTHEW JOSEPHSON. [As caricatured by Wynn.]

Likewise, modern developments in the science of psychology offered new interpretative light on one of the most enigmatic mental biographies of that coldly cruel but hotly passioned eighteenth century.

Rousseau unquestionably was, according to modern standards of morality, a young man of questionable moral stamina and an old man of questionable mental normality as far as his private life was concerned. He was a revolté against established orders. Mr. Josephson inquires into the causes of that revolt, then tells them with vividness after making plain the physical and mental conditions of the state and of society from which Rousseau, being the sort of person he was, naturally revolted.

The older biographer was content to give such facts of a revolt as produced great men.

It was the custom in the classical biography to picture the times in which a hero (or a rogue) lived, to picture the reactions of the hero to his times, not in any sense psychologically, but wholly factually. Treated thus, Rousseau has emerged more of a rogue than a hero. He has been dubbed a criminal, if for no other reason, for his abandonment of his five children to a foundling home upon their birth.

The newer biography demands understanding as well as the relation of data. The Jean Jacques who emerges from Mr. Josephson's book is another person from the Jean Jacques who was the "judge" of Rousseau in his "Dialogues" and the hero of "The Confessions." Mr. Josephson has made no alteration of the facts [except as recent discoveries have proved Rousseau inaccurate or willfully lying in his "Confessions"], or newly discovered letters have proved relationships to be different from his memory of them].

Mr. Josephson does not, on the other hand, make Rousseau out a great hero; merely makes him human—understandably human. Mr. Josephson says very little about the incredibly perverse times in which his hero lived, but he says enough to make that hero's actions not abnormally unusual. Rousseau was not the only man of his era who abandoned his illegitimate offspring to a foundling asylum. He was not the only man of his day who paid for the favors of food and lodging in amorous coin to his benefactresses. Oddly enough, Mr. Josephson says, the one characteristic which made him so appealing to women was that he looked upon love, not in the fashion of the time as a necessary evil, but as a great stirring of the soul. It was a quaint idea in his day that there should be passionate spiritual devotion between man and woman.

It was a quainter idea, even than his idea of love, his discovery of nature, and its spiritual leavening of life. Rousseau's doctrine of "the noble savage" not only won him his first great literary fame but practically made the world nature conscious. And his books though in themselves not preëminently great literature, according to the best critics, had an immeasurable effect upon succeeding thought and writing. Mr. Josephson says he finds one of Rousseau's heroes "everywhere, in Thomas Mann and André Gide, in Marcel Proust, and even James Joyce."

It is as the human being and as a writer rather than as a deep political inuence that his biographer sees Rousseau. Of the book, which history declares made Rousseau an immediate forerunner of the French revolution, Mr. Josephson says: "To the historical influence that his biographer sees as a kind of engine of revolution of stupendous force. Its part in the destruction of a whole system of feudal sanctions and abuses seems unforgettable.

The contrast between the "philosopher" and the man in Rousseau is the age old story of and ever fascinating battle between ideals and reality. Mr. Josephson has written a vivid history of that lifelong warfare.

Good morning!

Luscious Dolores del Rio, absent from the screen for some time, returns in this picture, fashioned from the stage melodrama, "The Dove," in which played Judith Anderson and the late Holbrook Blinn.

The cinema version entirely lacks the potency of the Belasco production, but it still has the elements of popular appeal. Love, passion, villainy, music and heart throbs.

The story's locale is a town just across the Mexican border. Here you meet Johnny Powell, croupier in a gambling den, and The Dove, who sings in a cabaret just across the street from the gambling house. The Dove wears a white ribbon which doesn't mean that she belongs to the W. C. T. U., but that she is a virtuous maiden.

She carols and smiles unmolested until appears that naughty, lustful Señor Tostado, who, up until the time he meets Dolores, has been able to take his fun where he found it with no trouble at all. But now it is so deef-er-ent. . . .!

The señor would get rid of Johnny Powell and carry The Dove away to his hacienda in the south. He partially does both—but half is never all and so, and so and so.

Those who saw Holbrook Blinn's marvelously colorful and ingratiating characterization of Tostado will find that in Carillo's portrayal the salt has lost its savor. A surprise! The part should have fitted him like a glove! When he declares himself "the greatest caballero in Mexico" you could weep, remembering the unction with which those words rolled off the tongue of the late lamented Mr. Blinn.

Miss Del Rio looks alluring throughout, acts capably enough and talks pigeon English unconvincingly. The rôle does not particularly suit her. Norman Foster is appealing as young Johnny Powell who saves his beloved at the risk of the life he lives so dangerously.

The picture seems padded in spots, but sets and scenery are pleasing and the action moves along pretty smoothly, packing considerable suspense. The finale is as you would wish it.

A fair programmer that you may think an excellent one—if you didn't witness the play.

See you tomorrow!

Hudson Theater, Sold at Auction, Bought by Bank

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The Hudson theater, on Forty-fourth street, just east of Broadway, was sold at auction today to the Emigrant Industrial Savings bank for $100,000. The sale came through a foreclosure proceeding brought by the bank.

For the last twenty-four years the Hudson had been in possession of the Harris family. Henry B. Harris, one of the outstanding theatrical men of the early years of the century, bought it in 1908, and until he died in the Titanic disaster four years later the theater was the scene of his principal productions. Harris gained his chief fame as the sponsor of the famous play, "The Lion and the Mouse."

His wife, Mrs. Irene W. Harris, was one of the survivors of the Titanic wreck, and continued her husband's play producing business. She is reported to have refused an offer of $1,000,000 for the Hudson theater property three years ago. The theater has not been tenanted for some time.

The property fronts 46.2 feet on Forty-fourth street, and runs through the block to Forty-fifth, where it has a frontage of 83.4 feet. The theater itself is a four story structure.

The lien under which the property was foreclosed today amounted to $597,041, and there were back taxes of $22,512.

U.ofC. Winter Quarter Shows Normal Roll of Students' Names

Normal enrollment for the winter quarter in all schools and divisions of the University of Chicago except the downtown university college was revealed in registration figures yesterday.

In the college the registration dropped from 2,312 to 2,098, a loss of 214 compared with the autumn enrollment. The college gives late afternoon and evening classes attended largely by public school teachers. The loss in enrollment is attributed partly to discontinuance of special studies by unpaid teachers. The college, it is pointed out, has enabled many teachers to continue studies by accepting scrip.

Total registration for the university for the winter quarter is 7,082. Of this number 3,839 are men. The total number of undergraduate registrations is 2,642, of whom 1,483 are men.

Charity Ball on Monday to Help Negro Families

Proceeds from a midnight show and charity ball to be held under the auspices of the Angelus Relief Guild next Monday night will be devoted to the relief of Negro families in Chicago. Stage stars and orchestra leaders have volunteered their services. Ben Bernie will act as master of ceremonies. Other entertainers will be Ethel Waters and the cast of her show, Maurice Chevalier, Herbie Kay, and Al Jolson.

THE STAGE

KATHARINE CORNELL will end her New York run in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" Feb. 13. She will then take the play on tour, and may be expected to reach Chicago early in the spring.

When "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" comes to a halt, Miss Cornell will have a Broadway run of 370 performances on her record. This is the longest engagement in the thirty-nine years of the Empire theater's history. Miss Cornell has already chosen a play for next season; it is "The Allen Corn," by Sidney Howard.

Al Jolson's proclamation that he would remain at the Apollo theater in "The Wonder Bar" until Jan. 30, but not a day longer, was followed by an announcement that the musical comedy called "Everybody's Welcome" would follow, opening Sunday, Jan. 31. However, this was premature. The show is coming, but the management of the Apollo doesn't know when, and faces an interval of darkness after the departure of "The Wonder Bar."

"Everybody's Welcome" is current in New York. It has a cast of the "all-star" variety, with six leaders—Frances Williams, Oscar Shaw, Ann Pennington, Harriette Lake, Jack Sheehan and Cecil Lean. It is also equipped, like every other musical show of the time, with a group of Albertina Rasch's highly trained dancers. This piece is an adaptation of the comedy called "Up Pops the Devil," which was seen here last season.

Natalie Hall has retired from the prima donna's rôle in "Marching By," at the Great Northern, in favor of Janice Joyce. Miss Hall has been summoned to sing in Vincent Youman's new operetta, "Love Is All," based upon the play called "Smiling Through," which is now in Washington. Norma Terriss was the first choice as heroine, but Miss Hall will supplant her.

The new girl for "Marching By" comes from the Pacific coast, where she has been singing leading rôles in light operas. "Marching By" marks her debut east of the Rockies.

A revival of Oscar Straus' operetta, "The Chocolate Soldier," is scheduled to follow Maurice Chevalier's week at the Erlanger theater, opening Sunday, Jan. 31. Vivienne Segal and Charles Purcell will sing the leading rôles, and others in the company are Allan Rogers, Sarah Edwards, John Munsmure, Marian Palmer, Edmond Mulcahy, and Theo Von Tassel. The libretto of this piece is based on Shaw's comedy, "Arms and the Man."

English Church for Pact with Old Catholics

Affects European Groups Not Under Papacy.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The upper house of the convocation of Canterbury took what the archbishop described as an "historical step" today by adopting unanimously a resolution proposing intercommunion between the Church of England and the Old Catholic churches of Europe.

That designation is the name which was assumed by those members of the Roman Catholic church who refused to accept the Vatican council decision of 1870 regarding papal infallibility [in faith and morals], and organized a separate ecclesiastical structure.

The archbishop of Canterbury in presenting the resolution for a vote, made it clear that he looked on this as a first step in the establishment of a great world organization of churches, each maintaining its individual independence, but all united by a "definite unity of structure in faith and order."

The resolution originally was proposed by the bishop of Gloucester and its adoption, said the archbishop, marks the first time in the history of the convocation that the Church of England has "formally and by resolution brought itself into a relation of communion with another church." He expressed the hope that with regard to Sweden "we can be able to carry matters further."

"We are setting up a new horizon for ourselves," he said, "we are looking forward to relations with other churches and I hope that there may gradually be built up the horizon which seemed to be opened out at Lambeth of a great organism of churches throughout the world, each fulfilling its own function, at united not by mere sentiment, but by a definite unity of structure both in faith and order."

The resolution provides that communion between the Church of England and the Old Catholic churches is permissible, but it stipulates that "this does not require from either communion acceptance of all doctrine opinion, sacramental devotion or liturgical characteristics of the other, but implies that each believes the other to hold the essentials of Christian faith."

The action taken today by the Canterbury convocation began in 1930 at the Lambeth conference of bishops of the Anglican church. As an outgrowth of that conference there was a meeting at Bonn last July between representatives of the Anglican communion and the Old Catholic churches, the bishop of Gloucester presiding.

Subsequently the Old Catholic congress at Vienna resolved that intercommunion should be permitted between members of the Old Catholic churches and of the Anglican communion.

Uncle Tells Story of Ohio Heiress' Ocean Romance

Alliance, O., Jan. 20.—(AP)—A story of the European romance of Miss Ann Sharer, 19 year old heiress of this city, was told today by William H. Morgan Jr., her uncle. Morgan said Miss Sharer sent him a cable from London, England, stating that she was leaving for the United States to marry Theodore Canning of Wilmington, Del., whom she met on a trip to Naples. They will be married as soon as Canning obtains a divorce, Morgan quoted the cablegram as saying.

Morgan said the romance began two days after Miss Sharer, her aunt, Miss Ann Ballou, and Canning left America on the same boat Nov. 27. Miss Sharer and her aunt were going to Florence to spend the winter.

Canning, 28 years old, was traveling with the Rev. Thomas Cooper, retired pastor and his former business associate.

The girl, since the death of her parents here several years ago, has resided at the estate of her uncle, son of the late Col. William Morgan, millionaire manufacturer.

Good Second Rate Pastors Are Needed, Dr. McGregor Says

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 20.—(AP)—The Council of Church Boards of Education was told today there is no place for third rate ministers, but room for good second class preachers.

So declared Dr. D. A. McGregor of the Western Theological seminary, Evanston, Ill.

Dr. McGregor said there was a dearth of ministers 15 years ago, but today there is an oversupply and seminaries are filled, so the churches have wider choice.

The council's general assembly closed with election of officers. Dr. Willard D. Brown, New York, succeeded Dr. N. J. G. Wickey, Washington, D. C., as president.

Momentum of past prosperity carried America's educational institutions through 1930 and half of 1931 comfortably, as far as trust and endowment funds were concerned, according to a report for the Association of American colleges. That association is meeting here in conjunction with the convention of the Council of Church Boards of Education. A survey covered 277 colleges and universities, 19 of them Catholic.

The survey revealed that, of 36 tax supported institutions considered, 18 have been accumulating endowments and already have invested an aggregate of $15,535,431.

The committee reported that gifts of cash to the various institutions showed a "gratifying and unexpected volume despite general conditions."

The cash gifts for the fiscal year ended last June 30 aggregated $54,800,945. Of 77 midwestern colleges 23 showed gains and 51 losses for a total of $10,627,500.

Total investment holdings of all colleges reporting amounted to $663,057,436, the survey showed.

The report stressed, however, the figures were not complete and showed only current trends, inasmuch as reports were not obtained from all institutions.

Nerve Surgery Work Is New Specialty at Presbyterian Hospital

A department of neuro-surgery was established yesterday at the Presbyterian hospital on orders of the board of managers. Dr. Adrian Verbrugghen, formerly of the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., will be the head of the new department, it was announced.

Special operating tables, delicate surgical instruments developed for brain operations in recent years, and all the other equipment necessary for brain, spinal cord, and nerve operations has been installed at the hospital.

In discussing his field of surgery, Dr. Verbrugghen told of the operation known as sympathectomy which recently has been found to be of great value for relief of pain and direct alleviation of Buergers disease, Raynaud's disease, and certain cases of arthritis.

"Sympathectomy is the severing of certain branches of the sympathetic nerves," the doctor explained. "These are the nerves which give the sensation of pain from the internal organs."

He declared that there is very little danger of mental impairment following brain operations. The parts of the brain which are operated upon have nothing to do with intellectual processes in a great majority of cases, he asserted.

Mischa Elman did not give his violin recital at Orchestra hall last night. Although it had been advertised for a number of weeks in advance, word was received from his eastern managers that he would be unable to appear, and that his program would be deferred to a later unspecified date.

The choir of the Park Manor Congregational church will give a third and extra performance of "The Mikado" tomorrow night under the direction of Carl Craven. Frances B. Roland sings the part of Yum-Yum and Henry Oehler that of Nanki-Poo, the other rôles being taken by Elizabeth Ellis, Florence June Noftsker, Gertrude E. Kellogg, Sidney C. Rogers, Stewart P. Mulvihill, Harold N. Davidson, and Perry B. Wilson Jr.

Lime in Diet Fails to Halt Decay of Teeth

Phosphorus Seems Better for That Purpose.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

A diet rich in calcium, commonly advised by nutrition experts to produce proper teeth in children, does not prevent caries [tooth decay], recent experiments on rats show, unless a high phosphorus content is present in the diet.

With that statement Dr. Henry Klein of the Johns Hopkins Medical school, lecturing before the sixty-eighth annual conference of the Chicago Dental society in the Stevens hotel, upset the theory that if a child is given plenty of orange juice in addition to an adequate diet he will avoid decayed teeth in later years.

After subjecting 750 rats to a variety of diets, the speaker said, it was concluded that the calcification of teeth had no relation, except a casual one, to the decay of teeth, and that perfectly calcified teeth might develop decay. A diet which produced imperfectly calcified teeth might prevent caries, likewise.

An inadequate diet, or a ricket producing diet, low in calcium and high in phosphorus, was fed to animals without producing tooth decay, Dr. Klein said.

Dr. Klein pointed out that experiments on monkeys, when finally analyzed show that it was a lack of phosphorus which caused caries, instead of the lack of vitamin C.

The problem is not solved necessarily by taking more phosphorus in the diet, unless other contributing influences are present, he indicated. The alkalinity of the diet, the presence of Vitamin D and sufficient sleep influence the absorption of phosphorus by the bloodstream. The increase of calcium in the diet may deplete the phosphorus in the blood, he said. The presence of Vitamin D raises the inorganic phosphorus of the blood serum.

Dr. F. M. McKevitt, San Francisco, on the other hand, said:

"A well balanced diet, rich in calcium food, for children will obviate artificial teeth in later life. Sunlight, cod liver oil, fresh fruits and leafy vegetables have long been known to serve this purpose.

"Another phase of modern dentistry is the study of the ductless glands, particularly the parathyroid, the chief function of which is to regulate calcium metabolism, or the building of calcium-phosphate and calcium carbonate into bony skeleton."

Dr. Isaac Abt of the department of pediatrics of Northwestern university medical school, spoke of the disagreement among experts as to diet's effect on teeth, and quoted authorities on the "uncertain relation of vitamins to caries."

"During the formation of the teeth severe disturbances of mineral metabolism may produce defective calcification and defects in enamel," he said. "This abnormal metabolism may be due to a lowered absorption of salt, the hypofunction of the parathyroid gland, or the defective absorption of light energy, with an implication of a diminished amount of vitamin D."

Dr. Clarence Simon, director of the speech clinic at Northwestern university, spoke on the relation of the formation of the jaws, the palate and the spacing of the teeth to speech.

"We have no instinct for speech," he said. "It is an acquired activity. Speech habits formed in childhood persist through adult years, so that a not unfamiliar problem to us is the Herculean football player type who lisps in babyish accents, because his mother talked baby talk to him."

"The cleft palate makes the oral resonance demanded by the English language an impossibility," Dr. Simon added. "Often after dental adjustments have corrected the physical defect, the speech habits continue. This points to the need of early dental adjustments in children, where needed."

Dr. Philip Lewin, Chicago orthopedic surgeon, speaking to the research section, said a question exists as to whether arthritis causes decayed teeth or decayed teeth cause arthritis. He also warned against removing more than one infected tooth at a time. He suggested in cases of arthritis, coöperation between physician and dentist.

J. T. McCutcheon Again Is President of the Zoological Society

John T. McCutcheon was reëlected yesterday as president of the Chicago Zoölogical society, which is the commission in charge of building the new zoo at Riverside. All other officers also were reëlected with the exception of one trustee. County Commissioner Maurice F. Kavanagh was elected to take the place of Mayor Cermak, who found himself too busy as mayor to remain on the board of trustees.

John T. Pirie was reëlected first vice president; Ezra Warner, second vice president; Graham Aldis, secretary; Solomon A. Smith, treasurer. The trustees reëlected were Lester L. Falk, Herbert E. Bradley, Ezra Warner, Edward L. Glaser, George W. Dixon, John T. Pirie, John R. Magill, and County Commissioners Peter M. Kelly and Emmett Whealan.

Further work on the zoo depends on the passage of an assessment bill by the legislature, Commissioner Kelly reported, funds being exhausted.

2 Chicagoans on Idol Quest Reach Florida

Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Bob Cook and Sam Taylor of Chicago, former university students, have anchored their schooner-yacht Sword Fish here after completing about 6,000 miles of an around-the-world voyage started a year ago.

The trip was planned primarily to collect museum idols, they said. In the spring, the Chicagoans said, they plan to explore Andros island, in the Bahamas, to investigate tales of a race of gigantic Negroes inhabiting the interior.

Cook and Taylor said their trip so far had taken them through the great lakes and about the North Atlantic coast, as far as Labrador.

SOCIETY NEWS AND FASHIONS OF THE DAY

Family Tree of Beckwiths Is Wedding Gift

Charles D. Heile Jrs. Get Belated Present.

WE heard a story yesterday which we thought well worth passing on to our readers—if there be "sech"—about a wedding present that was just received by Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Heile Jr., although their wedding took place about two and a half years ago.

The present, the coat of arms and the genealogical record of 26 generations of the Beckwith family [Mrs. Heile was Mary Anna Beckwith], was sent by Lawrence H. Whiting with a note accompanying it explaining the delay. He and his wife, the late Mrs. Eleanor Countiss Whiting, had planned the gift and had supervised the making of it at the time of the Beckwith-Heile wedding, but before it was sent Mrs. Whiting was taken very ill and in the grief of her long illness and subsequent death, the framed parchment was put away in a closet and there it stayed until Mr. Whiting discovered it recently.

It is a beautiful thing, and of course young Mrs. Heile is delighted to have it. On the back are pasted newspaper clippings about the Beckwith family and a picture of Mrs. Heile's father, John W. Beckwith, in the uniform he wore during the world war.

Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith live at 37 East Elm street, and the Heiles reside at 311 North Cuyler avenue in Oak Park. Mr. Beckwith has been ill for some time and at present is in the hospital, but Mrs. Beckwith is hoping he will be well enough to return home very soon.

The picture of Mrs. Whiting which was exhibited by her daughter, Henrietta Countiss, at the Junior league's exhibition at the Casino recently, elicited much admiring comment for Miss Countiss has achieved a very good likeness of her lovely mother.

The portrait is of Mrs. Whiting in her Red Cross uniform and no one who saw her during those years that she, then Mrs. Countiss, worked so devotedly for the soldiers and sailors, will ever forget what a picture she was. Miss Countiss, who made her debut several years ago, is seriously pursuing her art work and so is seldom seen at society affairs during the daytime.

Woman's Athletic Club and Drama League to Entertain.

Predictions always are a bit risky, but to predict that the Woman's Athletic club will have a full house this morning for the program which will be given by three members, Marie Morrisey Keith, Harriet Lowden Madlener, and Elsie Dixon Faithorn, is not in the least risky, for we are sure every member who is in town and not restricted to her home by illness, will be there to hear Mrs. Keith sing, Mrs. Madlener play the piano, and Mrs. Faithorn read from modern American poets.

Another interesting affair on today's program is the tea to be given in the ballroom of the Drake by the Drama league for Sylvia Thompson, well known English novelist. Mrs. Thompson will talk on "Contemporary English Drama," Mrs. Clarence Hough will preside, and Mrs. William E. Wright, Mrs. Howard L. Willett, Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, Mrs. Townsend McKeever, and Mrs. Waller Borden will pour.

Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, who has an attractive guest from Boston this week, Mrs. Charles Jenney for whom there is a lot of informal entertaining being done by Mrs. Hinckley's friends, is having a meeting of the Colonial Dames this afternoon at her residence, 209 Lake Shore drive. Mrs. Clay Judson will read a collection of old letters written by the Clay family which she calls "Husband's Family." Mrs. Hinckley, who divides her time between Boston, where Mr. Hinckley has a lovely home on Bay State road, and Chicago, where her children, Eleanor and Barbara McClurg, live while they are attending the Latin school, plans to take the children away for a spring vacation, but her plans as to destination are not definite yet.

Japanese Speaking and Music for Chicagoans.

Society is going quite Japanese these days, it would seem, for next Wednesday afternoon there is to be a recital of Japanese music in Fullerton hall at the Art institute under the auspices of the Japan-America society and "The Orientals," and on Saturday of this week two Japanese gentlemen are to talk before the Council on Foreign Relations at a luncheon at the Palmer house.

The recital will be given by the Yoshida players and the performance has been made possible by the generosity of Robert Allerton, Mrs. Waller Borden, Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, Charles H. Chandler, Miss Naomi Donnelley, A. Kroch, Col. George T. Langhorne, Russell Tyson, Henry M. Wolf, and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Worcester, so the announcements state.

Japanese dancing girls will appear in native costume and will pose in representations of Japanese prints at the recital, which will start at 3:30 o'clock. Graham Aldis is to preside at the council's luncheon and at the speakers' table will be Count Kabayama and Mr. Komatsu, the principal speakers; Yoshio Muto, Japanese consul [he will introduce the players Wednesday]; Charles H. Chandler, president of the Japan-America society, and Mrs. Chandler, Charles Kelley of the Art institute, Miss Helen Gunsaulus, and Russell Tyson.

Mr. and Mrs. Edison Dick, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. Waller Borden, Col. and Mrs. Tryggve A. Siqueland, and Mr. and Mrs. Hays MacFarland are among those interested in a concert to be given by Paul Robeson on Feb. 1 at Orchestra hall for the benefit of the Helping Hand nursery. The nursery, which is affiliated with the Chicago Council of Social Agencies and the Federated Charities, has cared for close to seven thousand children of both white and Negro mothers, who are forced to work during the day, since it was founded 11 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Gallery of 3200 Sheridan road are being congratulated on the birth of their second daughter on Jan. 14 at the Passavant hospital.

Mrs. Bessie Bragg Pierson, president of the Women's Athletic club, will give a breakfast party Monday at noon for Mme. Lotte Lehmann of the Chicago Civic Opera company, who has been a guest of the club for the last two weeks.

A reception for Dr. Katherine Blunt, president of Connecticut college, will be given at the College club next Monday evening at 8 o'clock by the Chicago alumnæ chapter of the college. Dr. Blunt, who is a graduate of Vassar and formerly was head of the home economics department at the University of Chicago, will speak on "Life at Connecticut College."

Charity Ball, on Dec. 18, Has Yielded $12,000

Just to silence pessimists who have been spreading gossip that there were no proceeds from the charity ball Dec. 18 at the Auditorium to be turned over to the Joint Emergency Relief fund it was told officially yesterday that $12,000 has been turned into the fund and that it is hoped there will be another $3,000.

LEOPARD VOGUE

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The most fashionable of accessories for midwinter are made of the spotted leopard's skin. Necklaces of leopard fur sound a bit sensational, don't they, but these are the most approved costume jewels of the haut monde of Paris, and belts of the same fur around the waist of simple daytime frocks are just as much in style.

The passion for these eccentric accessories began down on the Riviera last September when the Hon. Mrs. Reginald Fellowes took to wearing a leopard skin necklace with a pendant of sapphires and when Lady Mendl, who used to be Elsie De Wolf, carried as a constant companion a purse of the same fur.

Suzanne Talbot, that clever and fashionable milliner, brought out small toques of leopard in the fall and added to them necklaces and belts like those shown in our sketch. Her customers fell upon these accessories with avid enthusiasm and, when she added scarf and purse, these, too, went over in a big way.

Last of all, Talbot made slipon gloves of a coarse black net with bands of leopard at the top, and the complete accessory ensemble of this skin became one of the big style successes of the winter season. (See today's illustration.)

Separate furs are indeed the trade mark of Paris chic this winter, be they made of leopard or other creature. The fur collar of black astrakhan shown above from Vionnet and the astrakhan and velvet toque from Reboux are separate fur pieces worn by Baronne Edouard de Rothschild, one of the "Famous Forty" smartest Parisiennes.

Chicago Group Hears Story of Health in Hills

Frontier Nursing Service Helps the Forgotten.

MRS. MARY BRECKINRIDGE, the gallant lady who is temporarily out of active command of the Frontier Nursing service while a broken vertebra keeps her in a hospital in the hills of Kentucky, should be vastly encouraged when the postman brings her the report of the meeting the Chicago branch held yesterday in Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster's apartment on Lake Shore drive.

The story of the organization's work among the "lost Americans" in the remote regions of the Kentucky mountains was told in vivid, moving fashion by C. E. A. Winslow, professor of public health in the Yale school of medicine. A good many of the 80 people present were familiar with the work, but those who were hearing of it for the first time learned from Dr. Winslow how the service has succeeded in bringing "a large measure of the benefits of modern civilization to some of the most forlorn and desolate dwellers on the 'forgotten frontier.'"

Among the facts emphasized by Dr. Winslow in his résumé of the service's brief history were:

"In an 800 square mile region, which did not have a single resident physician or a single mile of automobile road when the work began six years ago, the service today has an 18 bed hospital, 9 district nursing centers, and 28 nurse midwives who ride on horseback day and night over the rough mountain trails, bringing hope and comfort to the log cabins on the hillsides and along the creek beds. The service has made nearly 100,000 home visits, has performed 38,000 inoculations, and presided over 800 births with only one maternal death. It is probably the most remarkable effort made anywhere to safeguard the health of mothers and infants in a remote rural area."

After Dr. Winslow's talk Marvin Hughitt Frost showed the moving pictures he took at the nursing center which was dedicated recently to the memory of his grandmother, Belle Barrett Hughitt. Both speakers were introduced by Mrs. Frederic W. Upham.

Among those present were Mrs. D. Mark Cummings and Miss Naomi Donnelley, who poured at the tea following the meeting; Mrs. William B. Storey, Mrs. William Hubbard, Mrs. Francis Dickinson, Mrs. Joseph E. Otis, Mrs. Harold Eldridge, Mrs. William A. Pusey, Mrs. Edgar J. Goodspeed, Miss Hortense Harris, Miss Irene Wilson, Mrs. Clifford Caldwell, and Mrs. John Gardner, executive secretary of the Chicago branch, whose book, "Clever Country," which tells of her experiences with the service nurses in the mountains, has been attracting a lot of attention since its publication several weeks ago.

More Volunteers Sought for Social Welfare Work Here

For the third time since the volunteer bureau of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies was organized last December, the council issued a call yesterday for more volunteer women to aid in charitable agencies administering relief.

"As the emergency relief fund nears exhaustion and the need for relief increases, volunteers offering their services free, are more and more in demand," a representative of the council said. "Three hundred women, graduates of these training classes, have been placed with our social agencies since the opening of the volunteer bureau, doing every kind of work from weighing and measuring babies to case work aid jobs with family welfare agencies. But we need more and more."

Another need, it was pointed out, is the urgent demand for motor service to conduct workers over their territory. Motor volunteers are not required to take the training course. They can begin work at once by telephoning Mrs. H. B. Ressler, Cohasset 5160.

Registration is now open for the February volunteer class which is under the direction of Mrs. Edward Brown in room 1304 of the council's headquarters at 203 North Wabash avenue.

DETROIT SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS TO EAT PRETZELS, BOARD SAYS

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Sanctioned by a three to one vote of the board of education, the pretzel today took its place among other delicacies on school lunch counters.

The sanctioning of the pretzel occurred at last night's meeting of the board after Inspector Frank A. Gorman had reported that the 1932 models were peculiarly adapted for school lunches.

"Pretzels," said Inspector Gorman, "add a little something other foods don't furnish."

"Too bad this subject comes up so late," remarked Dr. Burt R. Shurly, a member of the board. "I'd like to deliver a eulogy on the pretzel."

"The pretzel," retorted Mrs. Lara F. Osborn, another board member, "is an article we can very well leave out of our food calculations for children. I shall vote against it."

But the pretzel won and now 5 cents will purchase a particularly large pretzel and a glass of milk.

British Jurist's Ruling Praises Old Style Wives

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 20.—It may be that a wife in Great Britain can regard her body as actually her property to do with as she chooses, but a jury must not blame a woman because she desires to fulfill the vow made at the altar.

This retort was delivered today by Sir Ernest Wild, recorder at Old Bailey, to counsel's suggestion that a woman might have been coerced by her husband.

The entire question of conjugal rights has been thrown into an uproar by pronouncements of Judge McCardie, bachelor jurist, who excited countrywide comment by his declaration two days ago that a wife is free from any obligations to her husband whatsoever. It is pointed out that this is far in advance of anything hoped for by the most militant agitators for sexual equality.

"I hold the view that a woman certainly has a duty to her husband, although some judges seem to differ," Sir Ernest told the jury. "It may be the law that a wife is a free agent and not a servant, and has no duty to her husband, but you are not to think any worse of those wives who stick by their husbands. They vowed at the altar to do so. Wives are still entitled to stick by their husbands, and you may as well tell England about it."

Judge McCardie has jolted the country with the realization that within the past generation wives have risen from the status of servants, who are legal objects in damage suits, where there is a provable case that they have been enticed away.

Even the most outspoken of feminist reformers, who have not realized that this advancement of the wife from her virtual position as a chattel has already been accomplished in legal quarters, today were busy commenting on Judge McCardie's startling decision.

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank Quits as Hospital Board Chairman

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, chairman of the board of directors of the Chicago Lying-in hospital, and dispensary last night announced that she was retiring and that Mrs. Ernst Freund, vice chairman, had been elected to take her place. Mrs. Fairbank accepted the post last year with the understanding that when the hospital was fully in operation she would be permitted to retire. She will continue as a member of the board.

Mrs. Fairbank has headed the board since 1908 and has helped raise the funds for two buildings, the old building which is now the property of the Provident hospital and the new $1,900,000 structure at the University of Chicago with which the hospital is affiliated.

Mrs. Fairbank said she plans to devote her time in the immediate future to completion of a new novel.

FASHIONS OF SPRING TO STRESS SIMPLICITY; ECONOMY ALSO STYLISH

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The best dressed woman this spring will be the one whose clothes reflect casualness and informality in creation and design.

"Simplified simplicity" was the way Rose A. Glemby, head of a buying syndicate, explained it today, at the opening of the spring 1932 fashion forecast session of member stores in New York.

Miss Glemby also told the session that a sudden increase in price levels for this spring in fashion merchandise was not expected.

"From present indications the greatest volume will be done on somewhat lower price levels than spring last year," she said. "It will be necessary to stress quality, and fashion-correctness, regardless of price."

Wedding Described

The marriage at St. Chrysostom's church last Saturday of Miss Hortense Henry, daughter of the Huntington B. Henrys, to Gordon P. Kelley, son of the William V. Kelleys, was one of the most beautiful weddings ever held in that fashionable church. The bride's gown and those of her attendants were unusually lovely. Her dress of bridal satin was made very simply, with long sleeves puffed from the shoulder to the elbow and with insets of old princess lace at the shoulder—lace that had been worn by her grandmother, Mrs. Edward P. Swift, at her wedding. The same old lace fashioned the little cap from which fell a long tulle veil.

The maid of honor, Miss Annie May Henry, wore a charming frock of silver tissue, with short puff sleeves of silver tulle and a beruffled skirt of tulle. She wore a little turned up hat of silver. The bridesmaids' gowns of ivory Callot satin also had short puffed sleeves, V necklines in the front and cowl necks in the back.

A new idea for bridal attendants is to have them carry muffs instead of bouquets, and Miss Henry's bridesmaids carried flat, squashy muffs of brown velvet, with wide drooping velvet ends bordered in brown tulle. Their hats of brown velvet had narrow tulle brims, and under each brim, on the left side, three white gardenias nestled close to the softly waved hair of the young wearer. Brown sandals and short white kid gloves completed their smart costumes.

Mrs. Osborne was a bride at another beautiful wedding in St. Chrysostom's last month, and Miss Dennehy and Miss Stanley are both engaged to be married, the former to Nicholas Galitzine and the latter to Victor Elting Jr.

Gown's Design Seems to Take Weight Away

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

One of the expert fitters in a New York dress salon has a daughter in the early twenties who registers 142 pounds. Ten pounds more than she should, I judge. She is tall, though, and fairly large boned. Her mother, however, makes her clothes and is a supreme artist in "line." So the girl not only stands out as one of the best dressed of her crowd but as possessing a perfectly beautiful figure.

Her mother says "that is the trick of line." She further challenges that she can take any figure that is not a monstrosity and lose for it ten to fifteen pounds somewhere behind the lines. It is a question whether one without this gift can be trained to choose clothes for their lines. Most women feel that they do it when they purchase a new coat or frock. It isn't until they get home and retry their dress that they begin to doubt their smart judgment.

A demonstration was made before my eyes by this mother "line" artist of whom I speak. She put on, out of stock, a dress with a white top and brown skirt. The sleeves were raglan cut. The belt line was sharply cut and a sash business was brought around and knotted in a big bow.

There was a short box jacket of brown intended for wear with the dress. The sleeves were three quarter length and loose. Breadth, width and thickness spoke from every line. On a slighter woman it would have been grand.

Then the woman donned a princess cut dress, with the waistline dented in only by the line and fit of the dress. It was the same brown color scheme. Twenty pounds, I judge, fell away with the second frock.

Anyway, here is a study we women can concentrate on for a bit. We learned to know our individual complexions and what they bloomed best on in the way of makeup. We can do the same thing with clothes, but it calls for study—observing women who have L. A. [line appeal]. We can learn when to avoid a dress with folds of material across the hipline in front. We can learn to win a graceful line with a narrow belt over which the bodice blouses a little.

We can learn not to add inches by wearing a tight fitting dress from shoulder to knee when the weight is ten or so above par.

Mexico Gets Another Place in Art's Sun

Murphys Display Results of Their Trip.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

AN exhibition of paintings of Mexico by H. Dudley Murphy and Nelly Littlehale Murphy has just opened in the O'Brien galleries, 673 North Michigan avenue. It is a very lovely exhibit. Mexico has been shown us recently by various painters, but no one has painted the charm of it more penetratingly and understandingly than do Mr. and Mrs. Murphy. A fairy country it is, in some of these pictures, and always it is a country of romance, warmth, hot sun, and dazzling flowers.

Mr. Murphy has used the picturesque cone of Popocatapetl, the great Mexican volcano, as the starting point for several of his finest canvases. "Early Morning Popo" is unusual and exquisite, flavored in its patter and coloring with a touch of Japan. The olive foreground runs smoothly back into a lift of orange mountain side topped by the mouth of Popocatapetl, a beautiful composition.

"Evening Popo" is the volcano and landscape in another mood. The summit and supporting flanks are tipped with rose; in the valley lies a dusky silence, broken only by the golden lights from unshaded windows. In broad sunlight the volcano towers like a charmed finger pointing up from the fertile valley, with its red-tiled village roofs, that lies beyond its base. This sunny landscape is called simply by the volcano's name.

Another beautiful example of Mr. Murphy's art is the "A Patio," a little quiet court silver in the moonlight. Still another gem is found in "A Bougainvillea," the purple flowers of the vine massed above tall green palm leaves and running over onto the tiles of the low house. Two exquisite smaller canvases are the dusky "Popo" and "The Last Gleam, Popo."

Mrs. Murphy uses water color as her medium and her share in the exhibit is a delight. Loveliest of all is her study in browns and grays, "A Tree," though "The Patio of Cortez" is beautiful, and so, too, do "In a Patio," "Oleander," and "Patio in Cuernavaca" wear beauty like a garment.

The exhibition will continue through the month.

LAST YEAR'S WIFE

By ALICE M. WILLIAMSON

SYNOPSIS.

Lorne Carlton and Dick Farrow, popular moving picture stars of Hollywood, sail for Europe on a delayed honeymoon, after a year's happy marriage. Lorne is sad about leaving, as she has an undefinable presentiment of trouble, but Dick is anxious for the adventure. Dick's parents are famous on the stage. Lorne, who fought her way through poverty to the heights, feels that she is not approved by the elder Farrows. Dolores, duchess of Crowninshield, a friend of Dick's parents, has invited the young people to be her guests in London. She is divorced from the duke, but is one of England's most important hostesses. From the first moment of their meeting Dick is a willing captive of the beautiful and charming duchess. Before the visit is ended Lorne realizes that she has lost her husband. She returns home alone, Dick deciding to give up his movie career and remain in London. Back in Hollywood, Lorne obtains a Mexican divorce from Dick, and shortly after Dick and Dolores are married. Two years after their separation Dick's name is almost forgotten by the movie fans, while Lorne has made several successful pictures. Then Dick returns to Hollywood, with his duchess.

INSTALLMENT XVI.

A LOVE CALL.

Lorne gazed out at the garden and tried to concentrate on its beauty. There was a purple back drop of cloud, and the grass and flowers, seen through a crystal bead curtain of rain, looked curiously bright, like an embroidery picture done in many colored silks.

She couldn't rest; the loveliness of the garden gave her no peace of spirit. She drifted to the piano, and began to sing the "Prima Donna" song.

Lorne tried to forget herself, and to be Natascha, as she would have to do next week when rehearsals would begin at the studio. The first words fell from her lips in English, a translation from the Russian. No sadder words could ever have been written in any language. Sitting at the piano with her back to the door, she did not hear it open. She did not hear the maid admit a man. She did not know that, with his finger on his lips, he stopped the announcement of his name, and motioned the maid away. She had no knowledge that he stood there, listening, while the door was gently closed behind him.

Lorne sang:

We parted then with pride
Neither with sighs nor words
Proffered I thee with reproach of jealousy
We broke apart for aye
Yet only if with thee
I might but chance to meet!
Ah, that with thee I might but chance to meet!
I weep not nor complain
To Fate I bend the knee
I know not if you loved
So greatly wronging me?
Yet only if with thee
I might but chance to meet!
Ah, that with thee I might but chance to meet!

She stopped after the second verse; she could sing no more; this song took too much out of her; she must save it for another day. Perhaps tomorrow she would be strong again, and have reconstructed the purpose to fit the future as it must be lived. But before she had lifted her hands from the ivory keyboard, some one had knelt at her feet, some one was clasping her knees, some one's smooth, close cropped black head was lying in her lap.

Lorne pushed the head away and sprang up as if she had been shot.

"Dick! Farrow!" she exclaimed.

Warned by the sharpness in her voice that he could expect no softness, Dick scrambled rather awkwardly to his feet, for smart London trousers are not made for men to kneel in.

"You didn't hear me come in," he stammered, facing her. "O, Lorne, that song! That song!"

Lorne was trembling all over. The dark cloud behind the garden seemed to have come into the room, fogging Dick's features. She wondered if she were going to faint. She never had fainted, and she determined with the whole force of her will not to faint now. She gritted her teeth together; she lifted her chin, so that she could seem to look down at Dick.

"I had no thought of you when I sang that song, believe me," she said, in icy tones. [It was a lie, of course, but Dick deserved lies].

"I do believe you," he said, humbly. "I beg you to forgive me for acting the fool; I couldn't help it. I was completely overcome. If I promise to behave myself, may I stay—and talk? I want to so much, so very much."

This speech had given Lorne time to recover herself, as no one can do more quickly than a moving picture star when it is essential to hide emotion.

"Stay, of course," she conceded, "I only wanted to undeceive you as soon as possible, if you chanced to imagine I was pining for you. Eddie Waring, who is my director nowadays, has arranged that song out of a famous book for me to sing, and has adapted music from the Russian. It will be quite effective, I think, in my new film, 'Prima Donna,' if I can learn to do it justice. But do sit down, and let's talk of you. I saw in the papers this morning that you had arrived in Los Angeles, yet I must say I hardly expected—"

"You hardly expected," he took the words from her mouth, "that I'd have the cheek to call on you—here, in this house—without a by-your-leave, or with your leave. But I beg of you, Lorne, do believe that I didn't mean to take a liberty. I came like this—unannounced, because I—I was afraid you'd refuse to receive me if I sent word beforehand."

Lorne sat down, trying to keep her dignity and not look as if her knees would let her drop. Dick then sat down also, after a recognizing glance at an armchair. It was a Chinese Chippendale with gracious, welcoming arms, and a flat cushion of faded rose damask.

"I think you are trying to remember that chair, aren't you?" Lorne said, conversationally, pleased with her own self-control, superior to Dick's.

"Trying?" Dick echoed. "I don't need to try."

"You always had a good memory," Lorne praised him. "But still, you and—the duchess have so many beautiful things, so undoubtedly genuine, so practically priceless!"

"Yes," Dick agreed, "Dolores' furniture is undoubtedly genuine and practically priceless." His emphasis on the word "furniture" was brutally crude. Lorne realized that things had gone very far with him in a year of marriage, even further than she had expected in the time. Suddenly and feverishly she began to enjoy herself. Dick's entrance had been a great shock, but now she was glad he had come. She was going to get some of her own back. He was certainly asking for it!

She gazed at him appraisingly, while he gazed at her as if something within him were about to burst.

He was handsomer than ever, but his boyishness was gone. He was all man now, a sad, disillusioned man.

Lorne made no comment on the remark about Dolores' furniture. She offered Dick coffee, and gave him his cup which he rose to take from her hands.

"The same cups," Dick muttered, as if to himself. His melancholy glance moved from one familiar object to another. "The same everything!"

"Yes," agreed Lorne. "The same—almost everything."

"And," he murmured on, "the things all in their old places; the chairs, the tables, the desk; even the big flower jars on the floor. They might be the same flowers!"

"Ah, but these are not the same hours!" said Lorne.

"My God, no!" exclaimed Dick.

"You haven't got a cold, have you?" inquired Lorne, kindly. "Your voice sounds a little hoarse."

"I have no cold," he said.

"Perhaps you smoke too much," she suggested, in a conversation making way. "I used to think you did, but just at the moment there's something I'm anxious to learn."

"What's that?" he asked, sharply.

"Well, you will forgive me, won't you? I'd like to know—er—to what exactly I owe the pleasure of this visit. Is it business, or—well, it might be friendship, of course. We never really quarrelled, I'm glad to remember."

"Lorne, you're cruel!" he broke out.

"Cruel? I don't see how. May I take your cup? Then you can smoke comfortably."

Dick gave her the cup and didn't go back to his chair. He stood beside her, looking down.

"I suppose," he said, "you think it's very brazen, very bad taste, my coming to Los Angeles at all. No wonder if you do. Heaven knows I didn't want to come. Or, no, I don't mean that; I wanted badly, damnably to come; but I wouldn't have come in spite of all the wanting, only she—for some secret reason of her own, Dolores was determined to come here. I couldn't stop her, so I came, too."

A Friend in Need

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Desperate Plea for Assistance.

"We are so badly in need that I am almost frantic and don't know what is to become of the children. They have almost nothing to wear and I am afraid to let them out of doors. If you could get some warm things for them, it would help so much. The boys are 16 and 11 and the girl is 7. My husband wears size 42 and I wear size 16 or 18; shoes, size 5½.

"Mrs. L. I."

If your children are approximately the same ages as those in the I. family perhaps you'll have some of the clothing they need so urgently. Outgrown and discarded garments, if warm, would prove a godsend at this time.

Movie Gossip As It's Heard in Hollywood

Hilarity Rules at Party Stars Attend.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 20.—One of the big scenes of the party given for James and Lucile Webster Gleason at the Embassy club was when Jack Oakie suddenly became inspired to pour a drink of punch for his girl friend, Joan Marsh. Jack's idea of a drink for a lady was the grandiloquent one of going to the table, taking a 25 pound silver punch bowl from the hands of astonished waiters and carrying it across the room to Joan's table. It was all rather embarrassing.

Two hundred guests attended the Gleason party. Anna Q. Nilsson showed up for one of her rare appearances since coming back from Sweden to continue her recuperation. Russell Gleason, son of the guests of honor, again showed up with Mary Brian. Gene O'Brien, who has not been around the Hollywood bright places much since he was the old favorite of many Norma Talmadge romances, reappeared to do honor to the Gleasons, and was himself glad handed on all sides. He sat at a table with Adele Rowland. Virginia Bruce, one of the young new constellation, came with Billy Bakewell.

Dolores Del Rio looked aloof and exotic. Lew Cody looked chummy and happy and kept looking more so as the evening wore on. He congratulated Mrs. Gleason three times. Mrs. Gleason was the perfect guest of honor. She wore white lace and knowing that it is something of a Hollywood custom for the party guests to forget about greeting their hostess and guests of honor, when the crowd is as big as that at the Embassy, Mrs. Gleason pressed through the tables and dance floors until she had exchanged a kind word with each one of the 200 present.

The party took place after opening of the Gleasons' new stage run here in "The Fall Guy" at Hollywood El Capitan theater.

Esther Ralston and family receive $3,500 a week for her vaudeville salary. This pays for services of George Webb, her husband, who is an actor and business manager for the troupe, and for the five month old baby which Esther cuddles in her arms during one scene.

The shakeup on the Fox lot this week countermanded orders which had been issued for remaking portions of Alan Dwan's recently completed "While Paris Sleeps." The film is going east for release as Dwan made it. Half the Fox lot is still consumed with excitement and uncertainty over continuance of their jobs.

Dean Cornwell's mural paintings depicting California history, and intended for the walls of the new Los Angeles Public library, are the talk of highbrow circles here. Seems Dean, carried away by his enthusiasm for something ideally good, had far exceeded the contract requirements for his work; in fact his murals are so lavish and so impressive that the library, instead of Cornwell seems to be making all the profit on the deal.

Dorothy R. Burke, estranged wife of Johnny Burke, the ex-Sennett comedian and stage monologist, was held to answer by Justice E. H. Billings of West Hollywood court when she tried to beat a charge of drunk driving. Mrs. Burke, who is an actress, struck two other cars.

Food Talk.

Fish is the most abundant of all foods, and when properly cooked its nutritive value is high. There are from forty to fifty varieties of fresh fish, among which the most familiar are salmon, haddock, flounder, halibut, cod, and mackerel.

Fish is often quite neutral in taste and needs an extra touch to "tone it up" and develop its natural flavor. Garnishes are ever important, and may be depended upon to add decorative qualities to any fish platter. Sauces which accompany fish should always be highly flavored, smooth and delicious. Sample as you go along, to achieve just the right gastronomical note.

A piquant accompaniment to either boiled or fried fish is tartar sauce served in lemon baskets. Thousand island dressing, lemon triangles, caviar or finely chopped sweet pickles in cucumber cups, asparagus tips in pepper rings, radish roses—all of these are delightful and colorful fish garnishes. Stow the recipes given today in a convenient place in your cook book, for they are well worth the clipping.

LEMON BASKETS WITH TARTAR SAUCE.

Select lemons with unblemished skins, allowing one lemon for each person to be served. To prepare a basket, cut around the sides of the lemon a little above the center, making the bud end the top, and at opposite sides, leaving one-half inch uncut to form the handle. Cut from each side of this strip over the top to the opposite side, leaving the one-half inch strip for the handle. Remove the two wedges from either side. Scoop out the pulp.

The recipe for tartar sauce for the baskets follows:

TARTAR SAUCE.

1½ tablespoons of minced sour pickles.
1 tablespoon of minced chives.
Few drops of onion juice.
1 cup of mayonnaise.
1 teaspoon of minced capers.
1 teaspoon of minced parsley.
1 tablespoon of vinegar.

Combine the ingredients, and this serves from four to six people.

Sautéing is a common and delicious way of preparing fresh fish. If you like a sauce with fish cooked in this fashion, a remoulade one is good.

REMOULADE SAUCE FOR SAUTED FISH.

1 hard-cooked egg yolk.
1 raw egg yolk.
½ teaspoon of mustard.
1½ teaspoons of salt.
⅛ teaspoon of sugar.
1 teaspoon of chopped parsley.
3½ tablespoons of cider vinegar.
1 cup of olive oil.
1 tablespoon of chopped sour gherkins.

Press the cooked egg yolk through a sieve. Add the raw egg yolk, beaten, the mustard, salt, sugar, and one tablespoon of vinegar. Stir well. Add the oil gradually, beating constantly with a rotating egg beater. As the mixture thickens, add, gradually, the remaining vinegar. Add the chopped parsley and gherkins last. Serve at once.

Now for the haddock of tomorrow evening's dinner. Even if this is an expensive entrée, it suffers not in palatability.

BAKED STUFFED FILLETS OF HADDOCK.

¾ cup of bread or cracker crumbs.
⅛ teaspoon of pepper.
1 tablespoon of chopped cucumber pickle.
1-3 cup of hot water.
Few drops of onion juice.

Melt the butter in hot water and add the remaining ingredients, mixing them with a fork. Lay one fillet of fish, skin side down, in a greased baking pan; spread the dressing over it, and lay the second fillet, skin side up, over this. Pour two-thirds of a cup of milk or water around the fish. Bake about forty minutes in a moderately hot oven [375 degrees Fahrenheit], basting frequently.

"Betty" Has to Sell Marriage Idea to a Man Who's Balking

BY DORIS BLAKE.

She is 23; he is 27. He is attentive, in his own fashion. He claims he cannot afford marriage. His income is $5,000 a year.

He tells every one he is afraid of women; all they do is to make trouble. Twice a week, in spite of his fear, he calls on the girl. He takes her out frequently. She adores him. But how to get him in to matrimonial line is the burning problem. She tries the old gag of telling with a sigh how her girl friends are being escorted to the altar. He responds: "Any one who is foolish enough to do that might just as well commit suicide."

Breaking down the man's marriage resistance is the long [or short] road ahead for "Betty." I'd predict short, in this instance. I base my premise on the outspoken declarations. It's when a man is silent, evasive on the subject that the girl is in for the long pull. When he begins barking aloud like Mr. 27, he is surely riding for a fall.

Men argue with themselves. Out loud. The wise young woman ventures no retort. Just lets the steam blow off and gets in her very best licks between outbursts.

The rule in these relationships, I might say in all romantic relationships, is not to take every declaration as final. Not to attach too serious import to every statement made. Let actions be the guide. When a man comes calling twice a week, takes a girl out frequently, has no other girl on the string, well, it is just too bad for him if he thinks he is going to escape the matrimonial net. There is a Justice in the cupid picture, Justice aided and abetted by pure Eve reasoning.

Eve reasons that most men are less anxious to be tied in marriage than women are.

Doctor Urges Parents to Let Children Alone

Elders' Mistakes Are Far Reaching, He Says.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Parents were advised yesterday to keep "hands off" their children in the early formative years as a preventive of unstable emotional life in maturity. According to Dr. George B. Lake, editor of Clinical Medicine and Surgery, it is only through their own experiences that children do grow into self-sustaining adults.

Dr. Lake discussed the relation of handicraft to mental health at a meeting of the Chicago Woman's club. Another speaker was Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of the medical school of Northwestern university. There the club supports a curative workshop.

"Let us spread the gospel to let young children decide what they want to do, then hands off," declared Dr. Lake. "Let them experience the results. It is only by experience that one grows into a self-sustaining adult.

"The mental status of any human being definitely is determined in childhood. In too many cases the activities of children are hampered or suppressed. The child in the majority of cases is decidedly limited by lack of sympathetic encouragement in his useful and rational methods by which he expresses his individuality.

"Every child is entitled to and should receive understanding of the things calling for expression of himself or herself and should receive a judicious hearing to develop as a human being."

Dr. Lake warned against curtailing the play of children, declaring play to be "the child's business." Every waking hour should be filled, he said, with constructive play that the child himself chooses, because he knows better than the adult what is good for him.

"This universe came into being by an act of creation, and since then the impulse to create has been second only to that of self-preservation," Dr. Lake continued. "The primitive expression of this urge is sex desire. In its higher expressions it results in the paintings of a Rembrandt or the music of a Beethoven. All persons feel a vague sense of lack unless they are creating—building or making something.

"People who are mentally or physically handicapped by reason of congenital deformities or defects, accident or disease, need the inspiring and restorative effects of creative activity. In addition to furnishing an expression of one's inner self the knowledge of a craft also results in self-respect—the ability to be self-supporting."

Dr. Lake pointed out that a broken hand, a distorted spine, or a hare lip are not merely deformities, but tend to reduce the self-esteem of the individual. Therefore, he added, the creative instinct of those handicapped must not be neglected, for many of these people, to escape their handicap, often turn to alcohol, narcotics, hysteria, or dementia præcox.

"The occupational therapist tries to restore to as great a degree as possible the self-confidence of the handicapped in that they can become useful members of society."

Dean Cutter congratulated the Chicago Woman's club on the success of the curative workshop and expressed the hope that it will be the beginning of similar shops in other schools throughout the country.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

When a man jams down on his brakes and comes to a quick stop by sliding his tires, it never occurs to you to think that he is simply fooling around. For one reason or another he wanted to stop and to stop quickly.

Yet many bridge players will put on their bidding brakes by sticking in a fourth hand overcall when their adversaries have bid less than a game. A bid in this position should never be made as an idle gesture. It should only be made when you have something real to say. In other words, when you, yourself, have hopes of a game. It is certainly ridiculous merely for the sake of stopping your adversary from making a partial score to keep the bidding open and take a chance of their rebidding to a possible game-going declaration. Take yesterday's play-a-problem, which was:

NORTH
♥—A,J
♦—A,Q

WEST
♠—6,5,4
♥—5
♦—K,6,5,4,3
♣—J,7,6,5

EAST (Dealer)
♠—A,Q,7
♥—Q,8,7,6
♦—J,10,9,8

SOUTH
♠—K,9,8,2
♥—K,10,9,4,3,2

East opened the bidding with one no-trump and South and West passed. Now if North had held a mere defensive overcall, i. e., a hand containing a biddable suit and a minimum of 1½ high card tricks, he would have passed—at least, he should have passed. Having better than 2½ high card tricks, North bid, making a bid of two clubs. This is not a defensive bid, but it is an offensive or attacking overcall. East passed, South bid two hearts, West passed, North bid two no-trumps to deny the hearts. East passed, South bid three hearts, affirming at least a five card suit; West passed, and now North took the bid to four hearts.

West opened the ♣ 5, dummy played the 8, East taking the trick with the K and declarer playing the ♣ 3. East now led the ♣ A, which declarer trumped with the ♥ 2. South then led the ♥ 3 to dummy's A, dummy leading back the J, which he finessed, and then the ♣ 4, which South trumped with the ♥ 9. South now led the ♦ 7, which dummy captured with the Q, West playing low from his K. Dummy returned the ♣ Q and followed by playing out the ♣ 10-9 and the ♦ A. Declarer had discarded all his spades but the K on dummy's clubs. Dummy now led the ♠ J, East played the A, South the K, and West the 6. East now led the ♥ 8, which South overtook with the 10, leading back his ♥ K to the last trick, making their game and one extra. A rather unusual elimination play.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITAIRE OR PARTNERS

Play this hand tonight at your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play in the spaces provided. Numbers in the bidding squares are for successive rounds. Check your results with tomorrow's answer.

To play "Solitaire": Record the bids you think each hand would make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card cross it off of the diagram and record it in the proper square, as S. 3, H. K, etc. In the last column indicate the hand which won the round and lead from that hand on the next round.

Child's Questions About Death Are Hardest to Answer

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

One of the hardest questions put to me is: "What shall I tell my children about death?" It is hard to answer because your answer should be based on your belief, and many of us no longer have the oldfashioned "heaven or hell" conception of death.

I am not, in this article, attempting to tell how we can answer our children's questions, but it may be helpful to give some suggestions about what not to say. And of course this only applies to those people who are in a quandary, not those whose faith is firm and definite.

Don't connect death with burial, if you can possibly help it. When the child is little this can be avoided. Some children, of course, can be very objective about even this, particularly if death has not touched them, but many childhood fears are connected with half-understood explanations of being "put in a box in the earth," "being buried in the ground," etc. One child actually disliked her mother for a long time because she held her responsible for putting her beloved father in the earth.

Try not to associate sickness and death. Many children who are imaginative or suggestible develop a fear of sickness because of its connection with death. A slight cold necessitating bed and discomfort can cause as much anxiety to a child as a more serious illness.

If your child says a night prayer be sure there is no suggestion of death in it. "If I should die before I wake" is a rather terrible possibility and one that the child can be quite conscious of.

Sometimes instead of trying to instruct the child in beliefs and ideas concerning death, we might learn from him. If not much has been given him in the way of belief but if there have been talks that tend to bring out what the child feels, some very spiritual, revealing and fascinating ideas will develop. One little child at the age of 4 had a whole conception of the continuity of life that had never been given him or suggested to him. The only explanation is that he brought it with him. "Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings," perhaps.

THURNBLAD BEATS KENNEY; TIES FOR CUE LEAD

SENATE PASSES 15 ROUND BILL BY 38 TO 3 VOTE

Expect House to Do Likewise.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The fifteen round boxing bill passed the state senate today, 38 to 3. Harry Wilson, Pinckneyville; Ray Paddock, Wauconda, and James J. Barbour, Evanston, voted against it.

As explained by Richey V. Graham of Chicago, the bill would allow Illinois to enter competition with nine other states for heavyweight championship bouts. It also increases the state tax on boxing tickets from 10 to 15 per cent, the additional 5 per cent to be returned to counties for charitable purposes.

Goes to House Now.

Those who spoke in favor of the bill included Charles E. Lee, Decatur; William R. McCauley of Olney and Roy Woods of Chicago. Senator Woods also lambasted ticket scalpers and prophesied that if Chicago gets a heavyweight contest, "you senators will be forced to pay $50 for your seat, if you want a good one."

The bill now goes to the house, where its chances to pass appear good.

EXPECT PASSAGE IN HOUSE

The senate's favorable action on the fifteen round boxing bill yesterday was accepted by Chicago fight leaders last night as assurance that the measure would be passed by the house without incident. It will have no immediate effect on the boxing situation throughout the state, though, promoters and matchmakers declared.

Nate Lewis, matchmaker for the Chicago Stadium, said he would make no attempt to bring the proposed Max Schmeling—Jack Sharkey title fight here, since the stadium had been led to believe the bout was signed, sealed, and delivered to Madison Square Garden.

"An attempt by us to secure the match under such circumstances would only lead to more publicity for the principals and the Garden," Lewis pointed out, "and we do not care to take part in their build up."

Only Heavyweights Affected.

Other championship fights will not be affected by the bill, Lewis said, since the measure deals expressly with the heavyweight title. Bouts for championships in all other classes will be contested under the present ten round rule.

Earlier in the winter when a Schmeling-Walker bout was proposed, the Stadium attempted to obtain it. Schmeling insisted, however, that it be a 15 round affair when other propositions were made him. Schmeling insisted on a $50,000 bond insuring him against failure of the legislature to pass the pending 15 round bill. The Stadium refused to enter into such a deal and Joe Jacobs, the champion's manager, and Schmeling ultimately gained their release from all agreements to resume negotiations with eastern promoters.

May Bring Other Bouts.

"The bill is a nice thing to have," Lewis elaborated. "Later on Chicago may have a genuine opportunity to get a heavyweight title bout. All the major championships should be contested over the 15 round route. When Chicago's turn comes, the distance will be no barrier and the state will be in a position to profit by the increased ticket tax.

"Would we make a bid for the Schmeling-Sharkey bout? Why certainly, we would. We would be glad to have it. And we will make a bid when we are assured that the bout has not been signed elsewhere and our offers are not used just to spur ticket sales for a rival promoter."

Miami, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Charley McAllister, Queens Valley, N. Y., and Jack Hagen, Salisbury, N. Y., halted a three hole rally by Willie Dow, Fargo, N. D., and John Watson, South Bend, Ind., to win, one up, on the eighteenth hole in their quarter final match today in a professional four ball golf tournament.

Dow and Watson started their rally when they won the 13th, 14th and 15th holes. The 16th was halved. Watson sank a birdie three on the 17th, but Hagen came to the front with another three to halve, and they divided the 18th with McAllister and Hagen one up.

Wild Bill Mehlhorn, New York, and Walter Bourne, Princeton, N. J., won 4 and 3 from Fred Miley, Lexington, Ky., and Jack Thompson, Youngstown, O.

Willie MacFarlane, Tuckahoe, N. Y., and Charlie Fairman, Kokomo, Ind., won, 4 and 3, from Jules Huott, Quebec, and Frank Stuhler, Boston, Mass. In the fourth match Earl Howell, Miami, and Eddie Williams, Cleveland, disposed of Jim Dante, Braeburn, N. J., and Eddie Schultz, Troy, N. Y., 3 and 2.

A. A. Ignores Suggestion to Travel by Air

The American association's 1932 campaign will get under way April 12 and close Sept. 25, these dates being the same selected by the major leaguers for their start and finish. The A. A. card was decided upon yesterday at a meeting of owners at the Congress hotel. The schedule provides for the customary 168 games, which is 14 games per team more than played by the big leaguers.

The threat of the association bosses to desert the railroads and travel by airplane and bus, didn't materialize. The proposal was originally offered on the excuse that it would save both time and money, but some of the owners did not want to ship valuable players by plane and there also was some fear that a number of the athletes would refuse to become air-minded.

Evans Represents Toledo.

The airplane-bus mode of travel was suggested after the railroads had refused to offer reduced party rate transportation for ball clubs. The railroads involved may alter their attitude.

One of the representatives at the meeting was Billy Evans, general manager of the Cleveland American league club. He was looking after the interests of the Toledo franchise, which the Cleveland club recently took over for use as a farm. Evans affirmed the report that Bib Falk, now on the Cleveland roster, might be selected to manage the Mudhens.

Evans also revealed that efforts were being made to locate a spring training field at New Orleans for the Toledo gang. The Indians train there and having their minor league brothers in the vicinity would simplify matters for the owners.

Milwaukee Opens at Toledo.

The opening games for the A. A. race will be Milwaukee at Toledo, Kansas City at Columbus, St. Paul at Louisville, and Minneapolis at Indianapolis.

The International league held its annual schedule meeting at New York yesterday and approved a 168 game schedule opening April 13. The first games will be Toronto at Newark, Rochester at Jersey City, Montreal at Reading, and Buffalo at Baltimore.

LINDSTROM SIGNS WITH NOTATION "I'M SATISFIED"

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The New York Giants' holdout list was further reduced today with the receipt of Freddie Lindstrom's signed contract.

The handy man of John McGraw's team sent the document from Sarasota, Fla., with an accompanying note that he was "perfectly satisfied." Whether Lindstrom was asked to take a cut, Secretary Jim Tierney would not say.

Only three Giants now remain as avowed holdouts. They are Bill Terry, first baseman, Freddie Fitzsimmons, pitcher, and Fred Leach, outfielder.

Contract matters, meantime, were at a standstill in the Yankees' camp. Bill Dickey, slugging catcher, was reported not only unwilling to sign for $10,000, a reduction of 20 per cent, but determined to get a raise.

Brooklyn received a combination of good and bad news. The veteran John Picus Quinn, one of the few surviving spitball pitchers, sent in his signed contract, but word came from San Francisco that Gordon Slade, young infielder, and Ernest Lombardi, catcher, were returning unsigned papers offering them the same salary as last year.

Wabash was able to score only 3 points, all free throws, in the first half, while De Pauw got 13. Moffett, De Pauw forward, led his team's scoring with 13 points.

Pernice, Steger Lose in North Side Bouts

Thirteen bouts marked the opening of the first annual north side suburban amateur boxing championships last night at the Belle Plaine A. C., 3943 Lincoln avenue. About 1,200 witnessed the first and second rounds of the 112, 118, 126 and 135 pound classes.

SHAMROCKS AND FLIERS RESUME FEUD TONIGHT

Second Place at Stake in Stadium Battle.

Second place in the American Hockey league is the stake at the Chicago Stadium tonight when the Shamrocks meet the St. Louis Fliers. The Shamrocks lead their opponents by two points. St. Louis must win the game to tie.

Tuesday night's defeat of the Shamrocks at St. Louis was the Fliers' eighth victory in 10 games. Their winning streak began when they were at the bottom of the league.

Fliers Have Edge.

Tonight's game will be the fifth between the two teams. The Fliers have the edge, having beaten the Shamrocks twice and tied them once. The local team's only victory of the series was a 4 to 0 rout registered at the Stadium.

Peewee Wiseman, youthful Shamrock wing, is threatened with water on the knee, but will be in the game. The rest of the squad is in good shape except for minor cuts and bruises. Tony Prelesnik has a broken nose, and Ade Johnson and Gordie Brydson are suffering from cuts above the eyes. The Shamrock captain wandered too close to the net Tuesday night for Goalie Herb Rheaume's nerves, and the aggressive Flier net keeper used his stick.

Kid Lines to Meet.

Burns, MacKenzie and O'Neill probably will start tonight for the Shamrocks, with Buswell and Headley on defense. McFadyen, Johnson and O'Neill will receive the second call on the forward line. The Shamrock kid line, Prelesnik, Riley and Wiseman, the highest scoring trio in the league, will resume their assault upon Rheaume, whom they missed beating several times Tuesday night.

St. Louis' own kid line of Red Jackson, Bill Kendall and Jack St. John probably will be Manager Carroll's starting choice. Carroll's second best set of forwards consists of Billy Hill, Chubby Scott and Shrimp McPherson, the Fliers' high scorer. On defense he will have Burr Williams, star; Johnny Loucks, former Boston Bruin; Andy Mulligan, ex-Shamrock, and Walt Creasy. Lineups:

SHAMROCKS.		ST. LOUIS FLIERS.
Byrne	G	Allen Rheaume
Buswell	L. D.	Loucks
Headley	R. D.	Williams
MacKenzie	C	Kendall
Burns	L. W.	Jackson

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BASKETBALL TITLE.

NORTHWESTERN'S basketball team is at least the mild surprise of the current Big Ten race. Although the Wildcats were defending champions, Purdue, with strong regulars and capable replacements, generally was picked in advance as most likely to land the title. The surprise, however, is not so much that Northwestern is leading as that any squad, unless possibly Purdue, could win five straight games in the evenly balanced competition of 1932.

Northwestern, on the other hand, is far from being "in." Five of the other nine teams have good mathematical chances. On the percentages Wisconsin, Chicago, Iowa, and Indiana are definitely out. Of the five other contending teams Ohio State, still undefeated, Michigan, and Purdue, have better comparative records on the number of points scored against them by opponents. On the other hand, Northwestern, against strong squads, has shown a scoring attack exceeded only by Indiana, which has won one game of five.

Operating against the present leaders, too, is the schedule for the remainder of the season. After Ohio State, Saturday night, Northwestern will have played four of its six home games. It still has a home and home series against the formidable Boilermakers, a home game with Iowa, but must play on foreign floors at Lafayette, Columbus, Ann Arbor, and Bloomington.

From the present outlook it will be surprising if each week does not see a "crucial" contest for one or more of the title contenders.

Rhyming Attempts.

Helper Grant recently challenged Wake contributors to find any words that would rhyme with orange or silver. There have been numerous attempts. W. A. Field would rhyme mange with orange and Wilbur with silver. B. T. M. inflicts fliver with silver. Beverl Wis tries sponge with orange. Geomack also likes Wilbur and silver. A. L. M. plays pilfer with silver; arrange, change, range, exchange, and estrange with orange. None of these registered quite 100 per cent with us, so we leave it to our readers whether or not Helper Grant is still triumphant.

Helper Glad of Quincy arises to the occasion by remarking that for four years a certain party has been trying to rhyme Republican with prosperity.

Then, too, Helper Rock thinks lemon, bosom, mouth, and cherub are words difficult in verse.

RYERSON TAKES MEDAL IN MIAMI AMATEUR GOLF

Miami, Fla., Jan. 20.—(AP)—J. B. Ryerson of Cooperstown, N. Y., hurrying through his qualifying round as darkness settled over the course, today carded 39—34—73 to win medalist honors in the Glenn Curtiss trophy invitation amateur golf tournament here.

His 34 on the last nine was two under par and snatched medalist honors from H. F. Bowbeer of Chicago, who led early qualifiers with a 75.

Winfield Day, Chicago school boy, stood third with 76.

UTERITZ IS GIVEN REGENTS' O. K. AS BADGER DIRECTOR

Then Legislators Ask for Little's Return.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Irwin C. Uteritz was approved as director of intercollegiate athletics at the University of Wisconsin by the board of regents today. Uteritz's appointment is for one year, with the matter of salary undecided.

IRWIN C. UTERITZ.

At the same time the regents unanimously accepted the resignation of George Little as director of athletics and of Glenn Thistlethwaite as football coach, but they offered Little the position of director of intramural athletics.

Meanwhile a resolution was introduced in the state assembly asking that Little be retained as director.

No Action on Football Coach.

Little asked the regents for time to consider the intramural offer, stating that he had other positions in view, and the regents allowed him until Feb. 8 to reach a decision. The matter of a head football coach to succeed Glenn Thistlethwaite was not considered and will not be taken up until the next meeting of the regents.

Daniel Grady, Madison, introduced a resolution recommending that the present athletic council of ten members be abolished and that an athletic board of seven members be chosen to function along the same lines. On the new board would be four faculty members, one student, one alumnus, and the chairman of the regents' committee on physical education.

Legislators Hit Council.

President Frank opposed the resolution of Grady, but the matter was settled when it was decided to have Frank present the resolution to the faculty and make a report at the next meeting of the regents.

The resolution introduced in the state assembly by the joint legislative committee which has been investigating Badger athletics includes a severe criticism of the faculty members of the athletic council.

The resolution read in part:

"The University of Wisconsin is one of the oldest and most highly regarded institutions of the state. The citizens of Wisconsin have always been able to point with pride to the progress of the university in academic lines.

"Disappointment to Alumni."

"But the varying fortunes of its intercollegiate athletic teams have always been a source of great disappointment, not only to the state at large but to thousands of loyal alumni throughout the United States.

"The recent legislative investigation of the athletic situation has disclosed the fact that one of the principal causes of the failure of the university sport teams to compete on equal terms with teams of similar institutions is due to the personnel of the faculty members of the athletic council, the majority of whom have been members for nearly 20 years and have failed to recognize the necessity for progress along athletic lines."

The resolution then asked the board of regents to reorganize the athletic council "so that the department of physical education will be able to keep pace with the modern trend in intercollegiate athletics," and demanded Little be reinstated as director of athletics.

LITTLE AT IOWA CITY

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Dr. E. H. Lauer, director of University of Iowa athletics, said today that George Little, who recently resigned as athletic director at the University of Wisconsin, would be here Friday to look over the Hawkeye football coaching job.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Art Thurnblad of Chicago, the world's champion at three cushion billiards, fought through the hardest game of the title tournament at Mussey's Recreation last night and beat Len Kenney of Chicago, 50 to 41, in 47 innings.

When he brought all his skill into motion to collect shots which were to bring him from behind to win, he threw the battle for the leadership into a three-way tie.

Earlier in the day Johnny Layton, the former world's champion, and Frank Scoville, the Buffalo fellow who specializes in kicking over the big shots, had also turned in victories. So Thurnblad, Layton and Scoville each have two triumphs to his credit.

Kenney Takes Early Lead.

Kenney, who, so the gossip goes, has beaten Thurnblad many times lately, as they drilled for the championship tournament, played so cleverly in the early stages that it looked as if he was going to overthrow the champion. For many innings he was just far enough in front to tantalize the crown wearer. Every time Thurnblad threatened to catch up with him, Kenney would spurt out into a new lead.

Kenney once was in front by a score of 30 to 26. In the 23d inning Thurnblad started to rally. In the next seven innings he clicked off 19 billiards to 7, which Kenney was able to collect. The champion was thoroughly aroused when he started his drive. He began to smash the balls in all directions.

It was a different sort of a game than the careful Thurnblad usually plays, but it was bringing results and he kept up the firing until he was well out in front. In the first 19 innings the score had been tied three times. The lead had changed from one player to the other on 11 occasions.

Scoville Proves He Is Good.

Until he beat Copulos last night, Scoville was considered just a flash in the pan. He had beaten Layton a year ago. He had trounced the brilliant Hall here Tuesday afternoon. Still the skeptical three cushion fans would have no faith in him. So when he clashed with Copulos the latter was the 2 to 1 favorite.

But right from the beginning Scoville began to demonstrate that he is a little something more than a sprinkler salesman, who had wooed Lady Luck so feverishly that she smiled at him. He outplayed Copulos at every turn.

Scoville clicked off a run of five and three runs of four. He had clusters of them in three innings. He was averaging better than a billiard an inning, and that was too much for Copulos. In the 30th inning Scoville was leading by a dozen points. He held to his wide margin right up until the 48th inning, when he scored the winning point.

The afternoon matches were just the kind old Doctor Three Cushions might have ordered. For Allen Hall and Johnny Layton, two of the tournament favorites, were victorious. Layton, after the most stubborn sort of a battle, defeated Jay Bozeman, the youthful Californian, 50 to 41 in 53 innings. Hall spanked his former pupil, Bud Westhus of St. Louis, 50 to 30 in 51 innings.

The scores:

STADIUM SIGNS JONES, BOZO FOR JAN. 28 BATTLE

Tourney Bout to Support Title Feature.

Billy Jones, Philadelphia boxer, and Battling Bozo of Birmingham, Ala., will meet in a supporting bout to the Jackie Fields-Lou Brouillard welterweight title fight at Chicago Stadium next Thursday. They are matched for ten rounds at 175 pounds. The bout is one of two light heavyweight championship tournament matches on the card.

Jones will be seeking his third victory in the series of bouts, having defeated Larry Johnson decisively in his last start. He is a clever boxer and is one of the tournament favorites. Bozo is called the clown of the ring, but he is really shifty and smart and may make Jones look as bad as other boxers he has met. Both men will be here Monday to finish training.

Scozza Meets Nichols.

The other 175 pound tourney contest is also scheduled for ten rounds and brings together Lou Scozza and George Nichols, Buffalo, N. Y., fighters. Dave Maier, Baxter Calmes, and Harry Ebbets are the remaining contestants in the tournament.

Franta Nekolny, European welterweight champion, who battles Jackie Brady in a ten round bout, worked out yesterday at the Arcade gymnasium and showed an aggressive, pleasing style of fighting.

Brady Is Busy, Too.

Brady is doing light training at Trafton's gymnasium. He doesn't need much work following his draw fight with King Tut recently and will work only enough to hold his edge.

Brouillard, the champion, and Fields are within easy reach of the championship weight of 147 pounds for their ten round bout. Lou is a natural 145 pound boxer and Fields is scaling 150 pounds.

Jackie Davis, Springfield, Ill., junior welterweight, will seek his 28th straight victory when he meets Harry Dublinsky of Chicago in the eight round windup bout in Pep Kerwin's show tomorrow night at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Babe Colima of Mexico will engage Jackie Stewart of Louisville, Ky., in the eight round semi-final contest. Colima whipped Kid Arizmendi, the featherweight who recently defeated Fidel La Barba.

Andy McCann, south suburban heavyweight champion, fights Nelson Bernard in the semi-final match on Promoter Jack Lund's and Frank Knipper's amateur card tomorrow night at Merry Garden arena. Anthony Marcy, Catholic Youth organization champion, battles Ted Haffey in the main event. Six other matches round out the program.

George Haberski, Catholic Youth organization titleholder, and Bud Ginter, Central A. A. U. bantamweight champion, headline the amateur program tomorrow at the Northwest Lions Athletic club, 4300 West North avenue. Jimmy Vacha and James Spata meet in the semi-windup match.

Costas Vassis of Greece will battle Bobby Vernon, Chicago, in a six round middleweight supporting bout to the Paul Pantaleo-Baxter Calmes ten round feature event at White City Monday. Les Finucane and Jud Judkins meet in a four round 160 pound encounter. Another four round contest will have Johnny Panek and Eddie Litz.

Big Boy Peterson, New Orleans, La., heavyweight, wired his Chicago representative, Barney Abel, yesterday that he is ready to fight after a rest of several weeks. Milwaukee promoters want to use Peterson late this month.

Chuck Heffner, Denver, Colo., middleweight, had the cast removed yesterday from the hand he broke in his losing fight with Johnny Baima. He will return from Denver next week to resume training.

King Levinsky, Chicago heavyweight, his sister-manager, Mrs. Lena Levy, and his trainers, Sam Buxbaum, Harold Steinman and Sammy Levy, will leave today for New York to finish training for his bout against Max Baer Jan. 29. Levinsky and his party leave the La Salle street station at 12:40 o'clock.

NEW TRIER FIVE DEFENDS LEAD AT EVANSTON

New Trier High school's heavyweight basketball team, Suburban league leader, will seek its fourth consecutive victory tomorrow night when it invades Evanston for the feature game of the week-end schedule.

Led by co-captains, Frank Church and Colin Finlayson, New Trier has set a fast pace and is the only undefeated team in the league. It has won from Oak Park, Proviso and Deerfield-Shields.

Church Is Star.

It was Church's basket in the final minute that gave New Trier its victory over Oak Park, the defending champion, in the opening game of the season. Church, who will be in the lineup against Evanston tomorrow night, was the leading Suburban league scorer last year.

Other New Trier stars who will appear at Evanston are Dick Joslin, left forward; Tom Sinding, center; and Bob Gordon, guard. Evanston's squad is tied with Oak Park for second place, having dropped one of its three league games.

Two other games are scheduled in the Suburban league tomorrow night. Deerfield will meet Oak Park at the latter's fieldhouse and Proviso will travel to Cicero to meet Morton.

Crane Lights Win.

Crane's lightweight team, led by Shenfield, scored a 22 to 17 victory over Tuley in a west section City league game, at the latter's gymnasium yesterday. Shenfield scored three baskets and two free throws. Minkus also starred for the victors, scoring seven points. Tuley led at the half, 10 to 6. Lineup:

AGUA CALIENTE POSTS $10,000 FOR MATCH RACE

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Jan. 20.—(AP)—James N. Crofton, president of the Agua Caliente Jockey club, announced today the posting of a $10,000 purse for a match race here Sunday, Feb. 21, between Phar Lap, Australian horse; Marine, Canadian champion; Dr. Freeland, and possibly Plucky Play, two of the best in the United States.

Thomas P. Gorman, assistant general manager, said arrangements had been completed for the racing of D. J. Davis' Phar Lap, which is expected to arrive here within a week; Bennie Creech's Dr. Freeland, and Kenneth Dawes' Marine. He said he and Crofton planned to get in touch with Norman Church, owner of Plucky Play, immediately in an effort to complete arrangements for that horse's entrance.

No others will run in the event, a mile and one-sixteenth affair.

Vander Pool Is Second to 59-1 Shot at Miami

Miami, Fla., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Vander Pool met his second defeat in his eighteen races in the feature race at Hialeah Park today. He was beaten a nose by the Greentree stable's Comstockery, which paid $119.60 for $2. Kincsen was third. The running time was 1:24 4-5, seven furlongs, in the mud.

Smith Rides Winner.

Vander Pool, running My Dandy to defeat, took the lead, but, rounding into the stretch, Veslyn Smith, on Comstockery, challenged and at the wire had a slight advantage over the odds-on favorite. Only four started. Tommy Malley rode Vander Pool.

Vander Pool carried 126 pounds and Comstockery, an older horse, had up 110 pounds.

Sun Mask and Jockey Arthur proved a winning combination in the fourth event at a mile and an eighth. Silvery forced the pace throughout the trip and finished second, a length behind the winner and five lengths in advance of Red Face. Sun Mask took command at the break and continued in front during the entire journey. The winner paid $5 and was timed in 1:53 4-5.

Coady Beats Braggadocio.

Coady splashed his way to an easy victory over his three rivals in the seven furlongs of the third. The Cherokee gelding carried the silks of W. C. Weant to his second victory of the afternoon. Braggadocio weakened in the final furlong but lasted to save the place. Torealong finished third. Dedicate, the other starter, and the odds on choice, tired after a half mile and pulled up last. The winner paid $11.10 and stepped the route in 1:26 2-5.

FRANCE STILL WITHDRAWING GOLD FROM U. S.

But Our Reserves Not Affected.

New York, Jan. 20.—[Special.]—Gold in the amount of $19,393,100 was withdrawn from the Federal Reserve bank today for shipment to Europe, the amount including the second $12,000,000 shipment by the Bank of France in connection with its repatriation of its holdings of earmarked gold here.

Stocks of earmarked gold were reduced $4,027,200, which was approximately $8,000,000 less than the amount exported to France. Since the French shipments are known to represent transfers of earmarked gold, it was assumed in Wall street that the Bank of France had previously released sufficient gold to make up the difference, or would do so in the next day or so.

The transfer of earmarked gold holdings will not involve any increase in the gold reserves of the Bank of France nor any decrease in the monetary gold stocks of this country. Accordingly it will be without effect on the money market. The metal already belongs to the French bank of issue and is included in its statement of gold holdings; the repatriation of the gold simply involves a shifting of the actual metal from one place of storage to another.

Belgium to Follow France.

It also was learned that the National Bank of Belgium is planning to withdraw the gold which it has held under earmark in the federal reserve bank here for several months.

One estimate from abroad placed the total to be recalled by the Belgian Central bank as high as 600,000,000 Belgian francs, equivalent at par to about $84,000,000, but it was stated here that that estimate is too high, though the amount now held by that bank here is not known.

The most important fact is that this gold, like that to be recalled by France, had been bought by Belgian francs some time ago. Its transfer will have no effect upon New York banks or the monetary gold stock of the United States.

REACTION IN WASHINGTON

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The renewed withdrawal of gold on a large scale from the United States by France and the reported onslaught on dollar exchange in Paris are regarded by many administration officials as an attempt on the part of the French government to intimidate the United States into an agreement to reduce the eleven billion dollar war debts to the extent of any reduction of German reparations.

There is no specific evidence of this purported motive, and some Washington leaders believe the action of France is due merely to apprehension in Paris over possible inflation in America.

Those who see a motive of intimidation point to the fact that Premier Laval inquired of the Washington government a few days ago whether it would be disposed to scale down the war debts commensurately with reduction of reparations.

Congress Against It.

Congress last month declared against reduction of the war debts. Instead of returning that answer, the administration informed M. Laval that the American government will not consider that matter until the European governments decide whether reparations are to be reduced.

Thus, the administration returned a soft answer, calculated to inspire hopes in Paris that America is not so hostile to repudiation of the war debts by Europe as the declaration of congress would indicate.

Whether the character of the answer, which is widely regarded as a misrepresentation of the attitude of the American people, was the fruit of fear inspired by the French withdrawal of gold or of an administration conviction that congress will yield eventually to the Hoover plan for debt readjustment, is a matter of animated speculation hereabouts.

France Takes 125 Millions.

The tactics of the French banks, which have materialized concurrently with Premier Laval's diplomatic maneuvers, are attracting much attention. The Bank of France has begun repatriation of 125 million dollars of gold which it holds under earmark in the vaults of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. It is to go back to France in ten shipments.

This operation will not reduce the total gold stock in this country, which is now 4 billions 457 millions, for the reason that the French gold already had been withdrawn and earmarked last fall, when 700 millions of gold were withdrawn from this country by Europe.

In addition to this gold, however, the Bank of France has about 100 millions on deposit with American commercial banks and owns the greater part of the 75 millions in deposits and 285 millions of acceptances held by the federal reserve banks for the account of foreign correspondents.

The total dollar balances of the Bank of France in this country aggregate, it is estimated, between 400 and 450 millions.

Gold Scare in Poland.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Jan. 20.—The leading government daily, Kurjer Czerwony, sent dollar holders into a panic today by printing prominently a scarehead article that the "United States has resolved upon inflation." It was an interpretation of information concerning the $2,000,000,000 reconstruction corporation. The newspaper foretold a decline of 15 per cent in the dollar in the near future. The paper hinted at the advisability of selling dollars and purchasing the declining zloty.

See Economy Best Cure for Budget Ills

BY SCRUTATOR.

New York City, having already sold investors as many of its long term bonds as they are willing at present to buy and having in addition borrowed what it can on short term loans, needs still more money to meet maturing loans and cover its increased expenditures.

Other sources of credit having dried up, the city fathers demand that additional amounts be advanced by New York banks. The bankers have asked for time to make an investigation and have insisted that assurances be given that the mounting city expenditures will not be permitted to pile up to a point where the city's credit would be impaired.

Owes Around Two Billions.

New York City now owes about two billion dollars, and interest charges on its indebtedness consume one-fourth of its annual budget.

After learning that the bankers would insist on economy in the city's expenditures, the administration leaders sought to convey the impression that bankers were conspiring to interfere with the city government. They also made an unsuccessful attempt to have a provision inserted in the bill creating the Reconstruction Finance corporation, making it possible for the city to borrow from this organization.

"The truth is," says the Commercial and Financial Chronicle in its current issue, "there ought to be a thorough investigation of the affairs and administration of the city. One direction in which important reductions could be effected in the city budget, which now reaches $700,000,000 a year, is in the elimination of the salary increases which have been made so freely during the last dozen years.

"Two years ago, when the country was in the midst of the panic, Mayor Walker's own salary was raised from $25,000 to $40,000; that of the city controller from $25,000 to $35,000; the president of the board of aldermen from $15,000 to $25,000, etc. . . .

Cites Possible Pay Roll Cut.

"We notice that the Civil Service Reform association expressed the view that out of the $230,000,000 spent annually for the city pay roll, exclusive of the education department, 'about $50,000,000 could be saved without impairing the effectiveness of the public service in the abolition of useless positions and reduction in salaries of persons holding purely political offices.' It is time for action and the education department should not be excepted."

The bankers themselves have answered Mayor Walker through Thomas W. Lamont, who pointed out that the city already had $140,000,000 in short term indebtedness outstanding, no small portion of which rests in the portfolios of New York banks.

"Mayor Walker and his associates," he said, "undoubtedly realize that New York City, like the national government and other large governmental bodies and public corporations, must undertake measures of strict economy and, especially in these times, must proceed on a more restrained and orderly development of its construction programs; must make every effort, wherever possible, to transform existing enterprises which today are not self-supporting into ones that carry themselves and thus take a heavy burden off the city's budget."

Reckless Expenditures.

The Commercial and Financial Chronicle declares that the market for municipal bonds had dried up largely because of the way in which municipal officials have abused it.

"Municipalities," says the journal, "have been reckless in their expenditures, have incurred loads of indebtedness, have multiplied useless and unneeded offices simply to provide jobs for place hunters, and have increased the salaries of all of those in municipal employ as if the taxpayers had purses without limit.

"The day of reckoning has now come. They made one mistake which is now leading to their undoing. They not only kept piling up mountains of debt but, unfortunately for themselves, they have been carrying increasing portions of such debts in the shape of temporary loans which have to be renewed and again renewed."

Estimate Balaban & Katz Net Near $5 on Common

Net profit of the Balaban & Katz corporation and subsidiaries, controlled by the Paramount-Publix corporation, according to Dow, Jones & Co., for the year ended Dec. 27, 1931, will amount to approximately $1,500,000 after charges, including federal taxes, equal after 7 per cent preferred dividends to about $5 a share on the common stock, on which dividends amount to $3 annually. Inclusion of its portion of undivided profits of Publix Great States Theaters, Inc., in which Balaban & Katz previously owned a 30 per cent interest and acquired full control in December, may bring the net profit of the company to around $1,700,000. For the year ended Dec. 27, 1930, Balaban & Katz reported net profit of $2,289,263 after all charges, equal to $7.91 a share.

Chicago City and Connecting railways collateral trust for 1931 reported a net loss of $1,060,282 after charges and taxes. This compares with a net loss of $1,095,564 in the previous year.

CONDEMN BUYING BY RAIL LINES FROM SHIPPERS

Says Practice Swells Operating Costs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—Legislation to abolish what were described as "harmful practices" indulged in by railroads and manufacturers supplying equipment and supplies was recommended today in a report to the Interstate commerce commission by Examiners W. P. Bartel and J. L. Rogers.

The report was a scathing denunciation of the practice of many roads in purchasing only from manufacturers and dealers who in return route their traffic by way of the purchasing roads. This practice, it was said, in many instances results in increased operating expenses due principally to inferior quality of the goods purchased and higher prices paid for them.

The report disclosed how manufacturers and dealers who are also shippers of commodities usually purchased by railroads, "effectively influence the carriers in placing orders with their respective concerns by actual or threatened diversion of traffic directly or indirectly controlled." It added that "carriers in like manner use their purchasing power to influence the routing of competitive traffic."

Estimate Spending.

The commodities purchased under this reciprocity system amount annually to about $1,500,000,000, the report stated, and constitute between 25 and 30 per cent of total operating expenses.

"Any practice which unnecessarily increases the operating expenses of the carriers as a whole must ultimately cause an increased and unnecessary burden upon the public," the report declared.

As a remedy for the present situation the carriers proposed that the commission ask congress for an amendment to the interstate commerce act abolishing the present right of the shipper to specify the route over which his shipment should be transported, leaving the matter to the discretion of the railroad originating the traffic.

Ask Free Bidding.

A further proposal was "that authority be vested in the commission to require by order that purchases of any, or all materials, supplies, and equipment or other articles shall be made from the bidder whose bid is the most favorable to the carrier or carriers, to be ascertained by competitive bidding under regulations to be prescribed by rule or otherwise by the commission."

In a statement prepared by the bureau of railway economics and included in the report, the cost to class one carriers for purchases of fuel, materials and supplies in 1929 was placed at $1,329,535,000. It was said that "if the true results of the present practice could be brought to light, we believe that the unnecessary expense incurred thereby would be surprising."

STOCK TRADERS HERE CAUTIOUS; MARKET STEADY

Traders displayed a cautious attitude yesterday on the Chicago exchange and stocks moved within an extremly narrow range on dull trading. Motor stocks were inclined to slightly higher prices while the active utility issues after early weakness firmed up and closed near previous quotations.

Utility and Industrial corporation shares were unchanged and dull as the stockholders met in the east and approved reductions in the stated values of the common and preferred stocks. The action clears the way for the continuance of dividend payments on the senior issue which under the laws of Delaware is prohibited if the net value of the company's assets is below the stated value of the preferred stock. The stated value of the preferred stock was reduced to $7 a share from $23.50 and the common was cut to $1 a share from $16.31.

Retirement of 24,700 shares of preferred was also approved. Under the amended charter no dividend can be paid on the common stock until such time that the net asset value of the preferred is equal to its former stated value of $23.50 a share.

Some interest was displayed yesterday in Lindsay Light stock apparently on the strength of estimates that the company will report earnings of $1.85 a share for 1931. This would be an increase over 1930 when the company earned $1.31 a share. The issue moved up a point yesterday to 10¾ on transactions of 1,150 shares, a comparatively heavy turnover for the stock.

NAT. BISCUIT CO. EARNS $2.86 ON COMMON STOCK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 20.—The National Biscuit company reported today for the year ended Dec. 31, 1931 a net income, after depreciation, federal taxes and other charges of $19,739,491, equivalent, after preferred dividend requirements to $2.86 a share on 6,236,238 shares of common stock. This compares with a net income of $22,879,898 or $3.40 a share on 6,206,787 shares of stock in 1930.

Net income for the fourth quarter of last year was $5,206,579, equivalent after preferred dividend requirements, to 77 cents a share, against $6,111,124, equivalent to 91 cents a share in the last quarter of 1930.

Current assets of the company, on Dec. 31, 1931 were $43,902,626, including cash of $15,838,324, and New York City municipal bonds of $12,313,375. Current liabilities were $8,034,643.

Says Millions Now Holding Jobs Must Replace Goods

BY O. A. MATHER.

The business man who makes an intensive merchandising and advertising campaign in 1932 can break the dam which has been holding up the growing consumer demand of the 40,000,000 gainfully employed in this country, according to Gilbert T. Hodges, president of the Advertising Federation of America. Mr. Hodges spoke yesterday before members of the advertising council of the Association of Commerce in the Hotel La Salle.

G. T. HODGES. [Harris & Ewing Photo.]

Pointing out the futility of waiting for a legislative miracle or for some Moses to lead business out of the wilderness the federation head declared that those who wait for outside help will stagnate while those who step out and help themselves will not only make money but help make better times for everybody.

Forty Million Need Goods.

"The forty million people still at work will soon be forced to replace the goods they have worn out," he said. "Consumers who have been postponing the purchase of necessaries and luxuries, through fear rather than lack of means, are about at the end of their rope. The principle of absolescence has been getting in its work. Our clothes have become threadbare. Our automobiles are beginning to rattle. Our radios are out of date. Our furniture is getting shabby and our houses need paint."

With dealers' shelves and warehouses holding scanty stocks, factories will find it necessary to speed up to turn out the required goods, Mr. Hodges asserted. It is up to the individual company and business man to create new business and make new markets, he added.

Business Not So Bad.

To show how this can be done he cited the depression records of several companies in various lines who have turned bad times to profit through the development of new products and intensive advertising.

"Let me put before you the results of a survey made by the research bureau of the Advertising federation," Mr. Hodges said. "The bureau studied the records of 504 companies in many different lines. Of these, there were 303 concerns, or 60 per cent, which were making a net profit in 1931. In fact, 71 of them, or one out of every seven, earned a greater profit in 1931 than in 1930.

"In the group of cigaret manufacturers, four out of five companies increased their profits. Five of the eight grocery chains made larger profits. Every one of the six general chains on the list earned more money in 1931 than in 1930. Five out of nine manufacturers of cosmetics and drugs show bigger 1931 earnings, while the remaining four are only slightly under 1930. All the carpet manufacturers on the list increased their profits in 1931."

Points to Soap Industry.

The soap industry which started a campaign directing its advertising to 20 million children with the idea of educating in the idea of cleanliness was able to keep employés on the pay roll and make profits, he stated.

"The figures of 49 companies, producing about 90 per cent of the soap made in the United States, show that sales in the last two years were even better than before," he said. "Half of the reporting companies increased the volume, and half of the remaining firms kept production at former levels." The industry, he added, spent more than $1,000,000 in advertising in the depression years of 1930 and 1931.

He cited the record of an oil burner company which increased its advertising appropriation 30 per cent in 1930 with the result that its sales increased 56 per cent over 1929.

Can't Hold Markets in Vault.

One concern making kitchen cleaner maintained its sales and profits at the boom levels of 1929. A food company increased its sales and added 33 1-3 per cent more men to its pay roll. A piano company started to make motorboats and increased its profits. A manufacturer of piston rings also boosted its sales. A radio manufacturer expanded his 1930 sales about 100 per cent compared with 1929. A clock company increased its business last year. A solder company put on a campaign that enabled it to maintain capacity output.

Czecho-Slovak Action Will Restrict Imports

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Czecho-Slovakian imports will be very sharply restricted by a new government measure which provides that foreigners shipping goods into the country must show they are being paid with foreign exchange furnished by the Czecho-Slovakian National bank, with the approval of a special commission of the finance minister. Practically no manufactured goods are exempt from the order.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 20.—About the only noteworthy feature of today's stock market was its extreme narrowness. The number of issues traded in was the lowest in months. The volume just about duplicated yesterday's low for the year of 1,000,000 shares.

Price movements were of an indecisive character for the most part. Toward the close of the session constructive forces got busy in a number of outstanding pivotals, including American Can, Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, American Telephone, Case Threshing Machine and the like and put them through their paces for net gains of 1 to around 3 points. No plausible reason for the sudden burst of strength was apparent, however, and the leaders were unable to attract a following. The rank and file of the list contented itself with upturns of from a fraction to a point or so, with no visible increase in activity. As usual it was a professionals' market, with onlookers making no attempt to conceal their skepticism.

Trade Range Narrow.

Just how narrow the range of trading was may be guessed from the fact that various railroad, auto accessory, chemical and mining stocks which have been fairly prominent here of late in whatever direction the list happened to be moving failed to appear on the tape until late in the afternoon and a number of them did not come out at all.

Pools out to mark up their favorite headliners found virtually nothing in the day's news to aid them. On the other hand, the grist of Washington "filler" dividend actions and the like was no worse than it has been from the constructive viewpoint which made it pretty much of a deadfall for the opposing camps.

The Chicago railroad wage conference had both sides guessing. Up to now the prevailing opinion in Wall street has been that the wage cut was already on the cards and that an announcement of an agreement would come after the brotherhood delegates had been given an opportunity to do their stuff sufficiently to show the boys out on the line that they had gone to the last ditch in an effort to stave off the threatened reduction. With one postponement after another on the all-important showdown, however, it begins to look as if—from here—that things are not running so smoothly after all and that the roads may yet find themselves facing a long and costly fight before they succeed in chopping down their wage accounts.

Some Carriers Gain.

In spite of the bluish tinge assumed by the situation, however, a number of the carriers were boosted a couple of points or more each in the final hour spurt. Atchison, Union Pacific and New Haven made an especially good showing, all things considered.

Declaration of the usual extra dividend of $1 a share on the common and B shares of Liggett & Myers enabled these issues to count themselves in on Filing of a quitclaim deed to the ten story apartment property at 18 East Elm street from Emil A. Siebold to Stephen J. Fulton yesterday at the recorder's office revealed another step in the reorganization which will be outlined to the bondholders in a letter to be mailed either today or tomorrow by F. W. Heide, secretary of the bondholders' protective committee. A new building corporation is to be organized shortly to take over the ownership of the property.

GEO. S. BALLARD.

All of the stock in this corporation will be common and will be issued to three trustees for the benefit of the bondholders prorata their respective holdings of bonds. The trustees will issue certificates to each bondholder representing a beneficial interest in one share of stock in the new corporation for each $10 in par value of bonds and coupons deposited with the committee.

One of the three trustees will be named by the bondholders' committee, one will be the managing trustee of the Leight trust, and the third will be chosen by mutual agreement between the committee and the Leight trust, from among the five largest bondholders.

New Loan Planned.

According to George S. Ballard, vice chairman and reorganization manager of the bondholders' committee, the new corporation has reasonable assurance of procuring a new first mortgage loan on the property sufficient to pay the back taxes, reorganization expenses, purchase price of the furniture and equity, which is to be bid in soon at foreclosure sale, and provide a substantial reserve for operations. It is estimated that the net income will be sufficient to place the stock on at least a 5 per cent annual dividend basis.

The foreclosure sale will be held in about thirty days. Bondholders will be allowed twenty days from the mailing of the plan to accept it. The reorganization plan, it is stated, has been worked out by the bondholders' committee with the approval of the Leight trust. Paul C. Loeber is managing trustee of the trust. Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin are attorneys for the committee, and MacChesney, Whiteford & Wells for the Leight trust.

Headed by Adolph Kempner.

Adolph Kempner is chairman of the bondholders' protective committee. Other members are Mr. Ballard, vice chairman; Gerald J. Caraher, M. A. Cushman, John P. Dickes, Charles E. Fox, E. L. Pulfrey, and Albert E. Leight. The Chicago Title and Trust company and the Straus National Bank and Trust company are the depositaries.

Stephen J. Fulton, who took title to the equity yesterday from Mr. Siebold, is one of the largest bondholders. He will convey title to the new corporation when it is formed.

The $750,000 first mortgage bonds on this property were issued by the 18 East Elm Street Building corporation on Feb. 7, 1925, at 7 per cent and underwritten by Leight & Co. Both principal payments and interest defaulted and the trustee filed a foreclosure suit and a receiver was appointed. A final decree of foreclosure has been entered and the sale will be set at an early date.

STOCK LEADERS GAIN AS TRADE MOVES AT WALK

Rank and File Record Minor Advances.

the home run, the common finishing up with a net gain of 4½ and the other being up 3½ points. American Tobacco was unable to get steam up, however, and closed nearly 2 points lower. Talk of impending state cigaret taxes continues to discourage trading in the tobacco shares.

Heavy trading again developed in General Electric and the price gave way almost an additional point. Holders of the shares of this high grade pivotal can't seem to reconcile themselves to the corporation's figures showing a continued decline in business.

Preferred Stocks Brighten.

Preferred stocks again brightened up corners here and there. Engineers Public Service preferred jumped 16½ points on a single sale. J. C. Penney preferred rose 5¼, while Solvay Investment preferred slid off 3 points.

One encouraging feature of the lethargic market is the conspicuous absence of bear pressure except in a few spots known to be especially vulnerable. Brokers insist that a majority of the professionals are still bullish and are merely marking time waiting for something in the way of fresh incentive to resume the so-called January advance.

PRICE OF WHEAT IN STRONG RALLY AT END OF TRADE

Persistent Selling at Start Is Absorbed Later.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat made a tame start and a strong finish yesterday. At the beginning of trade prices worked gradually lower until the near the finish, when a wave of general short covering made its appearance and prices were swept up 1⅛@1¼c from the early low, and the close was at the top. The local element were included to be bearish early, and the general run of the news was rather favorable to a lower level of prices, but the depressing factors were ignored after the market started upward.

According to pit observers there was a rather persistent selling of May wheat above 59c early, which was credited to a leading local professional who is now in Florida. The market gradually eased, but at 59c and under strong commission houses with eastern connections absorbed the surplus in the pit and offerings were limited when some of the early sellers started to cover. May sold at 58⅝c early, or ¾c under Tuesday's finish, and jumped to 60⅛c later, with the close at that figure to ⅛c under. Net gains for the day were ⅛@1c, with July leading. March finished at 57⅞c and July at 59⅜@59½c.

Italy Changes Wheat Quota.

There was nothing in the news to account for the bulge in wheat yesterday, but in general it was felt that the technical position had been materially strengthened by the break of 3c from the best figures of Monday.

An outstanding feature of the day's developments were a radical reduction in the amount of native wheat which Italian mills are forced to use. In the case of durum the amount is now only 20 per cent, compared with 50 per cent previously, and the trade look for that country to come to North America for supplies. The quota on other kinds of wheat in Italy was lowered to 70 per cent, compared with 95 per cent previously.

Foreign demand for North American wheats yesterday was not impressive, with sales of around 300,000 bu in all positions, including some No. 1 northern Manitoba which was in elevators at the Atlantic seaboard and was taken by Germany. Liverpool closed ⅛@⅜c per bu lower, with May at 55⅞c, the discount as compared with Chicago of 3¾c being practically the same as on Tuesday. Buenos Aires finished unchanged to ⅛c higher, with March at 41⅞c. Winnipeg was dull, but closed ¼@½c higher in sympathy with Chicago, May being 63½c in Canadian funds. The latter were quoted at 13⅛ per cent discount as compared with American.

Country Sells Cash Corn.

Local operators were on the selling side of corn futures early, but around 41c for May there appeared to be resting orders to buy in the hands of commission houses. Later shorts covered on the strength in wheat and the close was ⅛@¼c higher. March finished at 39¼c, May 41⅝@41¾c, and July 43⅛@43¼c.

Complaints of dry weather are coming from the Argentine corn belt, but attracted little attention, and the Buenos Aires market was not affected, closing unchanged to ⅛c higher, with March at 28½c. This compared with 29½c a year ago, while the March delivery in Chicago is 26⅞c lower than at this time in 1931.

HOME LIFE INS. COMPANY ASSET GAIN IS $3,500,000

An increase of more than $3,500,000 in assets, nearly $100,000 in unassigned surplus, $200,000 in reserve for security fluctuations, nearly $500,000 in premium income and $4,400,000 in insurance in force is shown in the 72d annual statement of the Home Life Insurance company, New York, made public by Ethelbert Ide Low, chairman of the board.

The statement shows total admitted assets of the company on Dec. 31, 1931, of $79,149,252, compared with $75,573,884 in the previous annual statement. The classification of assets shows only $17,742 in real estate holdings acquired under foreclosure, compared with $13,558 a year ago, an increase of only $4,200 in the year. Cash in hand is $992,269, compared with $318,381 a year ago.

Policy reserves and funds increased during the year from $67,221,875 to $70,296,542, a gain of over $3,000,000. The reserve set aside for security fluctuations is $600,000, covering the difference between values of preferred and common stocks on the basis specified by the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners and actual market values of Dec. 31, 1931. The funds set aside from earnings of 1931 for policy dividends to be paid during 1933 are $2,460,000, a gain of $50,000 over a year ago. The directors approved the continuance of the same dividend scale for 1932 as was used in the past year.

JAPAN SELLS COTTON; PRICES DOWN SLIGHTLY

Cotton futures were sold by Japan and other foreign interests yesterday as well as by the south, with good buying by Wall street, some by the trade, and by shorts. With all, the business was fair with narrow price fluctuations, and the close on Chicago futures was 1@7 points net lower, with New Orleans 1@4 points down and New York 1@6 points down. Spots dropped 5 points, New Orleans being 6.60c. New York 6.75c, Houston 6.50c, and Galveston 6.55c. Liverpool closed 2@3 points net lower with a fair business.

Advices from all the cotton states indicate a disposition to decrease acreage and say that more cotton is back on the farms than usual this season. Prices follow:

AVAILABLE WHEAT STOCKS

World's available supply of wheat, as compiled by the Daily Trade Bulletin, increased 66,585,000 bu in December, due almost entirely to the inclusion of a large part of the Australian exportable surplus in the figures, the gain as compared with the previous month being 74,000,000 bu. In November world's stocks increased 12,260,000 bu, while in December, 1930, there was a gain of 42,221,000 bu. Details follow [last three ciphers omitted]:

HAM TRADE GOOD; LARD PRICES LOWER

Trading in hams, both green and cured, is said to be the best at this season in recent years. Prices are low and consumers are taking them in a way that prevents accumulation of stocks. Cured hams are selling at around an average of 9¼c. Bellies are also having a fair sale with prices holding steady. Business in lard was small yesterday, with prices on futures unchanged to 2½c lower, while cash demand is not heavy. Hogs were lower, with receipts larger than a week and a year ago. Liverpool lard was firmer. Exports of lard were 468,795 lbs. Prices follow:

EGG MARKET UNSETTLED

Butter and egg futures again held within narrow limits on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, butter showing no fluctuation. Butter closed unchanged to ¼c lower and eggs ½c lower to ¼c higher. January round white potatoes dropped 3c, but held above the spot market. Idahos moved up 1c. The continued bearish news relating to production and movement of storage stocks of butter and eggs did not induce material selling. Uncertainty has been apparent in the market for the last three weeks and appears destined to continue for the near future. Sales: Butter, 44 cars; eggs, 6 cars; potatoes, 26 cars. Power Firms Get Big Income on Appliances

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 20.—The electrical industry in the United States received an income in excess of $613,052,000 from the sale of appliances in 1931 and served 20,441,249 wired homes, according to a market survey by electrical merchandising. Substantial gains were made last year in sales of electric refrigerators and clocks.

A preliminary estimate places the sales of refrigerators at 900,000, representing a retail valuation of $216,000,000, exceeding both in volume and retail income the figures for both 1930 and 1929. A total of 686,648 vacuum cleaners were sold for $34,332,400, and 72,000 electric cookers of 600 watts or less were sold for $489,600. Fans of various types sold to the number of 707,303 for a retail expenditure of $10,170,532.

Flashlights were an important sales item in 1931, as 5,000,000 cases and 110,000,000 battery cells for flashlights were sold for $3,250,000 and $8,800,000 respectively. Household floor machines were sold to the number of 30,000, for which their purchasers paid retail prices aggregating $1,680,000. A total of 109,080 heaters and radiators were sold for $460,576.

Incandescent lamps showed gains. Residential lamps sold to a total of 127,000,000 and brought a retail income of $27,000,000. Commercial lamps sold to the number of 163,355,000 for a total retail investment of $59,000,000.

REPORT ECUADOR RAILWAY BONDS ARE IN DEFAULT

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—It was understood in Wall street today that the $10,000,000 issue of 5 per cent bonds of the Guayaquil and Quito railway, Ecuador, which matured Jan. 2, had been defaulted as to the maturity. Interest on the bonds had been in default for several years. The last coupon to be paid was that of Jan. 2, 1914, which was paid in 1929. Virtually all of the bonds are now held in England, where the interest is payable.

Alfred O. Corbin, a director of the Rima Steel company, stated today that interest and sinking fund payments on the $3,000,000 7 per cent first mortgage bonds, due Feb. 1, will be met. He also announced that funds had been received by the fiscal agents to meet interest and sinking fund payments on the $3,000,000 7 per cent first mortgage bonds, due Feb. 1, of Tyrol Hydro Electric corporation.

WILL REDEEM BONDS.

City Bank Farmers Trust company, as sinking fund agent, has notified holders of Tide Water Associated Transport corporation first lien 10 year marine equipment 5 per cent sinking fund bonds of 1937 of the proposed redemption of $53,000 of the bonds on Feb. 15 at 102.

BANK ACCEPTANCES IN DECEMBER LOWEST SINCE AUGUST, 1928

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Figures issued today by Robert H. Bean; executive secretary of the American Acceptance council, disclose that bankers' acceptances at the end of December declined to the lowest figure since August, 1928. Acceptances are an important form of commercial credit used largely to finance foreign trade.

"The report of the American Acceptance council on its survey of acceptance business as of Dec. 31 shows a reduction of $28,245,355 from the total reported on Nov. 30," Mr. Bean said. "This brings the total down to $974,059,350, the smallest volume of the year and $581,906,851 less than the volume outstanding on the corresponding date at the end of 1930.

"The principal change of the month was in the total of bills created for export purposes, which declined $32,482,459 to $221,618,640.

"As a partial offset the volume of acceptances drawn to finance the storage of readily marketable staples in domestic warehouses increased $12,117,000. While this type of acceptance business now amounts to $251,346,059, or about 25 per cent of the total, it is, nevertheless, $20,000,000 less than was reported in December, 1930.

"Acceptances in import financing remain practically unchanged at $158,000,000, an increase of only $400,000 over the figures for the previous month. Domestic shipment acceptances declined $3,000,000, leaving a total of $15,559,383, or less than half the amount outstanding a year ago."

OUTPUT OF STEEL INGOTS GAINS; NOW 28 PER CENT

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—A rise in steel ingot production to 28 per cent of capacity from slightly more than 25 per cent a week ago was reported today by the trade publication Iron Age.

"Such gains and orders as have appeared," said the review, "are in the main due to the automobile industry, notwithstanding that it is expanding its schedules slowly and cautiously, and to the requirements of miscellaneous consumers. Building construction and the railroads are playing a very small part in current releases."

"Delays in certain developments are at least in part responsible for the slowness of steel to reflect the usual seasonal influences. The automobile industry is to some extent marking time pending the final disclosure of the new Ford model; the release of some expected railroad buying is undoubtedly held back by the prolonged negotiations over railroad wage reductions, and a good deal of public construction work that has been authorized is in abeyance because of financial difficulties."

SEEK INTEREST PAYMENTS ON WABASH NOTES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 20.—Negotiations for the resumption of interest payments on Wabash Railway equipment trust certificates were disclosed today by Evans, Stillman & Co., security dealers and members of the New York stock exchange. The firm announced it will seek to prevent the payment of $350,000 interest due Feb. 1 on the road's second mortgage 5 per cent bonds if interest due on equipment trust certificates were not met.

At the same time, interests acting in behalf of large holders of Seaboard Air Line railway equipment trust certificates were completing a plan to meet interest and principal instalments on equipment trust certificates of that road through the issuance of receivers' certificates. The plan is expected to be presented soon to the courts.

Top yesterday, $6.40; average, $5.85.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 6,000; hogs, 38,000; sheep, 18,000.

The general market for hogs dipped below the $4.00 line yesterday, making a new low average of $3.85, which goes back to November, 1899, for a lower figure. The peak price at $4.10 was also a new low.

A stagnant wholesale market for pork, coupled with the second largest Wednesday receipts since January, 1930, brought on the pressure that forced quotations back 10@25c. Light and underweight stock got the brunt of the decline. Pigs were not plentiful, but the poor quality of stock weighing less than 140 lbs has curbed buying of these weights and $3.00 was the popular price for 100@130 lb averages of mediocre quality.

The distressing condition of the pork trade the last few days has seriously impaired eastern buying during the first half of this week bought only 18 per cent of Chicago receipts. About 21 per cent went to shippers last week and two weeks ago 30 per cent sold on eastern account. Local buying expanded toward the close yesterday, and only 6,000 hogs were left. Armour, Swift and Wilson handled a total of 20,000 head.

Hog Futures Dull.

All bids in the hog futures market were lowered yesterday. Heavy grades for February, March and May carried bids of $3.75. Mediums for the same months were bid $4.00@4.25 and light weights were bid $4.25@4.50. No offers to sell were made.

News circulating in the cattle alleys yesterday was of a bearish nature and added to the depressed condition of the trade. Discouraging reports came in from eastern distributing centers, where best quality beef took the first price cut in recent weeks, which resulted in precautionary buying by eastern representatives here. Trading dragged slowly at the 25@50c lower price level, well finished steers sharing in the break.

Toward the close these kinds showed some action and ended up with the least net losses. Most of the 10,500 head offered yesterday were steers, including a great many showing evidence of good feeding at $7.00@8.50, while only well finished stock was eligible to more than $9.00. The bulk of all steers sold at $5.50@8.50, poorest grades of beef merit ranging downwards to $4.50.

Top Market at $9.50.

A string of 102 steers averaging 961@1,100 lbs topped the market at $9.50. Exceptionally choice steers were absent. Beef cows slid down 25c and bulk of the heifer supply went over at 25@50c loss. Canners and cutters were down 15@25c. Calves ruled weak to 25c lower and finished down mostly 50c.

Sheep receipts were generous at all leading markets yesterday and the market sagged 15@25c after opening weak and top-heavy. Impaired eastern outlet resulted in an accumulation here, and local houses made their cheapest purchases at the finish. Most good grades of slaughter lambs sold at $6.00@6.25, city butchers taking their selections at $6.35 and $6.40, against $6.65 at the high point Tuesday. However, lambs are holding up better than other live stock. Prevailing quotations are still 25@50c above the low spot early last fall.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL closed irregular at 10 points advance to 6 net decline today. Sales were 13 contracts, or 1,950 brls, all in July, which month was 6 points lower. Unsettled lard and hog markets brought out a little liquidation in that position. Crude oil was quoted at 3¼c bid in the southeast and the valley, and 3¼c in Texas. Bleachable spot closed 4.00c, March 4.42c, May 4.55c, July 4.69c. There were no sales in the prime summer yellow contract, with closing prices as follows: Spot, 4.00c; March, 4.25c; May, 4.40c; July, 4.50c.
